JFK'S LOOKALIKE

Sam Newman, an advertising agency executive in Knoxville, Tenn., said Monday it was he who posed for famed sculptor Jacques Lipchitz while he made a bust of the late President John F. Kennedy. '$2 Levy Won't Pay Kerr-Mills'

. . . BOOSTED COSTS CITED

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The broadened Kerr-Mills medical care bill approved by the Legislature's Public Health and Welfare Committee could not be financed with the current $2 state head tax, the attorney for the Department of Public Welfare said Monday.

E. D. Warnsholz said he cannot yet estimate the dollar gap between revenue and anticipated additional costs from LB367 except to say that revenue will fall "substantially short" of funding the amended bill.

LB367 was amended by the committee to broaden eligibility and liberalize payments under the program of medical care for the needy aged.

Ceiling Lifted

Two changes which will substantially boost costs are a hike in the annual income ceiling on eligible recipients from $1,500 to $2,000 for one person, and from $2,100 to $2,800 for a couple, and the removal of relative responsibility provisions.

The department has figured that the present head tax would finance income maximums at about $1,800 for one person, and $2,400 for a couple, Warnsholz noted.

Repeal of provisions which deny assistance if the applicant has a relative living in Nebraska who is financially able to pay for the applicant's medical expenses would increase total costs about 10%, Warnsholz said.

Increased costs must also be expected from natural growth in the program, he pointed out. Enrollment in the program has been increasing over the past several months.

Warnsholz said the department will prepare for the legislative fiscal analyst a determination of additional costs involved in LB367 once it is physically reported to the floor of the Legislature.

Advanced 7-0

The bill was advanced on a 7-0 committee vote last week.

The $2 head tax raises $1,084,000 a year and finances the state portion of medical care costs. The state pays 45.61%, while the federal government meets 54.39% of the costs.

Interest Decision Pushed

The Speaker of the Legislature Monday called for swift floor action on interest rate legislation before the Unicameral leaves on its Easter recess.

Lawmakers will recess April 15, and return April 21.

"We need a decision on interest rates as soon as possible," Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud said.

Should Move

"As soon as those bills hit the floor, we should move them to the head of general file for debate. We should reach some floor decision before we leave for Easter."

Bowen noted that interest rates were the subject of a special legislative session in 1963, "and retailers have been waiting for a decision ever since."

Prolonged delay will hurt the state's economy, he said, and some business will move into surrounding states which have established methods for providing installment credit.

Ok'd In Committee

A number of interest rate bills, including a proposed new installment sales act, have been approved by the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee, Bowen noted, but they have not been physically reported to the floor.

Several other interest rate bills are still awaiting committee action.

Bowen said he hopes the Legislature can move 100 bills from general file during the remaining eight days prior to Easter recess, then be prepared to work additional hours when senators return to their desks.

Start Earlier

If lawmakers are willing to begin floor sessions earlier than the customary 9 a.m., and work into the evening, when necessary, they can adjourn by July 15, Bowen said.

Committee sessions will conclude about May 1, the speaker noted, and the Legislature will then move into morning and afternoon sessions.

ARRESTED AS SOVIET SPY

Army Sgt. Robert Lee Johnson, 43, of Alexandria, Va., sits handcuffed in an FBI car after his arraignment on spy charges Monday. Johnson, one of two men arrested on the charge, was accused of selling U.S. defense secrets to the Soviet Union. Currently a Defense Department courier, Johnson was arrested at the Pentagon.

Bill To Let School Districts Take Industry Sites Is Held

. . . 'TAX HAVEN' HIT

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A bill enabling a Class II, III, IV or V school district to annex commercial and industrial property within a Class I district was held Monday by the Legislature's Education Committee.

Introduced by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, LB468 would permit a school district with 65% or more of the school children of persons employed in the industrial district to annex the area from a Class I district.

"We talk of broadening the tax base to help schools, but yet industry is given a tax haven with industrial parks in Class I districts," Warner said.

He suggested LB468 be held by the committee pending action on LB472, providing state aid to education.

Opposition came from the Lincoln and Nebraska City Chambers of Commerce and the Nebraska School Improvement Association.

Julian Hopkins, a Lincoln chamber spokesman, said, "we don't believe in a tax subsidization of private industry, but we've got to meet competition of other states in attracting industry."

He suggested many small towns must attract industry to stay alive even if tax advantages and other gimmicks are used.

But several committee members suggested industry, by opposing the bill, is seeking a tax subsidy while continuing "to holler about free enterprise without subsidization."

Warner suggested that farmers could raise a few more cattle and employ additional people "if they were exempted from taxes as industry is seeking."

In other action, the committee also held LB233, providing taxes shall be levied and collection on Section 6 and 36 in each township unless owned by the state or other political subdivision.

Sen. Frank Nelson of O'Neill requested his bill be held pending disposition of LB234.

Johnson Claims It Saves Money

. . . TO BOOST FARM INCOME

Washington (UPI)—President Johnson sent Congress an omnibus farm bill Monday that his experts estimated would cost housewives a penny more for a loaf of bread and four cents more for a pound of rice.

But the President claimed the legislation would boost farm income and save the government money in price supports that could be plowed into anti-poverty projects to help hard-pressed farmers.

$1.90 Per Housewife

The tab for the grocery store buyer: $300 million, or about $1.90 each a year.

In a letter to House and Senate leaders, the President said, "Enormous advances in agricultural efficiency have left the farmer working harder and enjoying it less."

At the same time, consumers are paying less than $1 out of every $5 in their paychecks for food, and the cost is declining.

By getting the consumer to absorb the cost of increasing farm income, he said, "we can turn more of our attention and more of our tax dollars to revitalizing rural life and rooting out the poverty which is all too prevalant in rural America."

Another administration official put it this way: "The farmer has been subsidizing the consumer for a long time now."

Shift To Consumer

Johnson's plan would shift $200 million in farm price support costs from the treasury to the consumer, who also would pay at the store for an expected $100 million increase in farm income.

Consumer costs for wheat and rice foods would go up while government outlays dropped through changes in the existing "marketing certificate" support program for wheat and adoption of a similar program for rice.

Under the marketing certificate program, the government guarantees a basic support price for wheat this year at an average of $1.25 a bushel. In addition, the government gives farmers who cooperate with production controls a marketing certificate. Millers and other food processors are required by law to buy the certificates.

$2 Per Bushel

For 1965, certificates on wheat consumed in the U.S. are valued at 75 cents, bringing the farmer's total return—and the consumer's costs—on this grain to $2 a bushel.

In 1966, under Johnson's new proposal, the value of such certificates might be raised to as high as $1.25 per bushel, the basic government support would remain around the current $1.25 level, meaning that the total cost of wheat to food processors would go up to about $2.50 a bushel.

While consumers would pay for this boost in farm return through higher food prices, government costs would be trimmed by reducing or eliminating marketing certificates currently issued to farmers on export wheat, and by not issuing any such certificates under the proposed new rice program. Cutting out the certificates would leave government props on the export crops at about world levels, which would allow the government to stop paying export subsidies.

Reaction Favorable

Early reaction on Capitol Hill was favorable. But James G. Patton, president of the Nation Farmers Union, said the plan was not broad enough.

Johnson also asked for legislation to cover feed grains, wool, cropland adjustment and transfer of allotments.

The voluntary feed grain program would be extended for two years, through 1967. There also were provisions for diverting feed grain acreages to other uses, diversion payments for those who cooperate with the program and price-support loans and payments.

Administration officials said the theory behind the new wheat and rice proposals was to get farm returns from the market rather than the taxpayer, wherever possible. The system may be extended later to other farm products.

LBJ's Version Same As His, Callan Says

Congressman Clair Callan, contacted in Washington Monday, said the wheat version discussed by the President was "the same approach as the Purcell-Callan bill with more discretion allowed the secretary of agriculture than provided in the Purcell-Callan bill."

The Purcell-Callan bill would seek an increase of seven tenths of one per cent in the price of each loaf of bread. The bill was designed to secure additional farm income from the consumer instead of the federal treasury.

Under the Purcell-Callan proposal and suggestions outlined in the President's support for farm legislation the price of wheat used for domestic use would be brought up about $2.50 per bushel.

Thus, wheat used in the U.S. would be near parity price, while export wheat would be priced at the world level, but the blend price would keep farm income up, claimed supporters of the plan.

The Nebraska Wheat Growers Association, in supporting the Purcell-Callan, plan, said it would pump at least $12.5 million in wheat income into Nebraska's economy each year.

Mayor Calls Informal Council Meet For Over-All Look At Liquor Policy

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Dean Petersen has called an informal meeting of the City Council for 10 a.m. Friday to discuss and review the council's over-all package liquor and off-sale beer policy.

Council members said Monday that the session would be an effort to come up with a policy that will be "sustained by the courts," and added that any change in policy unofficially decided on would be accompanied by public hearings at a later date.

The current hassle stems from recent council action denying requested transfers of package licenses to the South St. commercial area, an area already approved for the location of off-sale liquor and beer outlets, plus the apparent persuasion of the district court to overrule council recommendations denying transfers to out-lying areas.

In Certain Areas

The council's policy resolution as it now stands condones the location of package liquor and beer licenses in certain defined "regional shopping centers," such as South St., between 10th and 17th, in addition to the downtown foot-patrol district.

Essentially, council members will debate:

—Whether to limit the number of licenses in a given area (there is no limit now, except for the limit on the total number of licenses available).

—Whether other comparable "regional" commercial centers should be opened up for package liquor and beer stores.

—The possibility of bringing all licenses back to the downtown area.

Sample comments by council members at Monday's meeting:

Mrs. Helen Boosalis: "What kind of policy do we have now that can be sustained?"

Ervin Peterson: "We don't have anything that makes sense."

'Where Are We'

D. L. Tyrrell: "If the Liquor Control Commission approves Mitch Tavlin's transfer to South St. (recently denied by the council), where are we?"

Peterson: "We'll look silly."

The council deferred any recommendation on Vernon J. Hennessey's application for an off-sale beer license at 14th and South pending possible policy decisions resulting from Friday's meeting.

A motion by Councilman John Comstock to reconsider the request of Floyd Watts to transfer an existing package liquor license from 2105 O to 14th and South failed by a 3-4 vote.

Voting against the motion were Comstock, Mrs. Boosalis, Lloyd Hinkley and Tyrrell; for, Petersen, Edward Becker and John Mason.

Reconsider

Comstock said he moved to reconsider to allow the full council a chance to vote on it.

Applications for renewal of bottle club licenses for the Arrow Club, 1339 West O, Circus Recreation Co., doing business as The Rack Club in the Lincoln Hotel and Lincoln Aero Club, Inc. (5 O'Clock Club, Capital Hotel) were approved by the council.

The council also approved the request by The Pines, Inc., for an off-sale beer license at 3239 So. 13th.

Russian Jets Cross Air Paths To Berlin

Berlin (AP)—Soviet jets roared across Allied air corridors to Berlin Monday and the Communist East Germans blocked the Berlin autobahn for 3½ hours in defiance of Western access rights on the 110-mile highway through Red territory.

Communist announcements said the measurements were taken in connection with Soviet-East German military maneuvers.

Westerners expressed belief, however, that the Russians and East Germans were acting in retaliation for West Germany's plans to assemble its parliament and cabinet in West Berlin Wednesday to emphasize its contention that the Red-encircled city is part of West Germany.

Communist MIG jets maneuvered for more than seven hours high over Berlin and sonic booms thundered down on the city.

One Soviet jet fighter screamed over the French sector's Tegel airport—used by commercial aircraft—at an altitude of about 300 feet. Western officials claimed the buzzing was a clear violation of air safety rules agreed upon by the Russians.

Hundreds of Soviet and East German tanks, heavy artillery pieces and motorized rocket units rumbled over the countryside west of Berlin as Communist police blocked autobahn travel for the first time since the Berlin blockade of 1948.

Travel on secondary roads from Frankfurt and southern Germany was permitted. Railroads ran normal schedules. However, the West Berlin Barge Association said a number of river and canal routes were blocked.

U.S. Rejection

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States rejected a Soviet attempt to restrict flights in the three 20-mile-wide air corridors'

"We made it clear that access rights of the three Western powers are unrestricted," the spokesman said.

Johnson Claims It Saves Money

Shift To Consumer

Johnson's plan would shift $200 million in farm price support costs from the treasury to the consumer, who also would pay at the store for an expected $100 million increase in farm income.

Consumer costs for wheat and rice foods would go up while government outlays dropped through changes in the existing "marketing certificate" support program for wheat and adoption of a similar program for rice.

In 1966, under Johnson's new proposal, the value of such certificates might be raised to as high as $1.25 per bushel, the basic government support would remain around the current $1.25 level, meaning that the total cost of wheat to food processors would go up to about $2.50 a bushel.

While consumers would pay for this boost in farm return through higher food prices, government costs would be trimmed by reducing or eliminating marketing certificates currently issued to farmers on export wheat, and by not issuing any such certificates under the proposed new rice program. Cutting out the certificates would leave government props on the export crops at about world levels, which would allow the government to stop paying export subsidies.

Mayor Calls Informal Council Meet For Over-All Look At Liquor Policy

By BOB SCHREPF

Mayor Dean Petersen has called an informal meeting of the City Council for 10 a.m. Friday to discuss and review the council's over-all package liquor and off-sale beer policy.

Council members said Monday that the session would be an effort to come up with a policy that will be "sustained by the courts," and added that any change in policy unofficially decided on would be accompanied by public hearings at a later date.

The current hassle stems from recent council action denying requested transfers of package licenses to the South St. commercial area, an area already approved for the location of off-sale liquor and beer outlets, plus the apparent persuasion of the district court to overrule council recommendations denying transfers to out-lying areas.

In Certain Areas

The council's policy resolution as it now stands condones the location of package liquor and beer licenses in certain defined "regional shopping centers," such as South St., between 10th and 17th, in addition to the downtown foot-patrol district.

Essentially, council members will debate:

—Whether to limit the number of licenses in a given area (there is no limit now, except for the limit on the total number of licenses available).

—Whether other comparable "regional" commercial centers should be opened up for package liquor and beer stores.

—The possibility of bringing all licenses back to the downtown area.

Sample comments by council members at Monday's meeting:

Mrs. Helen Boosalis: "What kind of policy do we have now that can be sustained?"

Ervin Peterson: "We don't have anything that makes sense."

'Where Are We'

D. L. Tyrrell: "If the Liquor Control Commission approves Mitch Tavlin's transfer to South St. (recently denied by the council), where are we?"

Peterson: "We'll look silly."

The council deferred any recommendation on Vernon J. Hennessey's application for an off-sale beer license at 14th and South pending possible policy decisions resulting from Friday's meeting.

A motion by Councilman John Comstock to reconsider the request of Floyd Watts to transfer an existing package liquor license from 2105 O to 14th and South failed by a 3-4 vote.

Voting against the motion were Comstock, Mrs. Boosalis, Lloyd Hinkley and Tyrrell; for, Petersen, Edward Becker and John Mason.

Reconsider

Comstock said he moved to reconsider to allow the full council a chance to vote on it.

Applications for renewal of bottle club licenses for the Arrow Club, 1339 West O, Circus Recreation Co., doing business as The Rack Club in the Lincoln Hotel and Lincoln Aero Club, Inc. (5 O'Clock Club, Capital Hotel) were approved by the council.

The council also approved the request by The Pines, Inc., for an off-sale beer license at 3239 So. 13th.

Russian Jets Cross Air Paths To Berlin

Berlin (AP)—Soviet jets roared across Allied air corridors to Berlin Monday and the Communist East Germans blocked the Berlin autobahn for 3½ hours in defiance of Western access rights on the 110-mile highway through Red territory.

Communist announcements said the measurements were taken in connection with Soviet-East German military maneuvers.

Westerners expressed belief, however, that the Russians and East Germans were acting in retaliation for West Germany's plans to assemble its parliament and cabinet in West Berlin Wednesday to emphasize its contention that the Red-encircled city is part of West Germany.

Communist MIG jets maneuvered for more than seven hours high over Berlin and sonic booms thundered down on the city.

One Soviet jet fighter screamed over the French sector's Tegel airport—used by commercial aircraft—at an altitude of about 300 feet. Western officials claimed the buzzing was a clear violation of air safety rules agreed upon by the Russians.

Hundreds of Soviet and East German tanks, heavy artillery pieces and motorized rocket units rumbled over the countryside west of Berlin as Communist police blocked autobahn travel for the first time since the Berlin blockade of 1948.

Travel on secondary roads from Frankfurt and southern Germany was permitted. Railroads ran normal schedules. However, the West Berlin Barge Association said a number of river and canal routes were blocked.

U.S. Rejection

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States rejected a Soviet attempt to restrict flights in the three 20-mile-wide air corridors'

"We made it clear that access rights of the three Western powers are unrestricted," the spokesman said.

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS:

State Criminal Trial Confrontation Must

. . . UNANIMOUS DECISION HISTORIC

Washington (AP)— The Supreme Court affirmed Monday the right of a defendant in a state criminal case to face and question witnesses against him.

Such confrontation is fundamental and essential to a fair trial in all criminal proceedings, federal and state, said Justice Hugo L. Black for a unanimous court.

Thus, what started out as a $375 holdup case in Houston, Tex., in June 1962, developed Monday into another historic extension to the state level of federal rights guaranteed by the Constitution's Bill of Rights.

Gideon Ruling

Two years ago, in its Gideon decision, the Supreme Court declared a defendant's right to an attorney in all key stages of a criminal proceedings is just as obligatory upon the states as upon federal courts under the U.S. Constitution's 6th Amendment.

"We hold today," wrote Black, "that the 6th Amendment's right of an accused to confront the witness against him is likewise a fundamental right."

The 6th Amendment, part of the 10-amendment Bill of Rights added to the Constitution in the nation's early days, guarantees an accused a speedy public trial by an impartial jury, to be informed of the charges against him and "to be confronted with the witnesses against him," to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor and to have an attorney.

14th Too

The court said denial of a defendant's rights to a lawyer and to face one's accuser also violates the 14th Amendment, which says no state may deny any person equal protection or due process of law. Black wrote:

"There are few subjects, perhaps, upon which this court and other courts have been more nearly unanimous than in their expressions of belief that the right of confrontation and cross-examination is an essential and fundamental requirement for the kind of fair trial which is this country's constitutional goal."

Before starting a three-week Easter recess, the court also.

—Overturned without comment on the basis of earlier decisions on sit-in demonstrations, the convictions of seven Negro and four white freedom riders who tried to integrate a lunch counter in Montgomery, Ala., in 1961, and the convictions of eight Negro college students who tried to integrate a cafeteria in Nashville, Tenn., in 1962.

—Agreed to review next fall the obscenity convictions of Ralph Ginzburg and Edward Mishkin of New York.

Ruling Has No Effect In State

The U.S Supreme Court's Monday ruling on state trial courts apparently will have no effect in Nebraska, Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer said.

Meyer said the state Constitution contains a provision similar to the Sixth Amendment to the federal Constitution concerning the right of a defendant to be confronted with the witnesses against him.

Decisions To Be Told Any Day Tribunal Sits

Washington (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren announced Monday that, in the future, the Supreme Court will no longer hand down decisions only on Monday but will announce rulings on any day of the week it may be sitting.

Under present procedure, the court announces its decisions, and reads opinions, only at the opening of its Monday sessions.

The new procedure will become effective April 26, which is the court's next meeting date.

. . . U.S. RAIDS BLAST RADAR

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese troops attacking from the ground and on water battered a seasoned Communist guerrilla unit Tuesday, killing at least 70 Reds. One American died.

The action on Ca Mau peninsula, 140 miles southwest of Saigon, followed up a new raid by U.S. warplanes on North Viet Nam Monday. The raiders blasted the Vinh Linh radar station and damaged some North Vietnamese rolling stock amid little or no groundfire.

In the Ca Mau peninsula battle, three South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 11 were wounded in contrast to the unusually heavy Viet Cong toll, a U S military source said.

Viet Cong Area

The attack began Sunday with U.S. helicopters ferrying in Vietnamese troops for an assault on a Viet Cong area near Vinh Loc in Chuong Thien province. It was followed up by a second helicopter assault Monday.

The American—a U.S. Navy adviser—was killed when a Vietnamese river assault force supporting the operation drew Communist fire. Sketchy details said the Viet Cong left their dead on the battlefield. Usually they try to carry off the bodies.

A US fighter-bomber was downed in the raid on North Viet Nam but the pilot was rescued, a US spokesman said. The new China news agency, whose statistics rarely tally with American figures, said in a Peking broadcast that four planes were shot down and many others damaged

Communist MIG fighters, which felled two American raiders Sunday, failed to show up during this 18th day in the series of aerial attacks launched by the United States and South Viet Nam Feb. 7.

A total of 66 U.S. Navy and Air Force planes pursued the effort to slash away North Viet Nam's support of the Viet Cong.

Struck Network

The Vinh Linh radar station, just north of the 17th parallel, was the target of 30 Navy fighter-bombers from the carrier Coral Sea.

Escorted by a score of Crusader and Phantom fighters, they struck that link in Hanoi's early warning network with fiery napalm and 25 tons of general purpose bombs ranging from 250 to 1,000 pounds. No ground fire was noted.

In London, the British government released a majority report of the three-nation International Control Commission asking Britain and the Soviet Union to arrange for the commission's inspection teams to resume operations in North Viet Nam.

Oscars Go To 'My Fair Lady,' Harrison, Andrews

JULIE ANDREWS

From Press Reports

Santa Monica, Calif. — Julie Andrews, the high-flying nanny of "Mary Poppins," and Rex Harrison, the acid-tongued Professor Higgins of "My Fair" Lady," were chosen best star performers of 1964 at the 37th motion picture Academy awards Monday night.

"My Fair Lady" won Miss Kedrova the best picture Oscar, collecting eight awards including best direction by George Cukor.

The supporting awards supplied the surprises of Hollywood's biggest night. They went to Peter Ustinov, the maladroit jewel thief of "Topkapi" and Lila Kedrova, the much-used woman of pleasure in "Zorba the Greek."

The selection of Harrison and Miss Andrews was a masterpiece of irony. They had co-starred in the stage version of "My Fair Lady," the hit Lerner-Loewe musical based on George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion." But Warner Bros. passed up Miss Andrews for the film, choosing Audrey Hepburn instead.

Big Ovation

By accident or plan, Miss Hepburn presented the Oscar to Harrison. She had been passed up for an academy nomination, and when she appeared onstage at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium she received a large, perhaps apologetic ovation.

Harrison bounded up the stairs and kissed and embraced her. "This is a very exciting evening for me," said the 56-year-old English actor. He gazed meaningfully at Miss Hepburn, his film Eliza Doolittle, and added: "I feel in a way I should split it in half."

Miss Andrews, who was accompanied by her husband and fellow nominee (best costume design) Tony Walton, ran joyfully to claim her Oscar from Sidney Poitier.

'Lovely!'

"All of this is lovely!" she exclaimed. "I know you Americans are famous for your hospitality, but this is ridiculous."

The 29-year-old graduate of English music halls thanked her producer, Walt Disney, as well as Americans "for making me so welcome in this country."

The Academy voters were indeed hospitable to foreigners. They gave all four top acting awards to Europeans. Consolation might be found in the fact that the big winner, "My Fair Lady," was made entirely in Hollywood. Its eight Oscars were followed by "Mary Poppins" with five and "Zorba the Greek" with three.

Ustinov's Second

The roundly-built, mustached Ustinov entered the rarefied company of two-time Academy winners with his "Topkapi" performance. The film was a rollicking comedy about a bizarre jewel theft. He won four years ago for his supporting performance in "Spartacus."

His victory provided a measure of surprise. Many observers believed that his role actually was in the starring category. But this year voters could decide for themselves whether a performance was star or support, and they chose Ustinov in support.

Miss Kedrova's victory provided one of the emotional moments of the Oscar show. Virtually unknown in this country, she was considered by experts the least likely to succeed in a field of veteran American and English actresses.

"I am so surprised I don't know what I have to say," the Russianborn actress said falteringly.

The amply-proportioned, auburn-haired performer had stopped on the way to the stage to kiss Anthony Quinn, star of "Zorba" and a bet actor nominee.

The film was her first movie in English

5th Bank In FDIC Collapses

Washington (UPI) — The First State Bank of Covington, Tex., folded Monday — the fifth federally insured bank to collapse this year.

A spokesman for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC), which announced the closure, said the bank failed because it accepted checks for funds that were not on deposit.

The FDIC also announced that deposit liabilities of the Covington bank are being taken over by the First National Bank of Itasca, in Itasca, Tex. The FDIC assisted the transfer by putting up enough money to cover those assets of the Covington bank that had gone bad.

In addition to the five federally insured banks that have gone under this year, eight banks failed last year. Seven of those were insured by the FDIC.

The current rash of failures brought on an investigation by Senate rackets subcommittee headed by Sen. John A. McClellan, D-Ark.

Last week the subcommittee completed its investigation into the failures of the San Francisco National Bank and the First National Bank of Marlin, Tex. McClellan, noting that the testimony was "bulging with perjury," has forwarded the transcript to the Justice Department for action.

President Johnson predicted last week that as a result of the Senate inquiry, tighter federal controls may be imposed on the national banking system

RAPID SHAVE SANDPAPER AD IS RULED DECEPTIVE

Washingotn (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday Colgate-Palmolive Co. deceived the public with television commercials using a faked "sandpaper" test of Palmolive Rapid Shave cream.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the majority decision. Justice John M. Harlan dissented in part, with Justice Potter Stewart joining him.

In the commercials, a surface supposed to represent sandpaper was covered with shaving cream, then shaved clean with a single razor stroke. Actually the demonstration did not use sandpaper, but a simulated mockup of sand and plexiglass.

Warren said the court upheld a Federal Trade Commission order against the Colgate commercial.

The Federal Trade Commission declared it an unfair trade practice to use an undisclosed mockup in showing a supposed test of a product.

Colgate explained it used a mockup, instead of actual sandpaper, because of technical difficulty in photographing sandpaper for TV showing.

The "sandpaper" commercial is no longer shown, but the court was urged to give a decision because of long-range effects of FTC action in the case.

Colgate counsel argued before the Supreme Court that a representation made by a commercial does not depend on the sort of object shown by the TV camera, but rather on the image electronically shown on the TV tube. So long as an actual test would come out the same way the viewer is being led to believe is occuring before his eyes, the company counsel said, he is not really being deceived.

Court Denies Dall Hearing; Sued Pearson

Washington (UPI)—The Supreme Court Monday denied a hearing to Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has been trying to collect damages for alleged libel in Drew Pearson's Washington column.

Monday's brief order left standing as final decisions by two lower courts here in the District of Columbia that Dall had not been libeled.

The column which caused the dispute was written by Jack Anderson, assistant to Pearson. It appeared June 1, 1963, in the Washington Post Dall sued Pearson, Anderson and the Post for actual and punitive damages of $4 4 million.

The column concerned the appearance of Dall on Aug. 10, 1962, before the Senate Finance Committee The subject was a House bill called the trade expansion act of 1962.

Dall, on behalf of the Liberty Lobby of Washington, D. C., opposed the measure. The statement said he resided in Chestnut Hill, Pa.

A spokesman for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC), which announced the closure, said the bank failed because it accepted checks for funds that were not on deposit.

The FDIC also announced that deposit liabilities of the Covington bank are being taken over by the First National Bank of Itasca, in Itasca, Tex. The FDIC assisted the transfer by putting up enough money to cover those assets of the Covington bank that had gone bad.

In addition to the five federally insured banks that have gone under this year, eight banks failed last year. Seven of those were insured by the FDIC.

The current rash of failures brought on an investigation by Senate rackets subcommittee headed by Sen. John A. McClellan, D-Ark.

Last week the subcommittee completed its investigation into the failures of the San Francisco National Bank and the First National Bank of Marlin, Tex. McClellan, noting that the testimony was "bulging with perjury," has forwarded the transcript to the Justice Department for action.

President Johnson predicted last week that as a result of the Senate inquiry, tighter federal controls may be imposed on the national banking system.

British Man Held For Spying Trial

London (UPI)— A British Aviation Ministry official was ordered held for trial Monday on charges of photographing files of secret missile projects and selling them to Russian agents for $14,000 over a five-year period.

House Approves Indian Vocational Education Boost

Washington (UPI) — The House Monday passed and sent to the Senate a bill to increase spending for vocational education for Indians.

Without a dissenting voice heard, the measure to raise authorization for such spending from $12 million to $15 million annually was passed.

Rep. Ed Edmondson, D-Okla., one of the sponsors of the bill, said there were at present 5,000 Indians on the waiting list for vocational training. He called it one of the most successful Indian education programs going.

The measure had the active backing of the Interior Department, and the Budget Bureau interposed no objection to its passage.

Decisions To Be Told Any Day Tribunal Sits

Washington (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren announced Monday that, in the future, the Supreme Court will no longer hand down decisions only on Monday but will announce rulings on any day of the week it may be sitting.

Under present procedure, the court announces its decisions, and reads opinions, only at the opening of its Monday sessions.

The new procedure will become effective April 26, which is the court's next meeting date.

Ruling Has No Effect In State

The U.S Supreme Court's Monday ruling on state trial courts apparently will have no effect in Nebraska, Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer said.

Meyer said the state Constitution contains a provision similar to the Sixth Amendment to the federal Constitution concerning the right of a defendant to be confronted with the witnesses against him.

RAPID SHAVE SANDPAPER AD IS RULED DECEPTIVE

Washingotn (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday Colgate-Palmolive Co. deceived the public with television commercials using a faked "sandpaper" test of Palmolive Rapid Shave cream.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the majority decision. Justice John M. Harlan dissented in part, with Justice Potter Stewart joining him.

In the commercials, a surface supposed to represent sandpaper was covered with shaving cream, then shaved clean with a single razor stroke. Actually the demonstration did not use sandpaper, but a simulated mockup of sand and plexiglass.

Warren said the court upheld a Federal Trade Commission order against the Colgate commercial.

The Federal Trade Commission declared it an unfair trade practice to use an undisclosed mockup in showing a supposed test of a product.

Colgate explained it used a mockup, instead of actual sandpaper, because of technical difficulty in photographing sandpaper for TV showing.

The "sandpaper" commercial is no longer shown, but the court was urged to give a decision because of long-range effects of FTC action in the case.

Colgate counsel argued before the Supreme Court that a representation made by a commercial does not depend on the sort of object shown by the TV camera, but rather on the image electronically shown on the TV tube. So long as an actual test would come out the same way the viewer is being led to believe is occuring before his eyes, the company counsel said, he is not really being deceived.

Court Denies Dall Hearing; Sued Pearson

Washington (UPI)—The Supreme Court Monday denied a hearing to Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has been trying to collect damages for alleged libel in Drew Pearson's Washington column.

Monday's brief order left standing as final decisions by two lower courts here in the District of Columbia that Dall had not been libeled.

The column which caused the dispute was written by Jack Anderson, assistant to Pearson. It appeared June 1, 1963, in the Washington Post. Dall sued Pearson, Anderson and the Post for actual and punitive damages of $4.4 million.

The column concerned the appearance of Dall on Aug. 10, 1962, before the Senate Finance Committee. The subject was a House bill called the trade expansion act of 1962.

Dall, on behalf of the Liberty Lobby of Washington, D. C., opposed the measure. The statement said he resided in Chestnut Hill, Pa.

Wheat Starting To Turn Green

Winterkill In Southeast Fields Looms

Nebraska's 1965 winter wheat crop is beginning to green in the southern half of the state, government crop observers said Monday.

The State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said some winterkill of wheat has been reported in extreme southeast counties where water covered fields for long periods of time.

Field Work Delayed

The division said field work continues behind schedule over the state because of wet grounds. Mostly, it has been confined to spreading of fertilizers.

Spring seeding has taken place in some far western areas, but little acreage has been seeded even there. Normally, about 20% of the oats acreage is in the ground by this time.

Recent rains, the division said, improved surface soil moisture reserves in most of the state. But soil erosion occurred again early last week in some Panhandle fields.

Plenty Of Feed

Supplement feeding of livestock continues. Feed supplies are believed to be adequate and should last until spring pastures have grown enough to permit grazing, the division said.

Seasonal calving and farrowing appear to be progressing at a normal pace. There have been numerous outbreaks of scours in young calves in the west.

Interstate Travelers See Big Show

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Elm Creek—Motorists along Interstate 80 these days have a whole world full of fellow travelers.

The waterfowl world, repeating a pattern as old as spring itself, is again winging north. Familiarity with the great flights grows each year as the Platte route stretches west.

"Maybe there are no more birds, but the Interstate runs so close to the river that they have never been seen so close by so many people," observed a North Platte employe of the State Game Commission.

The migration has always been some source of wonder even along U.S. 30, but the new four-lane highway parallels the Platte generally within half a mile. And the scooping of some 100 lakes to help build IS 80 between Grand Island and Brady brings the big show even nearer.

Ducks alone number in the thousands around Odessa — mallards, pintails, some straggling teal and seemingly a sample of every species. Vee-ing geese are also driver distractions near Elm Creek, Gibbon and Overton especially, and at times their whiteness fairly blankets a field.

Probably the main stars, however, are the Sandhill cranes congregated in incredible numbers from Kearney west. Loafing gracefully in flight, the big birds blend into one mass of grayness when clustering aground by the hundreds.

One suggestion, though, for the best (and safest) bird-watching: dont' do it at 75 mph.

Dr. Milton Evans Heads Citizens Advisory Council To School Board

Dr. Milton Evans, 5310 Madison, was unanimously elected chairman of the Citizens Advisory Council to the School Board at the group's organizational meeting Monday night.

The organization was created by the Area Council of PTA and approved by the Lincoln Board of Education.

Mrs. Emmett Taylor, 2517 Woods, was elected vice chairman and Mrs. Shirley Hadfield was named executive secretary. Mrs. Hadfield is not a voting member.

The committee of nine includes a representative from each junior high district and the Rev. Thomas Damrow, 1210 Elba, as a delegate from the Belmont area. Mrs. L. John Cooper, president of the Area Council PTA, sits in as an ex-officio member.

Communications

Mrs. Cooper explained that it was felt representatives from junior high areas also would be aware of the situations in the elementary schools feeding into the junior highs. Three members of the board Monday were made responsible for communication with the Lincoln high schools.

The council's first action was to appoint a committee to formulate specific goals, policies and rules to be presented at the next meeting. Evans pointed out that the first few sessions of the council would be policy-making meetings as problems were encountered.

Since the PTA represents all school children and parents whether members of the PTA or not, Mrs. Cooper noted that the council should act similarly. It was also generally agreed that meetings would be open to the public.

After lengthy discussion about the need for communication with the school board and School Supt. Dr. Steven Watkins, and some of the problems with which the council felt it would be concerned, it was decided that Evans and Mrs. Cooper should report to Watkins about the formation of the group.

No 'Gripe Group'

Evans stressed that the report would be presented in a positive fashion in an effort to avoid a "gripe group" approach.

He also will ask permission to bring guidance teachers to the May council meeting for a discussion about the removal of guidance from the 9th grade curriculum. Mrs. Cooper indicated that it had already been omitted from next year's curriculum, but that revision of the guidance program was to be made this summer if the council wanted to take action in the matter.

Trio Of Bandits Take $80 From Elderly Omahans

Omaha (AP)—Three bandits entered a dwelling on Omaha's near north side Monday and robbed the elderly occupants of about $80 in cash.

Chamberlain Wilson, 87, said three men—one of them carrying a gun—entered the house and demanded money. He said they also tried to make him go to the bank and withdraw his savings and he was slightly roughed up when he refused. His wife, 76, and a brother, Brooks, 74, also were roughed up by the trio. There were two other elderly persons in the house at the time, Brooks Wilson's wife and a visitor.

The bandits cut the phone line with a butcher knife from the kitchen and ransacked the house thoroughly before leaving.

During the robbery, Brooks Wilson, a cripple, was struck on the arm with his own cane and threatened with the butcher knife.

Record Vote Turnout Predicted For Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Mayor James Dworak, still awaiting a court ruling on his attempts to strike down a bribe-taking indictment, puts his bid for re-election before Omaha voters in a primary election Tuesday.

Dworak

A rush of absentee voting caused Douglas County election commissioner Jerry Hassett to up his forecast of the expected record vote from 75,000 to at least 85,000 and possibly 100,000.

Two candidates for mayor and 14 for the City Council will be nominated. The general election is May 11.

Dworak, 39, and four others, including two councilmen, were indicted by a grand jury last December on charges of bribe-taking growing out of allegations by Chicago real estate developer John Coleman. Dworak was accused specifically of asking a $25,000 campaign contribution in connection with a zoning matter. Dworak maintained that he, as the city's chief executive officer, had simply "played along" with Coleman in an effort to obtain evidence on which legal action could be based.

All five men indicted have petitioned the courts to set aside the indictments. Dworak declined to give information to the grand jury, saying he wanted to avoid being bound by the grand jury secrecy rule which he said would have made it impossible for him to discuss the matter in the campaign and in other city activities.

Dworak is the first Omaha mayor to serve a full 4-year term under a new home rule charter adopted in 1956 under which Omaha changed from a commission to a mayor-council type of government. He and both his opponents;

Summary of Conditions

General low pressure extends from the far northwestern states southeastward through all the plains states. From a center of low pressure in Kansas, a warm front extends eastward and will move northward late Tuesday. Pushing in around the low pressure zone is an area of high pressure which should bring clearing skies and warmer temperatures to the two state area.

Record Vote Turnout Predicted For Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Mayor James Dworak, still awaiting a court ruling on his attempts to strike down a bribe-taking indictment, puts his bid for re-election before Omaha voters in a primary election Tuesday.

Dworak

A rush of absentee voting caused Douglas County election commissioner Jerry Hassett to up his forecast of the expected record vote from 75,000 to at least 85,000 and possibly 100,000.

Two candidates for mayor and 14 for the City Council will be nominated. The general election is May 11.

Dworak, 39, and four others, including two councilmen, were indicted by a grand jury last December on charges of bribe-taking growing out of allegations by Chicago real estate developer John Coleman. Dworak was accused specifically of asking a $25,000 campaign contribution in connection with a zoning matter. Dworak maintained that he, as the city's chief executive officer, had simply "played along" with Coleman in an effort to obtain evidence on which legal action could be based.

All five men indicted have petitioned the courts to set aside the indictments. Dworak declined to give information to the grand jury, saying he wanted to avoid being bound by the grand jury secrecy rule which he said would have made it impossible for him to discuss the matter in the campaign and in other city activities.

Dworak is the first Omaha mayor to serve a full 4-year term under a new home rule charter adopted in 1956 under which Omaha changed from a commission to a mayor-council type of government. He and both his opponents, former council president A. V. Sorensen, 59 and councilman Warren Swigart, 56, were members of the commission when the transition was made. The post pays $17,500 a year.

His administration has been marked by controversy as he developed his "mayor's cabinet" and there have been clashes with some councilmen—all elected on a non-partisan basis.

Hatfield, Peterson Score

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon and former Nebraska Gov. Val Peterson made the evening worthwhile for a nearly full house of GOP faithful at the Coliseum over the weekend. It might have been expected of Governor Hatfield since he was the featured speaker, but Val Peterson had to carve his place from among a host of party leaders who had equal time with him on the program.

Peterson took two stands that added a little spice to the usual political talk that came from those who shared the stage with him. He equated states rights with states action and he lambasted the non-partisan feature of the Nebraska Legislature. He would not find unanimous agreement on either point with all the people of Nebraska but he provided something for thoughtful discussion. If the states want to keep power and authority from Washington, he said, they are going to have to provide their people with the kind of leadership these people want.

Providing Leaders

These are harsh words to some but how they can be refuted is beyond us. The fact is that the federal government has not entered into various areas of our national life until a need has been demonstrated. It has not entered there, either, until the states ignored this need for a good long time.

Peterson would not argue that the federal government always had the right answer when it did step in or that it was justified in stepping in at all times when it has. But he does maintain that there are demands that can and should logically be met by government, acting for and with the citizenry it represents.

★

The former governor, considered a likely prospect for another shot at public office in 1966, hit at leadership weakness as the fault of the non-partisan feature of our Unicameral. He also attacked the Unicameral's development of fresh political timber but the record leaves a lot of room for disagreement with that claim. As to leadership, it could or could not be as the former governor says. We don't know for sure because we don't know what might have been produced by the Legislature under a partisan plan. In the end, leadership must be measured by productivity and its quality and what it might have been with legislative partisanship is speculative.

One point of Peterson's remarks, however, is interesting. He spoke of the lack of power and authority on the part of the governor of Nebraska under our present legislative system. This is a fact, regardless of what it means in the end. With perhaps one exception, Nebraska governors since the adoption of our non-partisan Unicameral have been consistently more liberal and progressive than the body of senators as a whole with whom these governors have had to deal. None of these governors since 1935 lacked the willingness to lead but the non-partisan feature of the Legislature has denied them one major tool of leadership. There are many other things to think about in connection with this subject but Peterson has touched a significant point.

Governor Hatfield probably thought highly of Peterson's statement in regard to the responsibility of the states to act for the public benefit and welfare. The Oregon governor's remarks were heavier with political philosophy than with actions but no one could have listened attentively without recognizing what it was he was saying.

The governor pointed out that the objectives of both political parties will often be the same. The differences in the two parties, he reported, should and are found in the means by which they would accomplish those ends. He was a little short on the specifics of such differences, particularly in regard to Viet Nam, but one cannot cover the nation and world in 30 minutes.

If the GOP is to find victory at the polls in the years ahead, it will do so with such men as Governor Hatfield. He is young, articulate and dedicated. But most important for the Republicans, Governor Hatfield would use government to achieve the social and economic ends that are the natural objective of most people. He is a man who would not just be at odds with the Democratic administration in Washington, but who would have specific proposals of his own to answer the demands of the nation. He does not so much believe that we need less government as he believes we need better government.

Improving Quality

The distinctions here are not easy to draw and the governor himself sometimes labors with details when he tries to do so but therein lies the future of the GOP. It will have to define clearly the differences in means or abdicate to the Democrats all the ends and it can't win doing the later.

Nebraska's Decision

The Des Moines, Iowa, Register, we believe, overestimates the ability of a unicameral legislature to solve problems.

It has taken note of Nebraska's new reapportionment statute which seems to illustrate the state's acquiescence to the U.S. Supreme Court's view that people, not area, for the correct base for political representation. The Register believes it is significant that the problem which is vexing so many states having a two house legislature has been rather quickly solved by Nebraska's one house body.

We would rather believe that the Nebraska achievement was based on the fact that this state does not have revolutionary tendencies, that it holds the Federal Union in high regard and is willing to suppress some of its own attitudes for what it considers to be the greatest good for the greatest number.

Nebraska definitely did desire area representation and so stated in 1962 when by a vote of 218,019 to 175,613 it enacted a constitutional amendment which gave from 20 to 30 per cent weight to area in the formation of legislative districts. Later the Legislature enacted a statute agreeable to that amendment. And shortly after that a three man federal court threw out the area statute. It was not until then that the Nebraska Legislature acquiesced to the one man one vote doctrine.

We believe from that it was more the character of Nebraska people than any form of government that dictated the change.

Tax On Bread

President Johnson has asked for legislation which would take some of the farm program costs from regular government revenue and replace the covering charge by what would amount to a tax on bread and rice foods.

In other words he is asking for a shift to sales tax revenue.

As a partial thought this would be a justifiable change because in the long run if the farmer is to get back on his feet the consumer will have to pay more for his products. His problem is not efficiency or numbers, but it is a failure to establish an adequate price in the market. With an adequate price per pound or per bushel he, as a producer, could afford to adjust his production to demand.

But if the President goes no farther than to seek a replacement tax for federal treatment of the farm problem, his bread tax scheme will be a delusion. Such federal programs, as is the farm program, are not designed to produce prosperity but rather to guarantee subsistence until basic problems have time to settle themselves. His scheme will only lighten the tax of some and make it heavier on others with the farmer coming out about where he came in.

Federal budgets and tax loads are one thing but an adequate price in the market place for the distressed farmer is another.

The trick in the President's proposal calls for further constructive action namely to get the proper price in the market and the benefits of it directly to the producer. Theoretically a successful venture in this would ultimately take the federal government virtually all of the way out of the farm problem.

Off To The Polls

One hopes today for the sun to shine, wishing all the while that he didn't have to do so. It would be much better if, regardless of the weather, the electorate turned out in great numbers to decide the fate of programs and candidates as they appear on this Tuesday's primary election ballot.

Voters will be given four ballots if they live in Lincoln and one if they are only county residents, except where the latter are involved in any village contests and the few who are in the Lincoln School District but outside the city limits. The four city ballots and one county ballot will greatly affect the future of this area.

There will be a ballot for a city bond issue for its share of the proposed new city-county building, a county bond issue ballot for the same purpose, a school district ballot and a ballot for City Council and Airport Authority membership. This should be more than enough to get the voters out but many will still decline to exercise their precious voting right.

Not our nation, our state nor our local government can operate to the fullest potential without heavy voter participation in elections. Those who fail to vote are silencing just that much the public voice that serves to guide and direct our government and its programs. Make no mistake about it, every vote does count and every citizen should want his vote among the totals at the end of the day.

Across our land and throughout the world, men and women have died and are still doing so for the freedom to vote. It is a great shame that some of those who have this freedom handed to them care so little for it that they won't accept its responsibility.

Russians Turn Cold On Lyndon

MOSCOW—You can get into lots of arguments in Moscow over Lyndon B. Johnson. Unfortunately they all add up to one probability—that the President will not go to the Soviet Union in 1965.

This does not mean that the Soviet government will withdraw its invitation. The Russians are too polite for that. It does mean that they will not push the invitation, and LBJ, being smart and knowing something of the anti-Johnson atmosphere in the Soviet Union today, will not go.

Furthermore, Brezhnev and Kosygin, the new team of Soviet leaders, will not come to the United States. Real fact is that they didn't want to come in the first place—even before tension developed over Viet Nam. Having accused Khrushchev of a "personality cult"; in other words, grandstanding on world tours, Brezhnev and Kosygin did not want to be accused of doing the same. So they will not come to the U.S.A.

The tragedy regarding Lyndon Johnson is that when he first assumed office he was hailed by the Russians as a hero. The Soviet press recalled that as a young congressman he had trained under President Roosevelt, who still lives in Russian memory as the great friend of the Soviet Union. It was predicted that because of FDR's influence, Johnson would follow a similar sympathetic policy.

During his first year in office, Johnson more than fulfilled this prediction. His step-by-step friendship — reducing arms, cutting back plutonium stockpiles, signing a consular treaty, signing an agreement for the desalinization of water—all contributed to a friendly, peaceful Johnson image in the Soviet Union.

Many Russians felt that he had gone further than John F. Kennedy toward world peace.

Today that image is shattered. In Moscow Johnson's name is mud. One thing only did it—bombing North Viet Nam.

I have had several arguments with important Russians leaders regarding LBJ. One of them, who has made several trips to the United States, said that he was convinced Johnson has the wrong advisers; that Kennedy had more deliberate, careful advisers.

"Johnson has exactly the same advisers as President Kennedy," I replied. "He has retained McGeorge Bundy, who was first appointed by Kennedy, and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, whom Kennedy picked because of his advocacy of preparation for small brushfire wars.

"Furthermore, Johnson has been more deliberate than Kennedy in his decisions," I argued. "Kennedy went off the deep end with his Bay of Pigs fiasco. He avoided a meeting with Khrushchev until after the Berlin crisis had become acute. And he let the situation in Cuba erode following the Bay of Pigs until it led to the Cuban missile crisis."

My Soviet friends remained unconvinced.

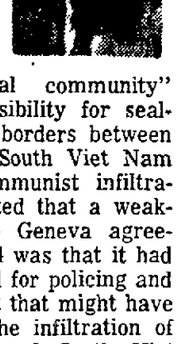
Canada's Pearson Tries To Aid U.S.



OTTAWA, Canada—Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada is one of the best friends the United States has anywhere. At least twice during the past year and a half he has responded to urgent alarm calls from Washington with action tipping the balance for peace in a nasty threatening situation.

A loyal friend of the great and powerful neighbor of the South, he has watched with growing concern as the widening American commitment in Viet Nam seemed to mean a collision course with communist China and full-scale war. Pearson knows well the cruel burden carried by the United States in Viet Nam. His own advisers have urged caution, arguing that Washington resents any kind of advice cutting across the military drive to compel North Viet Nam to announce withdrawal of aid for the Viet Cong guerrillas in the South.

Yet in spite of all the reasons for caution he has persisted in the hope that somehow his good offices might help to find a way out. Not only a man of goodwill—he was awarded the Nobel peace prize in 1957—but in Canada's foreign service and later as minister of External Affairs he became thoroughly versed in the intricacies of foreign policy. He was one of the ablest participants in the Indochina conference in Geneva in 1954.

On March 5 Pearson made a speech in New York suggesting as an alternative to the present course that the "international community" take responsibility for sealing off the borders between North and South Viet Nam to stop communist infiltration. He noted that a weakness of the Geneva agreement of 1954 was that it had not provided for policing and enforcement that might have prevented the infiltration of both Laos and South Viet Nam.

Last week, receiving Temple University's World Peace Award in Philadelphia, Pearson again urged that the tools of diplomacy be used to explore means for ending the conflict short of all-out war. It was the voice of conscience raised at a moment many observers feel is critical in a precarious balance that can in a short time slide toward disaster.

Hardly a day goes by that either Pearson or his minister for external affairs, Paul Martin, are not taxed about Viet Nam in the House of Commons. Bristling conservatives demand to know whether Canada is merely a satellite of the colossus to the South. Is it Pearson policy simply to follow in the wake of the United States?

As for the prime minister, the question he raises is a fundamental one. That is whether any head of government in the great complexity of the world today has the time, the knowledge and the energy to direct both foreign and domestic policy. One gathers that his answer would be in the negative.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

This morning clouds as soft as goose down caught the rising sun. Poplars were silhouetted in jet bars across the huge ruddy disk in the east. The valleys were still quiet and secret with low-hung mist. Duke, who had been sleeping on the front step, opened heavy-lidded eyes and trotted down the lane. An early April morning is enough to stir anyone from his drowsy lethargy.

"Spring is here!" I called to The Farmer as he made this way through the mud of the farmyard.

He was not ready to relinquish his idea that winter had bowed out for good. He wore his winter-weight jacket and before the day had passed, he found it to be just what he needed. The wind changed to the north again, clouds rolled in from the western horizon and it was raw and winterish once more.

☆ ☆ ☆

Farmers say it is best for the wheat that it remain dormant through the fluctuating temperatures. Extreme cold temperatures such as we had the last week of March that broke all records would no doubt have damaged the wheat, had it been green and growing.

Preparation is continuing on the farm despite the unspringlike weather. Tomorrow The Farmer is having the disk sharpened. A neighbor has a portable disk roller which will be used.

The tractor has just been returned to the farm after having new sleeves, pistons and bearings put in and the fuel tank to run the mechanical monster has been filled. Farming does not start with a big cash outlay in the spring.

The milo seed has been delivered and fertilizer ordered. Later this spring, weed spray and insect spray will be needed.

"Our own private war against poverty is enough to give us combat fatigue," said one witty sage. Surely he must have been a farmer. Just after he had paid all his bills in the spring would be a likely time for him to make such a quote.

I will be so glad when the orchard blooms and I can see a mass of green trees when I look toward the road. It seems my view has become so commonplace. Perhaps I have grown tried of winter.

A change of season comes at the right time. By the time summer is ready to change into fall, I am exhausted from the sweltering days and dusty lanes. There is something invigorating in a crisp autumn day that late summer days cannot provide.

After I have savored the blend of pungent morning air filled with the flavor of ripening apples and mellow pears. I am ready to wait for winter. It, too, has its attributes . . . the stillness of the countryside beneath the first snow blanket and the hushed footsteps in the snow.

Now I am waiting for spring and the burst of activity that comes with it. The song of the thrush and the arched rainbow in the sky after a refreshing shower will all be new again.

I was made to live in an area where the seasons change. Each one is like having a new adventure and I find I want to be in the middle of all the activity.

☆ ☆ ☆

At the present, I am engaged in planning the new garden. I have read from the pages of a seed catalog, hoping I can find a wee extra spot for a new variety of squash. I turned my head when I saw a green pea that was guaranteed to be edible from pod to seed . . . no string pod or tough membrane when cooked.

Adventure is always more complete when I have a hoe in my hand.

The Location

Lincoln, Neb.

The City Hall and County Courthouse are both in such sad condition that repair or renovation are hopeless. A new building is the best answer. However, there seems to be considerable difference of opinion on location. It has now been narrowed down to a choice between the 10th and J site and the downtown 15th and O site.

The downtown interests would, of course, prefer the 15th and O location. This site would place the building in the congested downtown area and access to it would be impeded by downtown traffic. It is not unlikely that those who have business to transact at the city-county building would find it necessary to hunt for parking space on the streets.

On the other hand, the 10th and J site is far enough away from the congested area so that downtown workers and shoppers would not find the parking area suitable for their purposes.

At the present time, it is estimated that at least $1,700,000 more would have to be spent to obtain a 15th and O site. Efforts have been made to make the added cost appear small and insignificant by breaking it down to the cost per person per month over the life of the bond issue. Let's not be deluded. The added cost is $1,700,000 and this means it would cost over one-third more to use the 15th and O site.

It is obvious that with one-way streets in all directions, access to the 10th and J site would be much easier and faster.

Let us hope that the public is fully aware that the April 6 balloting is, in fact, the only opportunity we will have to affirm our choice for the 10th and J site. Both the city and county bond issues must be approved at that time to accomplish this purpose.

Up And Up

Lincoln, Neb.

I see by The Star where someone has suggested they raise the salary of the lieutenant governor another $4,000 and some judges $3,000 and the teachers $1,000. On the next page I read where they are trying to figure out a way to raise taxes and get more money. And I see where someone wants to spend $20 a day for food for our legislators.

If these politicians are not satisfied with their jobs, let them step down and I am sure we can find someone to take their places at the present salaries. I built a new home 24 years ago and the taxes are about three times what they were when I built it.

I think it's time the politicians learn to run our government on the present income and stay out of debt.

The Promise

Lincoln, Neb.

There has been comment that, if a building is beautiful, it will be just as beautiful no matter where it is located. The obvious fallacy of this viewpoint is the assumption that the beauty of a building is not affected by its surroundings, which is clearly untrue.

When I came back to Lincoln in 1937, one of the first things that came to my mind when I looked at the Capitol was what an inspiring and beautiful building it was but what a shame that it was surrounded by old, unsightly properties. Since then much has been done to eliminate the deteriorating areas immediately around the Capitol block, but there is still much to be done.

Also in 1937 I was told that when the new building was placed there, the city and county gave a promise to the state that the area from 15th Street to the university would be beautified and developed. Even at that time, the auditorium was a part of that thinking. It was said also that as individuals and firms indicated an interest, they would be encouraged to build there. Some of this has been done and is being done, but again there is still much to be done, and it seems to me the city-county building is a logical part of it.

It is possible that J Street east of 10th could eventually develop with some commercial buildings and some apartment buildings which could improve the appearance of that street, but nothing can be done about the area to the west. It seems obvious that that area will never be better and there is every likelihood that it will gradually deteriorate.

It is surely to be hoped that forward-looking citizens of Lincoln and Lancaster County will consider the future values of both beauty and practical accessibility, both of which can within a few years result from locating the city-county building on 15th Street, thus giving incentive to further beautification and development by others.

Hatfield, Peterson Score

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon and former Nebraska Gov. Val Peterson made the evening worthwhile for a nearly full house of GOP faithful at the Coliseum over the weekend. It might have been expected of Governor Hatfield since he was the featured speaker, but Val Peterson had to carve his place from among a host of party leaders who had equal time with him on the program.

Peterson took two stands that added a little spice to the usual political talk that came from those who shared the stage with him. He equated states rights with states action and he lambasted the non-partisan feature of the Nebraska Legislature. He would not find unanimous agreement on either point with all the people of Nebraska but he provided something for thoughtful discussion. If the states want to keep power and authority from Washington, he said, they are going to have to provide their people with the kind of leadership these people want.

Providing Leaders

These are harsh words to some but how they can be refuted is beyond us. The fact is that the federal government has not entered into various areas of our national life until a need has been demonstrated. It has not entered there, either, until the states ignored this need for a good long time.

Peterson would not argue that the federal government always had the right answer when it did step in or that it was justified in stepping in at all times when it has. But he does maintain that there are demands that can and should logically be met by government, acting for and with the citizenry it represents.

The former governor, considered a likely prospect for another shot at public office in 1966, hit at leadership weakness as the fault of the non-partisan feature of our Unicameral. He also attacked the Unicameral's development of fresh political timber but the record leaves a lot of room for disagreement with that claim. As to leadership, it could or could not be as the former governor says. We don't know for sure because we don't know what might have been produced by the Legislature under a partisan plan. In the end, leadership must be measured by productivity and its quality and what it might have been with legislative partisanship is speculative.

One point of Peterson's remarks, however, is interesting. He spoke of the lack of power and authority on the part of the governor of Nebraska under our present legislative system. This is a fact, regardless of what it means in the end. With perhaps one exception, Nebraska governors since the adoption of our non-partisan Unicameral have been consistently more liberal and progressive than the body of senators as a whole with whom these governors have had to deal. None of these governors since 1935 lacked the willingness to lead but the non-partisan feature of the Legislature has denied them one major tool of leadership. There are many other things to think about in connection with this subject but Peterson has touched a significant point.

Governor Hatfield probably thought highly of Peterson's statement in regard to the responsibility of the states to act for the public benefit and welfare. The Oregon governor's remarks were heavier with political philosophy than with actions but no one could have listened attentively without recognizing what it was he was saying.

The governor pointed out that the objectives of both political parties will often be the same. The differences in the two parties, he reported, should and are found in the means by which they would accomplish those ends. He was a little short on the specifics of such differences, particularly in regard to Viet Nam, but one cannot cover the nation and world in 30 minutes.

If the GOP is to find victory at the polls in the years ahead, it will do so with such men as Governor Hatfield. He is young, articulate and dedicated. But most important for the Republicans, Governor Hatfield would use government to achieve the social and economic ends that are the natural objective of most people. He is a man who would not just be at odds with the Democratic administration in Washington, but who would have specific proposals of his own to answer the demands of the nation. He does not so much believe that we need less government as he believes we need better government.

Improving Quality

The distinctions here are not easy to draw and the governor himself sometimes labors with details when he tries to do so but therein lies the future of the GOP. It will have to define clearly the differences in means or abdicate to the Democrats all the ends and it can't win doing the later.

Nebraska's Decision

The Des Moines, Iowa, Register, we believe, overestimates the ability of a unicameral legislature to solve problems.

It has taken note of Nebraska's new reapportionment statute which seems to illustrate the state's acquiescence to the U.S. Supreme Court's view that people, not area, for the correct base for political representation. The Register believes it is significant that the problem which is vexing so many states having a two house legislature has been rather quickly solved by Nebraska's one house body.

We would rather believe that the Nebraska achievement was based on the fact that this state does not have revolutionary tendencies, that it holds the Federal Union in high regard and is willing to suppress some of its own attitudes for what it considers to be the greatest good for the greatest number.

Nebraska definitely did desire area representation and so stated in 1962 when by a vote of 218,019 to 175,613 it enacted a constitutional amendment which gave from 20 to 30 per cent weight to area in the formation of legislative districts. Later the Legislature enacted a statute agreeable to that amendment. And shortly after that a three man federal court threw out the area statute. It was not until then that the Nebraska Legislature acquiesced to the one man one vote doctrine.

We believe from that it was more the character of Nebraska people than any form of government that dictated the change.

Tax On Bread

President Johnson has asked for legislation which would take some of the farm program costs from regular government revenue and replace the covering charge by what would amount to a tax on bread and rice foods.

In other words he is asking for a shift to sales tax revenue.

As a partial thought this would be a justifiable change because in the long run if the farmer is to get back on his feet the consumer will have to pay more for his products. His problem is not efficiency or numbers, but it is a failure to establish an adequate price in the market. With an adequate price per pound or per bushel he, as a producer, could afford to adjust his production to demand.

But if the President goes no farther than to seek a replacement tax for federal treatment of the farm problem, his bread tax scheme will be a delusion. Such federal programs, as is the farm program, are not designed to produce prosperity but rather to guarantee subsistence until basic problems have time to settle themselves. His scheme will only lighten the tax of some and make it heavier on others with the farmer coming out about where he came in.

Federal budgets and tax loads are one thing but an adequate price in the market place for the distressed farmer is another.

The trick in the President's proposal calls for further constructive action namely to get the proper price in the market and the benefits of it directly to the producer. Theoretically a successful venture in this would ultimately take the federal government virtually all of the way out of the farm problem.

Off To The Polls

One hopes today for the sun to shine, wishing all the while that he didn't have to do so. It would be much better if, regardless of the weather, the electorate turned out in great numbers to decide the fate of programs and candidates as they appear on this Tuesday's primary election ballot.

Voters will be given four ballots if they live in Lincoln and one if they are only county residents, except where the latter are involved in any village contests and the few who are in the Lincoln School District but outside the city limits. The four city ballots and one county ballot will greatly affect the future of this area.

There will be a ballot for a city bond issue for its share of the proposed new city-county building, a county bond issue ballot for the same purpose, a school district ballot and a ballot for City Council and Airport Authority membership. This should be more than enough to get the voters out but many will still decline to exercise their precious voting right.

Not our nation, our state nor our local government can operate to the fullest potential without heavy voter participation in elections. Those who fail to vote are silencing just that much the public voice that serves to guide and direct our government and its programs. Make no mistake about it, every vote does count and every citizen should want his vote among the totals at the end of the day.

Across our land and throughout the world, men and women have died and are still doing so for the freedom to vote. It is a great shame that some of those who have this freedom handed to them care so little for it that they won't accept its responsibility.

Russians Turn Cold On Lyndon

MOSCOW—You can get into lots of arguments in Moscow over Lyndon B. Johnson. Unfortunately they all add up to one probability—that the President will not go to the Soviet Union in 1965.

This does not mean that the Soviet government will withdraw its invitation. The Russians are too polite for that. It does mean that they will not push the invitation, and LBJ, being smart and knowing something of the anti-Johnson atmosphere in the Soviet Union today, will not go.

Furthermore, Brezhnev and Kosygin, the new team of Soviet leaders, will not come to the United States. Real fact is that they didn't want to come in the first place—even before tension developed over Viet Nam. Having accused Khrushchev of a "personality cult"; in other words, grandstanding on world tours, Brezhnev and Kosygin did not want to be accused of doing the same. So they will not come to the U.S.A.

The tragedy regarding Lyndon Johnson is that when he first assumed office he was hailed by the Russians as a hero. The Soviet press recalled that as a young congressman he had trained under President Roosevelt, who still lives in Russian memory as the great friend of the Soviet Union. It was predicted that because of FDR's influence, Johnson would follow a similar sympathetic policy.

During his first year in office, Johnson more than fulfilled this prediction. His step-by-step friendship — reducing arms, cutting back plutonium stockpiles, signing a consular treaty, signing an agreement for the desalinization of water—all contributed to a friendly, peaceful Johnson image in the Soviet Union.

Many Russians felt that he had gone further than John F. Kennedy toward world peace.

Today that image is shattered. In Moscow Johnson's name is mud. One thing only did it—bombing North Viet Nam.

I have had several arguments with important Russians leaders regarding LBJ. One of them, who has made several trips to the United States, said that he was convinced Johnson has the wrong advisers; that Kennedy had more deliberate, careful advisers.

"Johnson has exactly the same advisers as President Kennedy," I replied. "He has retained McGeorge Bundy, who was first appointed by Kennedy, and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, whom Kennedy picked because of his advocacy of preparation for small brushfire wars.

"Furthermore, Johnson has been more deliberate than Kennedy in his decisions," I argued. "Kennedy went off the deep end with his Bay of Pigs fiasco. He avoided a meeting with Khrushchev until after the Berlin crisis had become acute. And he let the situation in Cuba erode following the Bay of Pigs until it led to the Cuban missile crisis."

My Soviet friends remained unconvinced.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Canada's Pearson Tries To Aid U.S.

OTTAWA, Canada—Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada is one of the best friends the United States has anywhere. At least twice during the past year and a half he has responded to urgent alarm calls from Washington with action tipping the balance for peace in a nasty threatening situation.

A loyal friend of the great and powerful neighbor of the South, he has watched with growing concern as the widening American commitment in Viet Nam seemed to mean a collision course with communist China and full-scale war. Pearson knows well the cruel burden carried by the United States in Viet Nam. His own advisers have urged caution, arguing that Washington resents any kind of advice cutting across the military drive to compel North Viet Nam to announce withdrawal of aid for the Viet Cong guerrillas in the South.

Yet in spite of all the reasons for caution he has persisted in the hope that somehow his good offices might help to find a way out. Not only a man of goodwill—he was awarded the Nobel peace prize in 1957—but in Canada's foreign service and later as minister of External Affairs he became thoroughly versed in the intricacies of foreign policy. He was one of the ablest participants in the Indochina conference in Geneva in 1954.

On March 5 Pearson made a speech in New York suggesting as an alternative to the present course that the "international community" take responsibility for sealing off the borders between North and South Viet Nam to stop communist infiltration. He noted that a weakness of the Geneva agreement of 1954 was that it had not provided for policing and enforcement that might have prevented the infiltration of both Laos and South Viet Nam.

Last week, receiving Temple University's World Peace Award in Philadelphia, Pearson again urged that the tools of diplomacy be used to explore means for ending the conflict short of all-out war. It was the voice of conscience raised at a moment many observers feel is critical in a precarious balance that can in a short time slide toward disaster.

Hardly a day goes by that either Pearson or his minister for external affairs, Paul Martin, are not taxed about Viet Nam in the House of Commons. Bristling conservatives demand to know whether Canada is merely a satellite of the colossus to the South. Is it Pearson policy simply to follow in the wake of the United States?

As for the prime minister, the question he raises is a fundamental one. That is whether any head of government in the great complexity of the world today has the time, the knowledge and the energy to direct both foreign and domestic policy. One gathers that his answer would be in the negative.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

This morning clouds as soft as goose down caught the rising sun. Poplars were silhouetted in jet bars across the huge ruddy disk in the east. The valleys were still quiet and secret with low-hung mist. Duke, who had been sleeping on the front step, opened heavy-lidded eyes and trotted down the lane. An early April morning is enough to stir anyone from his drowsy lethargy.

"Spring is here!" I called to The Farmer as he made this way through the mud of the farmyard.

He was not ready to relinquish his idea that winter had bowed out for good. He wore his winter-weight jacket and before the day had passed, he found it to be just what he needed. The wind changed to the north again, clouds rolled in from the western horizon and it was raw and winterish once more.

☆ ☆ ☆

Farmers say it is best for the wheat that it remain dormant through the fluctuating temperatures. Extreme cold temperatures such as we had the last week of March that broke all records would no doubt have damaged the wheat, had it been green and growing.

Preparation is continuing on the farm despite the unspringlike weather. Tomorrow The Farmer is having the disk sharpened. A neighbor has a portable disk roller which will be used.

The tractor has just been returned to the farm after having new sleeves, pistons and bearings put in and the fuel tank to run the mechanical monster has been filled. Farming does not start with a big cash outlay in the spring.

The milo seed has been delivered and fertilizer ordered. Later this spring, weed spray and insect spray will be needed.

"Our own private war against poverty is enough to give us combat fatigue," said one witty sage. Surely he must have been a farmer. Just after he had paid all his bills in the spring would be a likely time for him to make such a quote.

☆ ☆ ☆

I will be so glad when the orchard blooms and I can see a mass of green trees when I look toward the road. It seems my view has become so commonplace. Perhaps I have grown tried of winter.

A change of season comes at the right time. By the time summer is ready to change into fall, I am exhausted from the sweltering days and dusty lanes. There is something invigorating in a crisp autumn day that late summer days cannot provide.

After I have savored the blend of pungent morning air filled with the flavor of ripening apples and mellow pears, I am ready to wait for winter. It, too, has its attributes . . . the stillness of the countryside beneath the first snow blanket and the hushed footsteps in the snow.

Now I am waiting for spring and the burst of activity that comes with it. The song of the thrush and the arched rainbow in the sky after a refreshing shower will all be new again.

I was made to live in an area where the seasons change. Each one is like having a new adventure and I find I want to be in the middle of all the activity.

☆ ☆ ☆

At the present, I am engaged in planning the new garden. I have read from the pages of a seed catalog, hoping I can find a wee extra spot for a new variety of squash. I turned my head when I saw a green pea that was guaranteed to be edible from pod to seed . . . no string pod or tough membrane when cooked.

Adventure is always more complete when I have a hoe in my hand.

The Location

Lincoln, Neb.

The City Hall and County Courthouse are both in such sad condition that repair or renovation are hopeless. A new building is the best answer. However, there seems to be considerable difference of opinion on location. It has now been narrowed down to a choice between the 10th and J site and the downtown 15th and O site.

The downtown interests would, of course, prefer the 15th and O location. This site would place the building in the congested downtown area and access to it would be impeded by downtown traffic. It is not unlikely that those who have business to transact at the city-county building would find it necessary to hunt for parking space on the streets.

On the other hand, the 10th and J site is far enough away from the congested area so that downtown workers and shoppers would not find the parking area suitable for their purposes.

At the present time, it is estimated that at least $1,700,000 more would have to be spent to obtain a 15th and O site. Efforts have been made to make the added cost appear small and insignificant by breaking it down to the cost per person per month over the life of the bond issue. Let's not be deluded. The added cost is $1,700,000 and this means it would cost over one-third more to use the 15th and O site.

It is obvious that with one-way streets in all directions, access to the 10th and J site would be much easier and faster.

Let us hope that the public is fully aware that the April 6 balloting is, in fact, the only opportunity we will have to affirm our choice for the 10th and J site. Both the city and county bond issues must be approved at that time to accomplish this purpose.

Up And Up

Lincoln, Neb.

I see by The Star where someone has suggested they raise the salary of the lieutenant governor another $4,000 and some judges $3,000 and the teachers $1,000. On the next page I read where they are trying to figure out a way to raise taxes and get more money. And I see where someone wants to spend $20 a day for food for our legislators.

If these politicians are not satisfied with their jobs, let them step down and I am sure we can find someone to take their places at the present salaries. I built a new home 24 years ago and the taxes are about three times what they were when I built it.

I think it's time the politicians learn to run our government on the present income and stay out of debt.

The Promise

Lincoln, Neb.

There has been comment that, if a building is beautiful, it will be just as beautiful no matter where it is located. The obvious fallacy of this viewpoint is the assumption that the beauty of a building is not affected by its surroundings, which is clearly untrue.

When I came back to Lincoln in 1937, one of the first things that came to my mind when I looked at the Capitol was what an inspiring and beautiful building it was but what a shame that it was surrounded by old, unsightly properties. Since then much has been done to eliminate the deteriorating areas immediately around the Capitol block, but there is still much to be done.

Also in 1937 I was told that when the new building was placed there, the city and county gave a promise to the state that the area from 15th Street to the university would be beautified and developed. Even at that time, the auditorium was a part of that thinking. It was said also that as individuals and firms indicated an interest, they would be encouraged to build there. Some of this has been done and is being done, but again there is still much to be done, and it seems to me the city-county building is a logical part of it.

It is possible that J Street east of 10th could eventually develop with some commercial buildings and some apartment buildings which could improve the appearance of that street, but nothing can be done about the area to the west. It seems obvious that that area will never be better and there is every likelihood that it will gradually deteriorate.

It is surely to be hoped that forward-looking citizens of Lincoln and Lancaster County will consider the future values of both beauty and practical accessibility, both of which can within a few years result from locating the city-county building on 15th Street, thus giving incentive to further beautification and development by others.

School Merger

Bennet, Neb.

A lot of people in Alvo and Eagle and Bennet and Palmyra and Walton are very angry about the action of the Select Committee of the County Reorganization Boards for not letting them vote on their school merger. Maybe the Select Committee members are just trying to show what big men they are.

We elected our school board members and we ought to have a right to vote on what they have worked out.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Novelist Attained Fame After 40

By ROBERT PETERSON

Many past the bloom of youth yearn to make better use of natural gifts. They're sure they harbor talents which could lead to more creative careers. But because they're past 40 they fear it's too late to try.

They may be encouraged by the knowledge that novelist Pearl S. Buck was 40 when her first novel was published.

"Just about everything significant in my life happened after that milestone," said this venerated literary figure when I talked with her recently. She's a handsome woman, of medium height with silvery gray hair. She has an awesome 62 books to her credit and is the only woman to have won both the Nobel and Pulitzer prizes.

As she happily admits to being 72, I asked her for her thoughts on age. "Having lived so long in the Orient I take great pride in my years. The Chinese I grew up with regarded age as the greatest virtue.

"Some say this attitude is changing under the Communists, but I doubt it. The Chinese veneration of the aged has been so traditional for centuries that I'm sure it persists, as it does throughout most of Asia."

When I asked how she spends her days, the calendar she so casually described suggests that she seldom sleeps. She's at her desk writing four hours daily, and hopes to have two new novels published this year. She devotes time to her adoption agency, "Welcome House." She's half-owner of a motion picture company, and she serves on numerous boards.

Despite being a septuagenarian she's experiencing motherhood again. Years ago she adopted and raised five Oriental children. Now she has adopted and brought into her home a new brood consisting of four teenage girls from Korea.

"The program closest to my heart," she continued, "is my Pearl S. Buck Foundation which seeks to alleviate the dreadful hardships found among some 50,000 children born to Asian mothers and whose fathers were U.S. servicemen. These children are severely discriminated against in Asia because they are illegitimate and half 'foreigner.'"

Where do foundation funds come from? "From tax-deductible gifts sent us, and from benefit balls at which I appear. The latter came about in an unusual way. About two years ago I arranged for an Arthur Murray instructor to teach my new daughters and me to dance. Later, studio officials offered to hold benefit balls with all proceeds going to the foundation.

"I've attended 27 of these balls to date, and open each with a turn around the floor. In addition to raising funds for the foundation, I like to feel my attendance at these balls is a reminder that ballroom dancing is not the exclusive prerogative of youth.

"I've found dancing lively fun, and an invigorating, therapeutic conditioner which deserves greater status and popularity among folks along in years."

Those healthy but apathetic elders bound to their rockers should take a cue from Mrs. Buck. While they may be unable to keep pace with her, they should be reminded that passing three score and ten needs be no deterrent to creative accomplishment, humanitarian service and lively fun.

If you would like a booklet "Staying Attractive in Later Years," write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Hike In Legal Notices Rates Advanced

A bill increasing the rate of payment to newspapers for publishing legal notices received 40-0 first round approval in the Legislature Monday.

LB337 increases the rate of payment for the first insertion of a legal notice from 13 to 16 cents per line, and of subsequent insertions from 11 to 12 cents per line.

The increases would be the first such since 1951, the lawmakers were told by Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion, the chief introducer. He said publishing costs all have risen in the interim and the number of newspapers, which the state can ill afford to lose, is declining steadily.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff moved unsuccessfully to cut the first insertion rate to 14 cents per line, saying he wanted it said he took an economy position on at least one bill at the current session.

Co-sponsored by Sens Payne, George H. Fleming of Sidney and George C. Gerdes of Alliance, LB377 as drawn would have increased the payment level to 17 cents a line for the first insertions and 14 cents per line for subsequent insertions, but was modified by the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee which heard the bill.

Bauer Receives Permission To Withdraw Bills

Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln received legislative permission Monday to withdraw three of his bills which were scheduled for public hearing Tuesday afternoon before the Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha announced that as a result, his committee's public hearing for Tuesday is being cancelled.

The bills include:

LB799 — Eliminating a 30-day time limit on suits against a county for damages from highway or bridge defects.

LB800—Declaring hospital records to be business records for the purpose of certain civil procedures in district courts.

LB801—Abolishing the requirement of gross negligence for guest passengers to recover damages.

Rural Youths Study Grants Bill Passed

A bill establishing a scholarship program for youths from rural areas received 48-0 approval on final reading in the State Legislature Monday.

Chiefly introduced by Alliance Sen. George Gerdes, LB163 authorized the state agriculture director to allocate Nebraska Rural Rehabilitation Corp. funds for the scholarships. The grants of up to $800 would aid youths wishing to attend the University of Nebraska or any state college or trade school.

The rehabilitation fund, long idle, now exceeds $2.4 million. Money for the scholarships would be taken from interest collected from the fund, about $90,000 a year.

LB163 sets up an advisory committee to aid the agriculture director in selecting scholarship recipients.

The bill carries the emergency clause and becomes law when the governor signs the bill. Sen. Gerdes said he hopes the program can be in operation next fall.

The complete list of bills passed Monday (E-emergency clause):

LB163—Making the State Agriculture Department the administrator of scholarships paid from Nebraska Rural Rehabilitation Corp funds (Gerdes, Adamson, Striker) (E) (48-0)

LB131 — Variously revising Nebraska hospital laws to conform to changes in federal legislation and to assure continued eligibility for federal funds (Hughes, Orme) (48 0)

LB152—Revising the list of agencies designated to receive copies of Nebraska statutes. (Wylie)(48-0).

LB871—Providing an emergency appropriation to the Department of Justice to aid in defraying cost of boundary litigation between Iowa and Nebraska. (Budget Committee) (E) (48 0)

LB219—Setting salary of separate juvenile court judges at $15,000 per year, same as district judges. (Carpenter, Mahoney) (40 6)

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Novelist Attained Fame After 40

By ROBERT PETERSON

Many past the bloom of youth yearn to make better use of natural gifts. They're sure they harbor talents which could lead to more creative careers. But because they're past 40 they fear it's too late to try.

They may be encouraged by the knowledge that novelist Pearl S. Buck was 40 when her first novel was published.

"Just about everything significant in my life happened after that milestone," said this venerated literary figure when I talked with her recently. She's a handsome woman, of medium height with silvery gray hair. She has an awesome 62 books to her credit and is the only woman to have won both the Nobel and Pulitzer prizes.

As she happily admits to being 72, I asked her for her thoughts on age. "Having lived so long in the Orient I take great pride in my years. The Chinese I grew up with regarded age as the greatest virtue.

"Some say this attitude is changing under the Communists, but I doubt it. The Chinese veneration of the aged has been so traditional for centuries that I'm sure it persists, as it does throughout most of Asia.'

When I asked how she spends her days, the calendar she so casually described suggests that she seldom sleeps. She's at her desk writing four hours daily, and hopes to have two new novels published this year. She devotes time to her adoption agency, "Welcome House." She's half-owner of a motion picture company, and she serves on numerous boards.

Despite being a septuagenarian she's experiencing motherhood again. Years ago she adopted and raised five Oriental children. Now she has adopted and brought into her home a new brood consisting of four teenage girls from Korea.

"The program closest to my heart," she continued, "is my Pearl S. Buck Foundation which seeks to alleviate the dreadful hardships found among some 50,000 children born to Asian mothers and whose fathers were U.S. servicemen. These children are severely discriminated against in Asia because they are illegitimate and half 'foreigner.'"

Where do foundation funds come from? "From tax-deductible gifts sent us, and from benefit balls at which I appear. The latter came about in an unusual way. About two years ago I arranged for an Arthur Murray instructor to teach my new daughters and me to dance. Later, studio officials offered to hold benefit balls with all proceeds going to the foundation.

"I've attended 27 of these balls to date, and open each with a turn around the floor. In addition to raising funds for the foundation, I like to feel my attendance at these balls is a reminder that ballroom dancing is not the exclusive prerogative of youth.

"I've found dancing lively fun, and an invigorating, therapeutic conditioner which deserves greater status and popularity among folks along in years."

Those healthy but apathetic elders bound to their rockers should take a cue from Mrs. Buck. While they may be unable to keep pace with her, they should be reminded that passing three score and ten needs be no deterrent to creative accomplishment, humanitarian service and lively fun.

Hike In Legal Notices Rates Advanced

A bill increasing the rate of payment to newspapers for publishing legal notices received 40-0 first round approval in the Legislature Monday.

LB337 increases the rate of payment for the first insertion of a legal notice from 13 to 16 cents per line, and of subsequent insertions from 11 to 12 cents per line.

The increases would be the first such since 1951, the lawmakers were told by Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion, the chief introducer. He said publishing costs all have risen in the interim and the number of newspapers, which the state can ill afford to lose, is declining steadily.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff moved unsuccessfully to cut the first insertion rate to 14 cents per line, saying he wanted it said he took an economy position on at least one bill at the current session.

Co-sponsored by Sens. Payne, George H. Fleming of Sidney and George C. Gerdes of Alliance, LB377 as drawn would have increased the payment level to 17 cents a line for the first insertions and 14 cents per line for subsequent insertions, but was modified by the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee which heard the bill.

Bauer Receives Permission To Withdraw Bills

Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln received legislative permission Monday to withdraw three of his bills which were scheduled for public hearing Tuesday afternoon before the Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha announced that as a result, his committee's public hearing for Tuesday is being cancelled.

The bills include:

LB799 — Eliminating a 30-day time limit on suits against a county for damages from highway or bridge defects.

LB800—Declaring hospital records to be business records for the purpose of certain civil procedures in district courts.

LB801—Abolishing the requirement of gross negligence for guest passengers to recover damages.

Rural Youths Study Grants Bill Passed

A bill establishing a scholarship program for youths from rural areas received 48-0 approval on final reading in the State Legislature Monday.

Chiefly introduced by Alliance Sen. George Gerdes, LB163 authorized the state agriculture director to allocate Nebraska Rural Rehabilitation Corp. funds for the scholarships. The grants of up to $800 would aid youths wishing to attend the University of Nebraska or any state college or trade school.

The rehabilitation fund, long idle, now exceeds $2.4 million. Money for the scholarships would be taken from interest collected from the fund, about $90,000 a year.

LB163 sets up an advisory committee to aid the agriculture director in selecting scholarship recipients.

The bill carries the emergency clause and becomes law when the governor signs the bill. Sen. Gerdes said he hopes the program can be in operation next fall.

The complete list of bills passed Monday (E-emergency clause):

LB163—Making the State Agriculture Department the administrator of scholarships paid from Nebraska Rural Rehabilitation Corp. funds. (Gerdes, Adamson, Stryker) (E) (48-0).

LB131 — Variously revising Nebraska hospital laws to conform to changes in federal legislation and to assure continued eligibility for federal funds (Hughes, Orme) (48-0)

LB152—Revising the list of agencies designated to receive copies of Nebraska statutes. (Wylie)(48-0).

LB871—Providing an emergency appropriation to the Department of Justice to aid in defraying cost of boundary litigation between Iowa and Nebraska. (Budget Committee) (E) (48-0).

LB219—Setting salary of separate juvenile court judges at $15,000 per year, same as district judges. (Carpenter, Mahoney) (40-6).

Council Mulls Utilities, American Stores' Plan

The City Council Monday was asked to consider a storm sewer improvement plan and a street vacation in connection with an expansion program proposed by the American Stores Packing Co

Involved is an area between O and M, Third and Fourth.

The expansion program, newly revised from an earlier one, would include the construction of a new 134,700-square foot, one-story processing plant and an additional locker and dock.

Acting Director of Public Works Robert Obering said that the city will be asked to vacate portions of 3rd and N and finance the construction of a new 360-foot storm sewer section to tie in with the expansion.

Agreed To Pay

American Stores has agreed to pay for the relocation of water mains, he added.

If the city approves the street vacations, sewer work and utility relocations, Obering told the council, American Stores plans to start construction in August. The company hopes to have the new building enclosed by November so that work can continue during the winter months.

Company officials said that there are not yet available any cost estimates on the proposed expansion.

William Aitken, attorney for the company, said that any expansion announcement at this time might be premature since any proposal depends to some extent on City Council action.

No Funds

Obering noted that there are no funds in this year's budget for storm sewer improvements on N, 3rd to 4th, but suggested that the estimated $35,000 could be taken from the contingency fund or by delaying one of the present programmed storm sewer projects.

Although council members made no immediate decisions, the majority seemed to favor the expansion and anything the city might need to do to get it under construction.

House Group Okays Agate Fossil Bill

Washington (AP) — A bill to authorize creation of a national monument in Nebraska was approved Monday by a House interior subcommittee.

The bill, to be considered next by the full committee, calls for the Agate Fossil Beds Monument in Nebraska.

Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., author of the Agate Fossil Beds Monument bill, said it was amended to authorize not to exceed $1,800,000 for development purposes and not more than $315,000 for land acquisition.

West Lincoln Board Hears Idea For Volunteer Firemen

By JOHN De CAMP
Star Staff Writer

The West Lincoln Village Board began facing the possibility Monday night of having to look to someplace other than the City of Lincoln for fire protection.

One of the possible solutions suggested by board members was the formation of a volunteer fire department.

However, Bill Bitters, former board chairman pointed out that the use of a volunteer fire department would put West Lincoln in a higher insurance rate class. Curtis Jensen, board chairman, said that he personally feels a volunteer fire department is not nearly as reliable as a professional fire department.

"A group of professional fire fighters is fighting the fire while the volunteers are still getting dressed," Jensen said.

Jensen and Village Atty. Norman Langemach urged serious negotiations be carried on between West Lincoln and Lincoln to determine if it would be possible to induce Lincoln to renew its fire protection contract with West Lincoln.

Some board members and West Lincolnites at the meeting contended that Lincoln had been given fire rigs by the government fifteen or twenty-five years ago for use in "outlying districts." They argued that Lincoln is obligated now to provide these rigs for West Lincoln's use if West Lincoln so desires. Others present claimed that such an idea was "ridiculous."

In other board action unanimous approval was given to the five West Lincoln taverns to renew their dance licenses.

Jensen expressed concern over the problem of dogs running loose and spreading garbage in the streets and on private property. He urged all citizens to speak up to their neighbor if the neighbor's dog is running loose. "If people are not willing to clean up their garbage and restrain their animals, we'll see these people in court," Jensen said.

Callan Doubts House Will OK Soil Fund Cut

Ashland (AP)—Rep. Clair Callan predicts the House will not go along with the administration's proposed $100 million cut in soil conservation funds for the next fiscal year.

The Odell Democrat said that he doesn't believe that the cut will get out of the subcommittee of which he is a member.

Dental Group Tabs Officers

Dr. E. L. Lampshire was elected president of the Lincoln District Dental Association for 1965-66 at the group's annual election Monday night. Dr. J. R. Burlington was named president-elect.

Dr. J. E. Weesner was elected secretary-treasurer.

Named to the board of directors were Dr. R. L. Ireland and Dr. E. G. Wilkinson.

Dr. K. E. Holland was selected as district representative to the state board of trustees. Dr. B. J. Moran was named district representative to state nominating committee.

Lincoln district delegates to the state association delegation are Dr. R. C. Wieland and Dr. W. H. Ress.

Agreed To Pay

American Stores has agreed to pay for the relocation of water mains, he added.

If the city approves the street vacations, sewer work and utility relocations, Obering told the council, American Stores plans to start construction in August. The company hopes to have the new building enclosed by November so that work can continue during the winter months.

Company officials said that there are not yet available any cost estimates on the proposed expansion.

William Aitken, attorney for the company, said that any expansion announcement at this time might be premature since any proposal depends to some extent on City Council action.

No Funds

Obering noted that there are no funds in this year's budget for storm sewer improvements on N, 3rd to 4th, but suggested that the estimated $35,000 could be taken from the contingency fund or by delaying one of the present programmed storm sewer projects.

Although council members made no immediate decisions, the majority seemed to favor the expansion and anything the city might need to do to get it under construction.

House Group Okays Agate Fossil Bill

Washington (AP) — A bill to authorize creation of a national monument in Nebraska was approved Monday by a House interior subcommittee.

The bill, to be considered next by the full committee, calls for the Agate Fossil Beds Monument in Nebraska.

Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., author of the Agate Fossil Beds Monument bill, said it was amended to authorize not to exceed $1,800,000 for development purposes and not more than $315,000 for land acquisition.

West Lincoln Board Hears Idea For Volunteer Firemen

By JOHN De CAMP
Star Staff Writer

The West Lincoln Village Board began facing the possibility Monday night of having to look to someplace other than the City of Lincoln for fire protection.

One of the possible solutions suggested by board members was the formation of a volunteer fire department.

However, Bill Bitters, former board chairman pointed out that the use of a volunteer fire department would put West Lincoln in a higher insurance rate class. Curtis Jensen, board chairman, said that he personally feels a volunteer fire department is not nearly as reliable as a professional fire department.

"A group of professional fire fighters is fighting the fire while the volunteers are still getting dressed," Jensen said.

Jensen and Village Atty. Norman Langemach urged serious negotiations be carried on between West Lincoln and Lincoln to determine if it would be possible to induce Lincoln to renew its fire protection contract with West Lincoln.

Some board members and West Lincolnites at the meeting contended that Lincoln had been given fire rigs by the government fifteen or twenty-five years ago for use in "outlying districts." They argued that Lincoln is obligated now to provide these rigs for West Lincoln's use if West Lincoln so desires. Others present claimed that such an idea was "ridiculous."

In other board action unanimous approval was given to the five West Lincoln taverns to renew their dance licenses.

Jensen expressed concern over the problem of dogs running loose and spreading garbage in the streets and on private property. He urged all citizens to speak up to their neighbor if the neighbor's dog is running loose. "If people are not willing to clean up their garbage and restrain their animals, we'll see these people in court," Jensen said.

Callan Doubts House Will OK Soil Fund Cut

Ashland (AP)—Rep. Clair Callan predicts the House will not go along with the administration's proposed $100 million cut in soil conservation funds for the next fiscal year.

The Odell Democrat said that he doesn't believe that the cut will get out of the subcommittee of which he is a member.

Dental Group Tabs Officers

Dr. E. L. Lampshire was elected president of the Lincoln District Dental Association for 1965-66 at the group's annual election Monday night. Dr. J. R. Burlington was named president-elect.

Dr. J. E. Weesner was elected secretary-treasurer.

Named to the board of directors were Dr. R. L. Ireland and Dr. E. G. Wilkinson.

Dr. K. E. Holland was selected as district representative to the state board of trustees. Dr. B. J. Moran was named district representative to state nominating committee.

Lincoln district delegates to the state association delegation are Dr. R. C. Wieland and Dr. W. H. Ress.

Dakotan To Direct Job Corps Center Slated At Chadron

Pierre, S.D. (UPI) — Walter Fillmore, director of the South Dakota Game, Fish and Parks Department for the past four years, said he will resign to accept a Job Corps job in Nebraska.

Fillmore said he will leave his present job sometime in June to become a director of a Job Corps center at Chadron, Neb. The job is under the U.S. Forest Service.

The 44-year-old Fillmore has been with the department for 18 years.

In January, 1961, he succeeded Harry Woodward as director.

United Air Lines Makes Largest Purchase

New York (UPI) — United Air Lines, Inc., Monday announced the largest aircraft purchase in commercial aircraft history amounting to more than $750 million.

Chairman W. A. Patterson said United would buy 75 jet aircraft with options or lease arrangements for enough additional craft to amount to 144 in all and to make United a completely jet service by 1970.

The lion's share of the business will go to Boeing for 727 QC (quick-change) passenger-cargo jets and the new Boeing 737 twin-engine-short-range jets.

Includes Parts

In addition, United is buying immediately five DC8-61 200-passenger jets for its mainland-to-Hawaii line and four regular DC8s.

Patterson said the huge orders include spare engines and spare parts. He estimated that the options for 44 planes would be exercised by the end of 1967 or earlier and said that since 25 planes being leased from Boeing cannot be returned to the Seattle firm, they amount to a purchase.

He said United would have to borrow on a long-term basis something under $200 million to finance the huge program, leaving $550 million to be paid over five years out of current income and depreciation cash flow.

However United had on order 41 jet aircraft before Monday's huge program announcement, including six regular DC8s, three DC8f's and 38 Boeing 727s.

Exceeds Billion

"This means our total existing commitment for new aircraft counting the program announced Monday, with spare engines and spare parts exceeds $1 billion," Patterson said.

The huge Douglas DC8-61 is almost 37 feet longer than the regular DC8, which carries 122 passengers in transcontinental and the Hawaiian service. It will have both first class and coach cabins.

The purchase of 40 of the new twin jets short range 737S, rumored for some time, is regarded in aircraft circles as a life saver for Boeing, which so far has had some difficulty selling this craft.

DRIVE PROTESTING HIKE IN TUITION STARTS AT NU

A petition drive in protest of a recommendation by the Legislature's Budget Committee to raise student tutition rates has been started at the University of Nebraska.

Sponsors are seeking 10,000 student signatures. About 500 had been gained by Monday evening.

The petition asks the Legislature and the citizens of the state to reject the budget committee recommendation, the details of which have not yet been released.

The petitions are being circulated through all housing units and the Student Union under the sponsorship of the Interfraternity Council, Student Council Associates and residence hall governments.

Tentative plans call for appointment of small student delegation to address the Legislature in presenting the petitions.

Sen. Terry Carpenter last week called on students to demonstrate against the proposal. He offered to lead or follow a march on the State Capitol.

An editorial in Monday's "Daily Nebraskan" suggested that the petition effort would be better than a march.

"No matter how glorious the non-violent demonstration has become, there is never a guarantee that one here would not become a troublesome picnic," the editorial noted.

"We think it is sensible not to march.

"The Daily Nebraskan full, supports the petition to the Legislature and urges that, before we march, we see how effective this petition could be."

PETERSON TOPS POLL

Former Gov. Val Peterson headed the preference list for governor among Lancaster County Republicans who answered a questionnaire distributed at the GOP county forum in Lincoln Saturday night.

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas was the leading choice for the First District congressional post, County GOP Chairman Arlen Beam revealed Monday.

More than 100 persons filled out questionnaires.

Peterson led the gubernatorial list with 16 votes followed by Charles Thone with 11, and Fred Seaton and Mayor Dean Petersen, both with nine.

Twelve other names were listed as first choice for governor, including Douglas, Robert Crosby, N. T. Tiemann, Robert Denney, W. W. Cook, Ralph Beermann, Clarence Meyer, John Knight and A. V. Sorensen.

Douglas led the congressional list with 21 votes followed by Beermann with 6, Mayor Petersen with five, and State Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly with four. There were 21 other names mentioned.

Economic Aid 'Area Blueprint' Proposed

McCook — State Technical Assistance Director Ron Jensen urged Monday the creation of an "area blueprint" for utilizing the federal economic opportunity program.

Speaking before the McCook Chamber of Commerce, Jensen congratulated the community for being selected as the site for a Job Corps Conservation Center.

He said the camp would bring $300,000 into the community and provide "a unique opportunity for the community to be a pioneer in the development of human resources."

Jensen urged the formation of the Red Willow County Community Action Council with an eye toward expanding to a model three-or-four-county area.

The federal act makes provisions for coordinated programs ranging from preschool programs to job retraining and placement for adults, he said.

Court Hearing April 16 On Redistricting

Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt Monday set April 16 as date for a hearing on the validity of the new legislative reapportionment plan adopted by Nebraska's Legislature last week.

At issue is the question of whether the new plan passed as LB628, meets the federal court's order that the Unicameral reapportion itself on a population basis only.

LB628 gives Douglas County (Omaha) two additional senators for a total of 12, and boosts the size of the body from 49 to 50 members.

The bill was approved 40-5 on final reading last Monday and immediately was hustled to the Federal Court with a supplemental answer and counterclaim, asking the court to declare the plan to be "a constitutional and valid enactment."

Four days later the State AFL-CIO, as intervenor in the suit, filed a response contending that LB628 perpetuates an "invidious discrimination."

The hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Skarda Believes 6-Area Power Bill 'Real Solution'

Omaha Sen. William Skarda says he regards the pending six-area power bill as "the only real answer to this mess."

But he says he doubts it will ever get out of the Public Works Committee.

The measure, LB665, would divide Nebraska into six separate power districts and merge all of the state's rural power agencies into those respective areas.

Skarda has added his name as co-introducer of the bill, backed by the Loup River Public Power District of Columbus and a group of Omaha investment-security firms that act as financial consultants to Loup.

If the Legislature does not pass LB663, Skarda said, "It will join with past sessions that missed their chance to provide a real solution" to Nebraska's public power problems.

GOP Tax Rider Tabled

Washington (AP)—Charge and countercharge of political maneuvering flew in the Senate Monday before Democrats tabled a Republican move 37-29, to ease income tax payment for those who had too little withheld from 1964 salaries.

Sen. John G. Tower R-Tex., offered a tax amendment to a bill proposing tighter regulation of lobbyists for foreign governments.

It would have given an extra three months to taxpayers whose under-withholding totaled $100 or less, six months to those owing $100 to $500 and a year for those owing $500 or more.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said many taxpayers were caught in a squeeze created "deliberately and with political reason" by the Johnson administration.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., countered that Tower and other Republicans were making "Texas talk" for the benefit of the folks back home.

Burglars Get $72 From Office

Intruders took approximately $72 from the office of Drs. Louis and Paul Marx, 901 Federal Securities Building, police said.

Burglars apparently tried to force the door of another office in the building. However, entry was not gained, police said.

POSTCARD by Stan Lee

"It is pretty to see what money will do," wrote Samuel Pepys. Sam wrote a lively diary in London in the time of the league and fire. He put down this pretty thought on March 21, 1667.

Why he said this I do not know. Probably Sam had hit a winner on the soccer pool. Or some such windfall.

Anyway, he said it. And the statement is as sound today as if it were newly minted.

☆ ☆ ☆

Have been taking stock of my own pence and find I owe it all to the banker.

This is a good thing. For it is better to have other people's money than your own.

When I was a youth, I saved madly. I mean I tried to save. Same thing. It gives you the same gloomy feeling. It was no flinging roses, roses, riotously with the throng, Cynara.

The idea of saving was sawed off on me in tender years.

The savers were the good guys.

The spenders were the bad guys.

I learned about the ants and the grasshoppers. The grasshoppers lived it up all summer. Spitting tobacco juice and hopping around the barley fields.

The thrifty ants saved their wheat.

What happened? In the cold winter, the grasshoppers had to come around, hat in hand, and borrow from the ants.

☆ ☆ ☆

It took some long years and stern lessons in economics to find out that the point of the whole thing really is that the grasshoppers got their loan.

Their credit was thereby enhanced. And the ants probably looked on them kindly—as my banker looks on me.

For you have to feel warm toward a person who is sitting over your assets.

The grasshoppers not only lived it up in the lush, plush summer. They spent the winter singing in the taverns on borrowed money.

☆ ☆ ☆

After years of trying to save, years of playing the ant, I put the arm on the banker for a little ready.

Much to my surprise, he was very stern about it. It seemed that I had not established credit.

"For it you have never borrowed money," said the banker twirling the gold nuggets on his solid gold watch chain, "how do we know you will pay it back?"

He pointed out that if you had borrowed money—(and paid it back)—you had proved you were a good guy.

Not having done this, I might be a bad guy.

He let me get into the bank for a small loan. And, by paying and borrowing, borrowing and paying, I established myself as a top grade credit risk.

The banker could not do enough for me.

Bankers do not love ants. They love grasshoppers.

Thanks to this education, I stay nearer to my banker than his telephone.

The banker reassures me. He sends me statements of his financial soundness. How his assets are over umpty-ump million dollars. The Federal Reserve Board adores him. The FBI watches over his jug like a loving mother.

It is a pleasure to do business with solid citizens. It is a pleasure to be a good guy. It is even better to be a grasshopper.

☆ ☆ ☆

This knocks off all the thrifty things I was taught as a saving youth. All the business of putting pennies in the piggy bank.

It has improved my outlook on life—I nearly went the route without finding out the joys of grasshopping.

Thus, ignoring Horatio Alger, Jr. from rags to riches, I find myself this morning solvent as rust remover. Owing everybody in sight. And everybody happy. How come?

Governor OK's Apportionment Resolution

Gov. Frank Morrison informed the Nebraska Legislature Monday he has approved Resolution 14, by which the Unicameral urges the federal government to keep hands off legislative reapportionment matters.

Resolution 14, passed last week, petitions Congress to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of proposing a constitutional amendment which would say that no provision of the constitution "or any amendment thereto shall restrict or limit any state in the apportionment of representation in its Legislature."

The governor vetoed a similar resolution two years ago because it contained a section—not included in this year's resolution—which specifically directed federal courts to keep hands off any reapportionment issues.

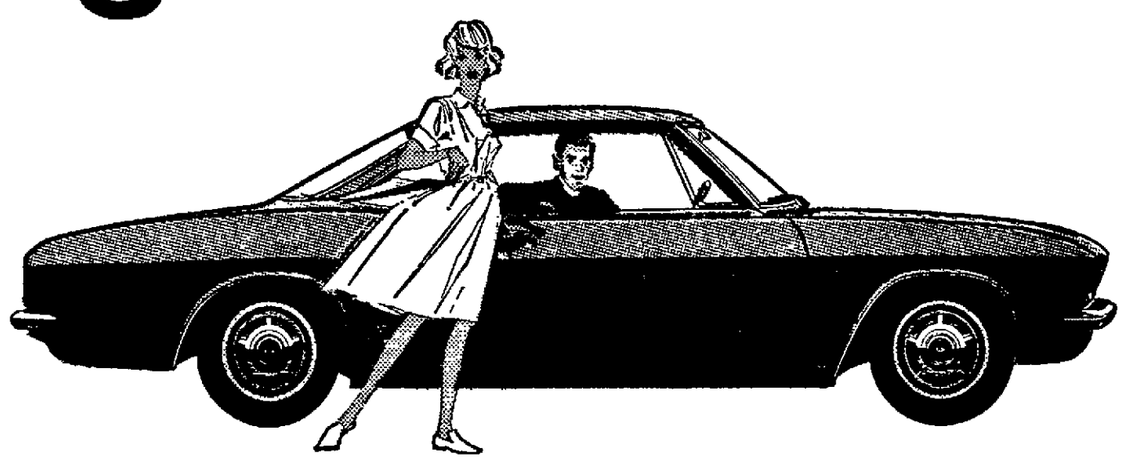
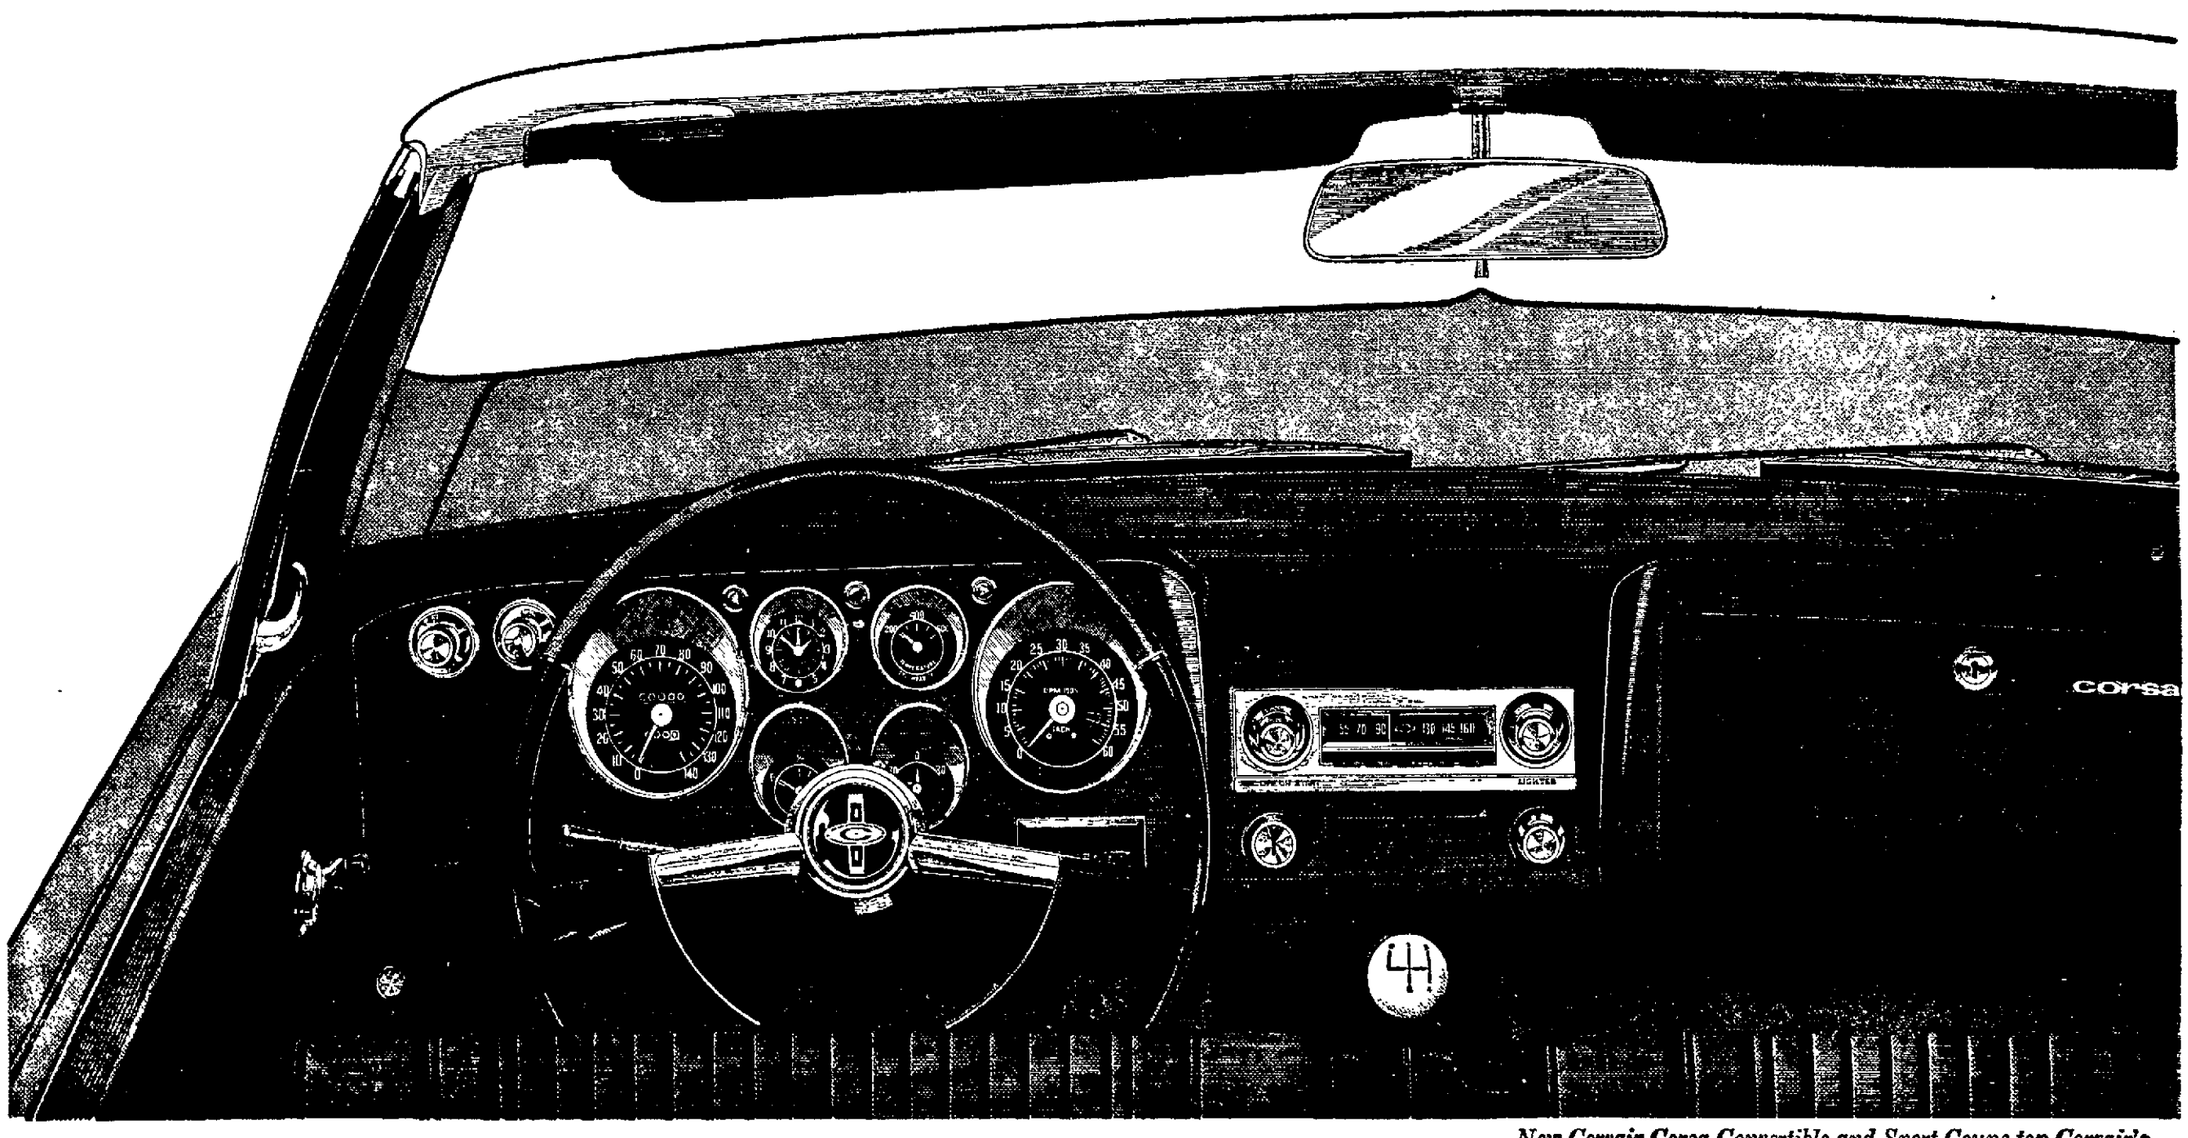
Zing into spring!
Corvair by Chevrolet





New Corvair Corsa Convertible and Sport Coupe top Corvair's 7-model lineup for '65—all with Body by Fisher.

The steering's crisper, the ride's flatter, the style's racier — even the grass looks a shade greener from behind the wheel of this new Corvair

You'll find a Corvair Corsa's instrument panel vastly more informative than an ordinary car's. But that's really only a fringe benefit of driving one.

Because for all its finely calibrated instrumentation—tachometer, manifold pressure gauge, even an electric clock with a sweep second hand for rally buffs—the most important thing that happens when you get a Corsa out on the road doesn't register on the dash. It registers on you.

You feel it in the steering—crisp and precise—as you double back on a curve. In the flat riveted-to-the-road stability of the new fully independent suspension. In the response of the rear engine (up to 180 hp available now in Corsa's Turbo-Charged version).

You don't have to wear a sports car cap and sun goggles to appreciate things like this. Or the clean international cut of Corvair's styling.

Drop down to your dealer's now—while the trading's extra good—and see for yourself. Look over the dashboard gadgetry all you like, but by all means get out on the road where you can really handle the merchandise. We'll guarantee spring will look greener, sun goggles or no.

United Air Lines Makes Largest Purchase

New York (UPI) — United Air Lines, Inc., Monday announced the largest aircraft purchase in commercial aircraft history, amounting to more than $750 million.

Chairman W. A. Patterson said United would buy 75 jet aircraft with options or lease arrangements for enough additional craft to amount to 144 in all and to make United a completely jet service by 1970.

The lion's share of the business will go to Boeing for 727 QC (quick-change) passenger-cargo jets and the new Boeing 737 twin-engine-short-range jets.

Includes Parts

In addition, United is buying immediately five DC8-61 200-passenger jets for its mainland-to-Hawaii line, and four regular DC85s.

Patterson said the huge orders include spare engines and spare parts. He estimated that the options for 44 planes would be exercised by the end of 1967 or earlier and said that since 25 planes being leased from Boeing cannot be returned to the Seattle firm, they amount to a purchase.

He said United would have to borrow on a long-term basis something under $200 million to finance the huge program, leaving $550 million to be paid over five years out of current income and depreciation cash flow.

However, United had on order 41 jet aircraft before Monday's huge program announcement, including six regular DC8s, three DC8f's and 38 Boeing 727s.

Exceeds Billion

"This means our total existing commitment for new aircraft, counting the program announced Monday, with spare engines and spare parts exceeds $1 billion," Patterson said.

The huge Douglas DC8-61 is almost 37 feet longer than the regular DC8, which carries 122 passengers in transcontinental and the Hawaiian service. It will have both first class and coach cabins.

The purchase of 40 of the new twin jets short range 737S, rumored for some time, is regarded in aircraft circles as a life saver for Boeing, which so far has had some difficulty selling this craft.

DRIVE PROTESTING HIKE IN TUITION STARTS AT NU

A petition drive in protest of a recommendation by the Legislature's Budget Committee to raise student tutition rates has been started at the University of Nebraska.

Sponsors are seeking 10,000 student signatures. About 500 had been gained by Monday evening.

The petition asks the Legislature and the citizens of the state to reject the budget committee recommendation, the details of which have not yet been released.

The petitions are being circulated through all housing units and the Student Union under the sponsorship of the Interfraternity Council, Student Council Associates and residence hall governments.

Tentative plans call for appointment of small student delegation to address the Legislature in presenting the petitions.

Sen. Terry Carpenter last week called on students to demonstrate against the proposal. He offered to lead or follow a march on the State Capitol.

An editorial in Monday's "Daily Nebraskan" suggested that the petition effort would be better than a march.

"No matter how glorious the non-violent demonstration has become, there is never a guarantee that one here would not become a troublesome picnic," the editorial noted.

"We think it is sensible not to march.

"The Daily Nebraskan fully supports the petition to the Legislature and urges that, before we march, we see how effective this petition could be."

GOP Tax Rider Tabled

Washington (AP)—Charge and countercharge of political maneuvering flew in the Senate Monday before Democrats tabled a Republican move 37-29, to ease income tax payment for those who had too little withheld from 1964 salaries.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., offered a tax amendment to a bill proposing tighter regulation of lobbyists for foreign governments.

It would have given an extra three months to taxpayers whose under-withholding totaled $100 or less, six months to those owing $100 to $500 and a year for those owing $500 or more.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said many taxpayers were caught in a squeeze created "deliberately and with political reason" by the Johnson administration.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., countered that Tower and other Republicans were making "Texas talk" for the benefit of the folks back home.

Burglars Get $72 From Office

Intruders took approximately $72 from the office of Drs. Louis and Paul Marx, 901 Federal Securities Building, police said.

Burglars apparently tried to force the door of another office in the building. However, entry was not gained, police said.

PETERSON TOPS POLL

Former Gov. Val Peterson headed the preference list for governor among Lancaster County Republicans who answered a questionnaire distributed at the GOP county forum in Lincoln Saturday night.

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas was the leading choice for the First District congressional post, County GOP Chairman Arlen Beam revealed Monday.

More than 100 persons filled out questionnaires.

Peterson led the gubernatorial list with 16 votes followed by Charles Thone with 11, and Fred Seaton and Mayor Dean Petersen, both with nine.

Twelve other names were listed as first choice for governor, including Douglas, Robert Crosby, N. T. Tiemann, Robert Denney, W. W. Cook, Ralph Beermann, Clarence Meyer, John Knight and A. V. Sorensen.

Douglas led the congressional list with 21 votes followed by Beermann with 6, Mayor Petersen with five, and State Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly with four. There were 21 other names mentioned.

Skarda Believes 6-Area Power Bill 'Real Solution'

Omaha Sen. William Skarda says he regards the pending six-area power bill as "the only real answer to this mess."

But he says he doubts it will ever get out of the Public Works Committee.

The measure, LB665, would divide Nebraska into six separate power districts and merge all of the state's rural power agencies into those respective areas.

Skarda has added his name as co-introducer of the bill, backed by the Loup River Public Power District of Columbus and a group of Omaha investment-security firms that act as financial consultants to Loup.

If the Legislature does not pass LB663, Skarda said, "It will join with past sessions that missed their chance to provide a real solution" to Nebraska's public power problems.

Economic Aid 'Area Blueprint' Proposed

McCook — State Technical Assistance Director Ron Jensen urged Monday the creation of an "area blueprint" for utilizing the federal economic opportunity program.

Speaking before the McCook Chamber of Commerce, Jensen congratulated the community for being selected as the site for a Job Corps Conservation Center.

He said the camp would bring $300,000 into the community and provide "a unique opportunity for the community to be a pioneer in the development of human resources."

Jensen urged the formation of the Red Willow County Community Action Council with an eye toward expanding to a model three-or-four-county area.

The federal act makes provisions for coordinated programs ranging from preschool programs to job training and placement for adults, he said.

Court Hearing April 16 On Redistricting

Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt Monday set April 16 as date for a hearing on the validity of the new legislative reapportionment plan adopted by Nebraska's Legislature last week.

At issue is the question of whether the new plan, passed as LB628, meets the federal court's order that the Unicameral reapportion itself on a population basis only.

LB628 gives Douglas County (Omaha) two additional senators for a total of 12, and boosts the size of the body from 49 to 50 members.

The bill was approved 40-5 on final reading last Monday and immediately was hustled to the Federal Court with a supplemental answer and counterclaim, asking the court to declare the plan to be "a constitutional and valid enactment."

Four days later the State AFL-CIO, as intervenor in the suit, filed a response contending that LB628 perpetuates an "invidious discrimination."

The hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m.

State College Officials Concerned Over Effects Of Tuition Boost

Two state college officials expressed concern Monday over what effect a proposed tuition hike might have on Nebraska's four state colleges

They commented after a secret meeting of the State Normal Board on future measures to meet rising enrollments at the schools.

Bernard Spencer of Nebraska City, board chairman, told newsmen that the board discussed "taking another look at financing" dormitory facilities.

Survey Set

He said a survey would be made to determine what needs the colleges will have for additional housing, and the possibility of refinancing existing revenue bonds

Spencer said the study would include the effect a proposed tuition hike might have on enrollments at the colleges at Peru, Kearney, Wayne and Chadron

Dr. Freeman Decker, Normal Board coordinator, said a tuition increase in excess of 10% "would have some effect" on enrollments.

"We are concerned, but we don't know yet what the recommended increases will be," Decker said

The Legislature's Budget Committee announced last week that it would propose hikes at the University of Nebraska and the four state colleges but it did not reveal the extent of the increases.

Lower Income

Decker said increases would be more likely to effect the state colleges than they would the University, because students at the colleges generally come from lower income families.

Spencer agreed: "For the majority of our (state college) students, there isn't much question about that."

The colleges now receive $100 a semester from resident students, and $150 from non-residents.

The budget committee is expected to make public its proposals for tuition increases later this week.

SENATORS TO DEBATE SCHOOL BUS BILL

The Nebraska Legislature is scheduled Tuesday to give general file floor debate to the controversial parochial school bus bill.

The measure, LB382, proposes a constitutional amendment permitting public boards of education to extend free transportation rights to parochial and private school youngsters.

The bill was killed on a 7-1 vote of the Education Committee but was revived on the floor on an overwhelming 46-2 vote

He'll Fight

Omaha Sen. Eugene Mahoney, principal sponsor said Monday he'll fight any effort to amend the bill

One change known to be eyed would make the furnishing of bus transportation to public and private students a mandatory obligation of school boards.

Another proposed change would revise the wording of the constitutional amendment to make it clearly understood that public funds would be used for the benefit of non-public schools.

A form letter mailed by the Nebraska Council of Churches over the weekend suggested that a public vote on the constitutional amendment "will divide our communities."

Further, it noted:

"If the proposal were to carry in the election, the Legislature or school districts would be permitted to pay taxmony to parochial schools to operate their buses or to families to be reimbursed for transportation to parochial schools.

More Far-Reaching

"This is more far-reaching than allowing children to board a bus that happens to be going their way."

Preliminary Plans For Kearney Building OKd

Preliminary plans for completion of Kearney State College's new science building were approved Monday by the State Normal Board.

Completion of the building will cost $1,250,000. The Legislature appropriated this amount last week.

The shell of the building, now almost finshed, cost $500,000 in funds approved by the 1963 Legislature

Final plans will be presented to the board later. The building, including classrooms and laboratories for biology, chemistry, physics and math, is due for completion by the fall of 1966.

Total cost of the building and equipment is estimated at $1,974,000. Federal funds for some of the equipment is being sought.

The board also approved $141,979 in bids for furnishings for a new 400-student dormitory at Kearney scheduled to be ready this fall.

Also awarded was $1,983,802 in contracts for the three-floor co-educational dormitory and addition to the student dining facility at Chadron State College.

Ely and Sons Inc., North Platte, received the $919,567 general contract for the dormitory and Fullen Construction Co., Scottsbluff, got the $431,796 general contract for the dining facility.

Platte Valley Plumbing & Heating Co., Scottsbluff, received the $399,347 mechanical contract for both buildings and ABC Electric, Chadron, the $143,092 electrical for both jobs

Bids for an estimated $350,000 worth of furnishings for the nine-story dormitory and student center at Wayne State College will be opened May 3.

Decker Believes All-Year Operation Of Colleges Likely

State Colleges Coordinator F. B. Decker said Monday growing enrollments will force Nebraska's higher education institutions — particularly the tax-supported ones — to year-round operation.

Recently returned from a national conference on the subject, Dr. Decker said the general consensus is "year-round operation is coming withing the next few years whether we want it or not."

He said faculty members "are going to have to do more teaching and less research."

Must Dignify Teacher

"We're going to have to hire people to teach and dignify the teacher and let the researcher do research elsewhere," he said.

He said research has a place in teaching, but college administrators must "get away from the idea of promotion based entirely on research and writing."

In year-round operation, the trimester system is the favorite, but some schools use quarters.

POSTCARD by Stan

"It is pretty to see what money will do," wrote Samuel Pepys. Sam wrote a lively diary in London in the time of the league and fire. He put down this pretty thought on March 21, 1667.

Why he said this I do not know. Probably Sam had hit a winner on the soccer pool. Or some such windfall.

Anyway, he said it. And the statement is as sound today as if it were newly minted.

☆ ☆ ☆

Have been taking stock of my own pence and find I owe it all to the banker.

This is a good thing. For it is better to have other people's money than your own.

When I was a youth, I saved madly. I mean I tried to save. Same thing. It gives you the same gloomy feeling. It was no flinging roses, roses, riotously with the throng, Cynara.

The idea of saving was sawed off on me in tender years.

The savers were the good guys.

The spenders were the bad guys.

I learned about the ants and the grasshoppers. The grasshoppers lived it up all summer. Spitting tobacco juice and hopping around the barley fields.

The thrifty ants saved their wheat.

What happened? In the cold winter, the grasshoppers had to come around, hat in hand, and borrow from the ants.

☆ ☆ ☆

It took some long years and stern lessons in economics to find out that the point of the whole thing really is that the grasshoppers got their loan.

Their credit was thereby enhanced. And the ants probably looked on them kindly—as my banker looks on me.

For you have to feel warm toward a person who is sitting over your assets.

The grasshoppers not only lived it up in the lush, plush summer. They spent the winter singing in the taverns on borrowed money.

After years of trying to save, years of playing the ant, I put the arm on the banker for a little ready.

Much to my surprise, he was very stern about it. It seemed that I had not established credit.

"For it you have never borrowed money," said the banker twirling the gold nuggets on his solid gold watch chain, "how do we know you will pay it back?"

He pointed out that if you had borrowed money—(and paid it back)—you had proved you were a good guy.

Not having done this, I might be a bad guy.

He let me get into the bank for a small loan. And, by paying and borrowing, borrowing and paying, I established myself as a top grade credit risk.

The banker could not do enough for me.

Bankers do not love ants. They love grasshoppers.

Thanks to this education, I stay nearer to my banker than his telephone.

The banker reassures me. He sends me statements of his financial soundness. How his assets are over umpty-ump million dollars. The Federal Reserve Board adores him. The FBI watches over his jug like a loving mother.

It is a pleasure to do business with solid citizens. It is a pleasure to be a good guy. It is even better to be a grasshopper.

☆ ☆ ☆

This knocks off all the thrifty things I was taught as a saving youth. All the business of putting pennies in the piggy bank.

It has improved my outlook on life—I nearly went the route without finding out the joys of grasshopping.

Thus, ignoring Horatio Alger, Jr. from rags to riches, I find myself this morning solvent as rust remover. Owing everybody in sight. And everybody happy. How come?

Governor OK's Apportionment Resolution

Gov. Frank Morrison informed the Nebraska Legislature Monday he has approved Resolution 14, by which the Unicameral urges the federal government to keep hands off legislative reapportionment matters.

Resolution 14, passed last week, petitions Congress to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of proposing a constitutional amendment which would say that no provision of the constitution "or any amendment thereto shall restrict or limit any state in the apportionment of representation in its Legislature."

The governor vetoed a similar resolution two years ago because it contained a section—not included in this year's resolution—which specifically directed federal courts to keep hands off any reapportionment issues.

Corvair
by Chevrolet

New Corvair Corsa Convertible and Sport Coupe top Corvair's 7-model lineup for '65—all with Body by Fisher.

The steering's crisper, the ride's flatter, the style's racier — even the grass looks a shade greener from behind the wheel of this new Corvair

You'll find a Corvair Corsa's instrument panel vastly more informative than an ordinary car's. But that's really only a fringe benefit of driving one.

Because for all its finely calibrated instrumentation—tachometer, manifold pressure gauge, even an electric clock with a sweep second hand for rally buffs—the most important thing that happens when you get a Corsa out on the road doesn't register on the dash. It registers on you.

You feel it in the steering—crisp and precise—as you double back on a curve. In the flat riveted-to-the-road stability of the new fully independent suspension. In the response of the rear engine (up to 180 hp available now in Corsa's Turbo-Charged version).

You don't have to wear a sports car cap and sun goggles to appreciate things like this. Or the clean international cut of Corvair's styling.

Drop down to your dealer's now—while the trading's extra good—and see for yourself. Look over the dashboard gadgetry all you like, but by all means get out on the road where you can really handle the merchandise. We'll guarantee spring will look greener, sun goggles or no.

Retardation Tests Killed, 5-2

The Legislature's Public Health Committee Monday killed on a 5-2 vote a bill that would have required all infants born in Nebraska be given a test to guard against mental retardation.

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, committee chairman, said it was felt the importance of the tests should be underscored, but the committee objected to the compulsory provision in the bill.

The measure, LB615, introduced chiefly by Lincoln Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme, would have required tests to determine any errors in metabolism in infants, such as phenylkentonuria (PKU) or galactosemia, which cause mental retardation.

Representatives of the State Medical Association and the State Pediatrics Society objected strongly to the mandatory provision, arguing that 95% of the babies are given such tests now.

The committee also killed another Orme bill, LB766, providing that parents or guardians when able shall pay the expense of caring for pupils at the Cozad school for the trainable mentally retarded.

The measure was axed on a 5-2 vote after a motion to advance it to the floor failed.

The Cozad school was established in 1958 on a pilot program basis. Sen. Orme said LB766 was introduced to draw attention to the school and the need to train Nebraska's 2,200 mentally retarded children who are trainable.

Also killed by the committee was LB641, providing for determination of minimum payments to nursing homes under the public assistance law.

The committee advanced LB584, requiring that public buildings constructed in the future include features to accommodate the physically handicapped.

A controversial bill allowing public corporations of political subdivisions doing business in a proprietary capacity to make charitable contributions remained stalled in committee after a motion to advance it failed on a 2-3 vote. The bill, LB599, was introduced by Sens. Orme and Pat Moulton of Omaha.

ANNEXING BILL KILLED

Sen. Richard Proud's controversial Omaha annexation bill, LB379, was killed Monday on a 5-1 vote of the Legislature's Government Committee.

The action came after Deputy Omaha City Atty. Frederick A. Brown delivered a written assurance from five Omaha city councilmen that they would oppose any ordinance to annex suburban Ralston or Millard in the next two years.

LB379 would have required that before Omaha could annex any land that is part of an existing incorporated city or village, the annexation would need to be approved by the areas being annexed.

The bill received its public hearing late in February and had been stalled in committee since that time. It was supported by such Douglas County towns as Millard, Ralston, Waterloo, Valley, Elkhorn and Bennington, but was opposed vigorously by Omaha city officials.

The committee deadlock was broken when Brown delivered to the committee the pledge of Councilmen Harry Trustin, Albert L. Veys, Arthur D. Bradley, H. Fred Jacobberger and Stephen T. Novak, to oppose any annexation of Ralston or Millard in the next two years. The five are the council members who are running for re-election.

A resolution proposing an interim study of annexation problems is pending in the Unicameral. If undertaken, it could produce recommendations to be acted upon two years hence.

Informed of the decision, Proud said he would attempt to revive the bill on the floor.

Proud called the decision "another loss for the little man."

OK Bill Hiking Brokers' And Agents' Fees

The fee for issuing a license to a resident agent for a domestic insurance company would be increased from $1 to $2 and the fee for a resident broker's license would climb from $10 to $15 under a bill approved Monday by the Legislature's Banking Committee.

The measure, LB732, was introduced for the State Insurance Department by Omaha Sen. Richard F. Proud.

Also reported out was Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB620, a previously heard bill providing requirements for the issuance of a resident insurance broker's license. The bill was amended to call for a $5 examination fee.

A measure heard Monday, LB430, chiefly introduced by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, making a change in the Uniform Commercial Code was held in committee after a motion to advance it to the floor fell short on a 2-0 vote. Five affirmative votes were needed.

LB430 would require newspaper pubication, in addition to personal notification, as a means of giving notice when a public sale, auction sale or notice to creditors is involved in commercial dealings, unless otherwise specifically provided.

In other action, the committee

Heard and sent to the floor LB733, by Sen. Proud, increasing the unearned premium reserve requirements of domestic sickness and accident insurance companies.

Heard, amended completely and advanced Sen. Proud's LB673, relating to the filing by certain pubiic utilities of certain statements with the secretary of state.

Bills Raising Tax Limit In Certain Towns Held

Bills which would raise the property tax mill levy limit for first and second class cities and villages were held by Committee Monday following a brief public hearing.

Pending when the committee adjourned was a motion to remove all levy limitations from the cities and villages affected.

LB255, sponsored by Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington, would increase the levy limit for first class cities from 20 to 25 mills, and the limit for second class cities and villages from 25 to 30 mills.

Two companion bills, LB260 and LB261, would implement the same levy limit increases in other statutes pertaining to cities.

Lincoln attorney Randall Sims, representing the League of Nebraska Municipalities, told the committee that many cities and villages are now approaching their levy limits and needs are continuing to increase.

In answer to commtitee questioning, Sims said he would have no objection to removal of levy limitations altogether.

Kjar and Sims were the only witnesses to testify on the three bills.

Removal Of Debt Limit In Villages, Some Towns OKd

A bill removing from present law an indebtedness exemption for areas annexed by second class cities and villages was approved 7-0 Monday by the Legislature's Judiciary Committee after a public hearing.

The effect of LB579, introduced by Lincoln Sen. Hal W. Bauer, is to provide that when an area is annexed by one of these smaller cities on the violation of owners of property in the area, the annexed area shall share in any indebtedness of the annexing municipality.

Also approved 7-0 was LB711, which authorizes Lancaster County to use electronic data processing equipment for purposes of levying and collecting taxes and making special assessments. The measure was introduced chiefly by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln.

Man Fined $100; Molested Woman

Alvin Eastman, 20, of 867 No. 22nd, Apt. 1, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 in Lancaster County Court Monday to a charge of disturbing the peace

The charge resulted from a Saturday night incident in which Eastman molested a woman while she was asleep in her bedroom. She screamed and the man fled.

State College Officials Concerned Over Effects Of Tuition Boost

Two state college officials expressed concern Monday over what effect a proposed tuition hike might have on Nebraska's four state colleges.

They commented after a secret meeting of the State Normal Board on future measures to meet rising enrollments at the schools.

Bernard Spencer of Nebraska City, board chairman, told newsmen that the board discussed "taking another look at financing" dormitory facilities.

Survey Set

He said a survey would be made to determine what needs the colleges will have for additional housing, and the possibility of refinancing existing revenue bonds.

Spencer said the study would include the effect a proposed tuition hike might have on enrollments at the colleges at Peru, Kearney, Wayne and Chadron.

Dr. Freeman Decker, Normal Board coordinator, said a tuition increase in excess of 10% "would have some effect" on enrollments.

"We are concerned, but we don't know yet what the recommended increases will be," Decker said.

The Legislature's Budget Committee announced last week that it would propose hikes at the University of Nebraska and the four state colleges but it did not reveal the extent of the increases.

Lower Income

Decker said increases would be more likely to effect the state colleges than they would the University, because students at the colleges generally come from lower income families.

Spencer agreed: "For the majority of our (state college) students, there isn't much question about that."

The colleges now receive $100 a semester from resident students, and $150 from nonresidents.

The budget committee is expected to make public its proposals for tuition increases later this week.

SENATORS TO DEBATE SCHOOL BUS BILL

The Nebraska Legislature is scheduled Tuesday to give general file floor debate to the controversial parochial school bus bill.

The measure, LB382, proposes a constitutional amendment permitting public boards of education to extend free transportation rights to parochial and private school youngsters.

The bill was killed on a 7-1 vote of the Education Committee but was revived on the floor on an overwhelming 46-2 vote.

He'll Fight

Omaha Sen. Eugene Mahoney, principal sponsor, said Monday he'll fight any effort to amend the bill.

One change known to be eyed would make the furnishing of bus transportation to public and private students a mandatory obligation of school boards.

Another proposed change would revise the wording of the constitutional amendment to make it clearly understood that public funds would be used for the benefit of nonpublic schools.

A form letter mailed by the Nebraska Council of Churches over the weekend suggested that a public vote on the constitutional amendment "will divide our communities."

Further, it noted:

"If the proposal were to carry in the election, the Legislature or school districts would be permitted to pay tax mony to parochial schools to operate their buses or to families to be reimbursed for transportation to parochial schools.

More Far-Reaching

"This is more far-reaching than allowing children to board a bus that happens to be going their way."

Preliminary Plans For Kearney Building OKd

Preliminary plans for completion of Kearney State College's new science building were approved Monday by the State Normal Board.

Completion of the building will cost $1,250,000. The Legislature appropriated this amount last week.

The shell of the building, now almost finshed, cost $500,000 in funds approved by the 1963 Legislature.

Final plans will be presented to the board later. The building, including classrooms and laboratories for biology, chemistry, physics and math, is due for completion by the fall of 1966.

Total cost of the building and equipment is estimated at $1,974,000. Federal funds for some of the equipment is being sought.

The board also approved $141,979 in bids for furnishings for a new 400-student dormitory at Kearney scheduled to be ready this fall.

Also awarded was $1,983,802 in contracts for the three-floor co-educational dormitory and addition to the student dining facility at Chadron State College.

Ely and Sons Inc., North Platte, received the $919,567 general contract for the dormitory and Fullen Construction Co., Scottsbluff, got the $431,796 general contract for the dining facility.

Platte Valley Plumbing & Heating Co., Scottsbluff, received the $399,347 mechanical contract for both buildings and ABC Electric, Chadron, the $143,092 electrical for both jobs.

Bids for an estimated $350,000 worth of furnishings for the nine-story dormitory and student center at Wayne State College will be opened May 3.

Decker Believes All-Year Operation Of Colleges Likely

State Colleges Coordinator F. B. Decker said Monday growing enrollments will force Nebraska's higher education institutions — particularly the tax-supported ones — to year-round operation.

Recently returned from a national conference on the subject, Dr. Decker said the general consensus is "year-round operation is coming withing the next few years whether we want it or not."

He said faculty members "are going to have to do more teaching and less research."

Must Dignify Teacher

"We're going to have to hire people to teach and dignify the teacher and let the researcher do research elsewhere," he said.

He said research has a place in teaching, but college administrators must "get away from the idea of promotion based entirely on research and writing."

In year-round operation, the trimester system is the favorite, but some schools use quarters.

Solons Try To Unplug Bill Logjam

The Nebraska Legislature confined its floor debate to relatively non-controversial bills on general file Monday as it attempted to unplug a logjam of measures awaiting first round floor approval.

As the Legislature entered upon its 14th week Monday, 167 bills rested on general file awaiting propulsion toward final passage.

Salary bills were among those showing up Monday but the Legislature, despite occasional "go-slow" advice, treated them as non-controversial measures.

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa complained that "everybody is asking more, more, more, while the farmer is getting less, less, less."

Referring to a proposal that judges of the Workmen's Compensation Court be paid $15,000 per year instead of their present $11,000, Sen. Nore noted that Nebraska farmers are receiving about three per cent on their investment and to earn $15,000 a year, a farmer would need an investment of one-half million dollars.

The bill on Workmen's Compensation Court salaries, LB-298, finally was advanced 31-6 in a form which placed the new salary at $13,000 as recommended by the Salaries and Claims Committee. A proposal by Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrie that the pay be set at $15,000, the same as district judges, was voted down 11-28.

Other bills advanced from general file included:

LB13—Authorizing the State Supreme Court to set the salaries of the clerk and reporter

LB437—Variously revising fees charged and collected by sheriffs for their services.

LB319—Increasing the fee charged for services of the state surveyor and deputy from $32 to $48 per day.

LB492—Providing for audits of reclamation districts by the state auditor

LB325—Regulating air travel by state employes on state business

LB363—Revising uniform reciprocal enforcement of support act in line with amendments adopted in other states

LB657—Authorizing the state Agriculture Department to withhold from aircraft fuels tax collections up to one per cent to pay administrative costs.

LB658—Eliminating a requirement that road markers and signs required by the State Department of Roads be manufactured by the Nebraska Penal Complex, which is not equipped to do this job.

Retardation Tests Killed, 5-2

The Legislature's Public Health Committee Monday killed on a 5-2 vote a bill that would have required all infants born in Nebraska be given a test to guard against mental retardation.

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, committee chairman, said it was felt the importance of the tests should be underscored, but the committee objected to the compulsory provision in the bill.

The measure, LB615, introduced chiefly by Lincoln Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme, would have required tests to determine any errors in metabolism in infants, such as phenylkentonuria (PKU) or galactosemia, which cause mental retardation.

Representatives of the State Medical Association and the State Pediatrics Society objected strongly to the mandatory provision, arguing that 95% of the babies are given such tests now..

The committee also killed another Orme bill, LB766, providing that parents or guardians when able shall pay the expense of caring for pupils at the Cozad school for the trainable mentally retarded.

The measure was axed on a 5-2 vote after a motion to advance it to the floor failed.

The Cozad school was established in 1958 on a pilot program basis. Sen. Orme said LB766 was introduced to draw attention to the school and the need to train Nebraska's 2,200 mentally retarded children who are trainable.

Also killed by the committee was LB641, providing for determination of minimum payments to nursing homes under the public assistance law.

The committee advanced LB584, requiring that public buildings constructed in the future include features to accommodate the physically handicapped.

A controversial bill allowing public corporations of political subdivisions doing business in a proprietary capacity to make charitable contributions remained stalled in committee after a motion to advance it failed on a 2-3 vote. The bill, LB599, was introduced by Sens. Orme and Pat Moulton of Omaha.

OK Bill Hiking Brokers' And Agents' Fees

The fee for issuing a license to a resident agent for a domestic insurance company would be increased from $1 to $2 and the fee for a resident broker's license would climb from $10 to $15 under a bill approved Monday by the Legislature's Banking Committee.

The measure, LB732, was introduced for the State Insurance Department by Omaha Sen. Richard F. Proud.

Also reported out was Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB620, a previously heard bill providing requirements for the issuance of a resident insurance broker's license. The bill was amended to call for a $5 examination fee.

A measure heard Monday, LB430, chiefly introduced by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, making a change in the Uniform Commercial Code was held in committee after a motion to advance it to the floor fell short on a 2-0 vote. Five affirmative votes were needed.

LB430 would require newspaper pubication, in addition to personal notification, as a means of giving notice when a public sale, auction sale or notice to creditors is involved in commercial dealings, unless otherwise specifically provided.

In other action, the committee:

Heard and sent to the floor LB733, by Sen. Proud, increasing the unearned premium reserve requirements of domestic sickness and accident insurance companies.

Heard, amended completely and advanced Sen. Proud's LB673, relating to the filing by certain public utilities of certain statements with the secretary of state.

ANNEXING BILL KILLED

Sen. Richard Proud's controversial Omaha annexation bill, LB379, was killed Monday on a 5-1 vote of the Legislature's Government Committee.

The action came after Deputy Omaha City Atty. Frederick A. Brown delivered a written assurance from five Omaha city councilmen that they would oppose any ordinance to annex suburban Ralston or Millard in the next two years.

LB379 would have required that before Omaha could annex any land that is part of an existing incorporated city or village, the annexation would need to be approved by the areas being annexed.

The bill received its public hearing late in February and had been stalled in committee since that time. It was supported by such Douglas County towns as Millard, Ralston, Waterloo, Valley, Elkhorn and Bennington, but was opposed vigorously by Omaha city officials.

The committee deadlock was broken when Brown delivered to the committee the pledge of Councilmen Harry Trustin, Albert L. Veys, Arthur D. Bradley, H. Fred Jacobberger and Stephen T. Novak, to oppose any annexation of Ralston or Millard in the next two years. The five are the council members who are running for re-election.

A resolution proposing an interim study of annexation problems is pending in the Unicameral. If undertaken, it could produce recommendations to be acted upon two years hence.

Informed of the decision, Proud said he would attempt to revive the bill on the floor.

Proud called the decision "another loss for the little man."

Bills Raising Tax Limit In Certain Towns Held

Bills which would raise the property tax mill levy limit for first and second class cities and villages were held by Committee Monday following a brief public hearing.

Pending when the committee adjourned was a motion to remove all levy limitations from the cities and villages affected.

LB255, sponsored by Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington, would increase the levy limit for first class cities from 20 to 25 mills, and the limit for second class cities and villages from 25 to 30 mills.

Two companion bills, LB260 and LB261, would implement the same levy limit increases in other statutes pertaining to cities.

Lincoln attorney Randall Sims, representing the League of Nebraska Municipalities, told the committee that many cities and villages are now approaching their levy limits and needs are continuing to increase.

In answer to commtitee questioning, Sims said he would have no objection to removal of levy limitations altogether.

Kjar and Sims were the only witnesses to testify on the three bills.

Removal Of Debt Limit In Villages, Some Towns OKd

A bill removing from present law an indebtedness exemption for areas annexed by second class cities and villages was approved 7-0 Monday by the Legislature's Judiciary Committee after a public hearing.

The effect of LB579, introduced by Lincoln Sen. Hal W. Bauer, is to provide that when an area is annexed by one of these smaller cities on the violation of owners of property in the area, the annexed area shall share in any indebtedness of the annexing municipality.

Also approved 7-0 was LB711, which authorizes Lancaster County to use electronic data processing equipment for purposes of levying and collecting taxes and making special assessments. The measure was introduced chiefly by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln.

Man Fined $100; Molested Woman

Alvin Eastman, 20, of 867 No. 22nd, Apt. 1, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 in Lancaster County Court Monday to a charge of disturbing the peace

The charge resulted from a Saturday night incident in which Eastman molested a woman while she was asleep in her bedroom. She screamed and the man fled.

Solons Try To Unplug Bill Logjam

Tne Nebraska Legislature confined its floor debate to relatively non-controversial bills on general file Monday as it attempted to unplug a logjam of measures awaiting first round floor approval.

As the Legislature entered upon its 14th week Monday, 167 bills rested on general file awaiting propulsion toward final passage.

Salary bills were among those showing up Monday but the Legislature, despite occasional "go-slow" advice, treated them as non-controversial measures.

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa complained that "everybody is asking more, more, more, while the farmer is getting less, less, less."

Referring to a proposal that judges of the Workmen's Compensation Court be paid $15,000 per year instead of their present $11,000, Sen. Nore noted that Nebraska farmers are receiving about three per cent on their investment and to earn $15,000 a year, a farmer would need an investment of one-half million dollars.

The bill on Workmen's Compensation Court salaries, LB-298, finally was advanced 31-6 in a form which placed the new salary at $13,000 as recommended by the Salaries and Claims Committee. A proposal by Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrie that the pay be set at $15,000, the same as district judges, was voted down 11-28.

Other bills advanced from general file included:

LB13—Authorizing the State Supreme Court to set the salaries of the clerk and reporter.

LB437—Variously revising fees charged and collected by sheriffs for their services.

LB319—Increasing the fee charged for services of the state surveyor and deputy from $32 to $48 per day.

LB492—Providing for audits of reclamation districts by the state auditor.

LB325—Regulating air travel by state employes on state business.

LB363—Revising uniform reciprocal enforcement of support act in line with amendments adopted in other states.

LB657—Authorizing the state Agriculture Department to withhold from aircraft fuels tax collections up to one per cent to pay administrative costs.

LB658—Eliminating a requirement that road markers and signs required by the State Department of Roads be manufactured by the Nebraska Penal Complex, which is not equipped to do this job.

THERE'S fun to be had in suburban areas

While we still are concentrating on all the rainy weather of late, a suburban family tells us they will be leaving shortly for the sunny state of Hawaii.

Sounds delightful, wouldn't you say? But there is more good news around and about, which will be fun to hear about.

So, with hopes that the newspaper arrived unsoaked this morning, may we invite you to browse through the most recent occurrences in and around Lincoln.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Leaving on Monday for Los Angeles, Calif., was Jack Pesek who will take off from there for a three week tour of Australia, Japan and various islands located near the two countries. His purpose in going is none other than his pet sport, boxing, which he plans to teach any interested boxing fan in those areas. Upon completion of his three week-work tour, Mr. Pesek will fly to Honolulu, Hawaii, where his wife will join him for a two-week vacation. The couple will not return until early in May when even Nebraska will have flowers abloom—although they may not match the orchid, famously known to grow in Hawaii.

FIENE HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Krivosha recently paid courtesy to Mr. Krivosha's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Krivosha on their 35th wedding anniversary. Following a dinner, attended by 30 invited friends and relatives of the honored couple the evening was spent informally.

The Blue Bird group under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Moss, had a party last week at the home of Mrs. Donavon Luedke. The 12 members spent the afternoon playing games, singing their favorite songs and eating the lunch prepared by the hostesses, Mrs. Luedke and Mrs. George Sackett shared hostess duties and were no doubt assisted by their daughters, Sandy Luedke and Diane Sackett, who are both members of the group.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Alexander and their young son, Billy, visited at the home of Mr. Alexander's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Alexander last week. The young family from Grand Island were en route to St. Louis and decided they would stop and make the brief visit before continuing on their way. It was well worth it since the traveling threesome was treated to chicken dinners, compliments of the Floyd Alexanders.

Regardless of how thick the clouds may be or how much rain falls, we are certain nothing could stop the Ray Yost family from halting or even slowing up the activity around their home.

Last weekend it was off to Kearney and the men's bowling tournament for Mr. and Mrs. Yost. Mr. Yost, representing the Lincoln's Elks League, displayed his skills Saturday evening and Sunday.

O'Shea-Rogers 45th Annual Spring Salon Continues...

SALE ENDS APRIL 17

'Total Performance' Ford Price Cut to New Spring Lows

Ten big saving days remain in the fabulous 45th Annual Spring Sales Salon now going on at O'Shea-Rogers — sale continuing through Saturday, April 17.

Lincoln-Land's Ford Center features the entire line of Ford cars for '65 at giant savings. The savings also extend to used cars and new and used trucks at Fordland, "L" to "M" on 14th.

The new '65 Fords are moving fast but the supply is being replenished with new shipments to keep up the great selection. More than 100 new Fords in 45 models are available in five lines of cars — Thunderbird, Galaxie, Fairlane, Falcon and Mustang!

These are the Total Performance cars for '65 — new service savings and economy of operation . . . new convenience, comfort and quality . . . new power, quietness, quickness and smoothness!

Prices on the entire Ford line have been greatly reduced by O'Shea-Rogers for this annual selling event — a sales celebration that brings a Ford car within the scope of nearly every car buyer. O'Shea-Rogers salesmen combine low prices, high trade-ins and convenient low-cost, one-step financing that makes it easier to put a new Ford in your garage.

Wish to see the secret of Ford's all-new ride? Then visit the showroom at 14th and "M" and you'll see a '65 Ford tilted on its side. On the undercarriage you'll see the cushioning effect of the giant coil springs on all four wheels in the new suspension system.

Bring the family in to "shop the entire Ford line." Have a free Coke while you look around. Then take a test-drive in the model of your choice. Prove to yourself it's the best Ford yet!

Four Facts on Ford Financing

Here's the easy method of becoming the proud owner of a brand new Ford during O'Shea-Rogers' 45th annual Spring Sale Salon:

(1) O'Shea-Rogers offers you low-cost, one-step financing.

(2) Buy your new Ford NOW without changing your present budget plan. Your payments will probably be no higher than on your present car. Your present car need not be paid for, and it may even be the down payment on your new Ford.

(3) O'Shea-Rogers will see that your Ford has the proper insurance coverage in addition to low-cost financing.

(4) Your first payment will not be due until June 1 if you buy a new O'Shea-Rogers Ford during the Spring Sale Salon!

New Formula VEEDOL Motor Oil—better than ever!

New Veedol 10-30 doesn't drain down like ordinary motor oils—even when your car is parked. A tough film of Veedol constantly remains on the job to protect against friction and wear. New Veedol keeps your engine cleaner, gives smooth, noise-free performance.

New Veedol HD is a heavy-duty, high-detergency motor oil. Keeps engines cleaner, protects against rust and wear.

New in 1965 Ford Pickups

TWIN I BEAM INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION

Only Ford Trucks have it!

Biggest truck news in years is the advent of Ford's Twin-I-Beam independent front suspension on Ford pickups with big-truck durability.

Available on all '65 Ford F-100 and F-250 2-wheel drive trucks, the two front axles permit each front wheel to move independently of the other.

Shocks at one wheel are not transmitted to the wheel on the other side. This results in a smoother, more comfortable ride. Also, you get better wheel alignment, easier maintenance, fewer repairs, and safer control.

His '65 Ford rides quieter.... than his Rolls-Royce

Ever since tests proved a '65 Ford LTD could ride quieter than a Rolls-Royce,* some people are all at sea. They just can't believe it. Solution . . . a no-obligation test drive at your nearest Ford Dealer's. Take one. You won't find that Ford's a Rolls-Royce. Obviously. But you will find it has outstanding quality . . . because quiet means quality. Come see (and hear) for yourself . . .

Feel Ford's solid quality ■ Strongest Ford body ever ■ New frame "tunes out" vibration ■ New ultrasoft coil spring suspension

Inspect Ford's luxurious new LTD's ■ Decorator-styled interiors, thick nylon carpeting ■ Ten courtesy lights, rear-seat center arm rests ■ Elegant nylon-vinyl upholsteries ■ Walnut-like vinyl inserts on doors, instrument panel ■ Five ash trays (4-door hardtops)

Relax in Ford's spacious interiors ■ More hip, shoulder, knee room than last year ■ Transmission hump is lower for extra foot room ■ Trunk holds four 2-suiters standing upright, and more

Test Ford's new power ■ Big, new 289-cu. in. V-8 standard in XL's and LTD's ■ New Big Six is the biggest Six in any car, standard on other Galaxie and Custom models ■ All automatics are 3-speed, not 2 as in some cars—smoother, thriftier ■ The manual transmission is fully synchronized—easier shifting

Visit your Ford Dealer and take a test drive!

Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which 1965 Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, XL and LTD Hardtops) with 289-cu. in. V-8 engines and automatic transmissions rode quieter than a new Rolls-Royce. These tests were certified by the U.S. Auto Club.

A MUSICAL FIRST

The members of the Nebraska Unicameral Ladies Club were privileged to hear a musical "first" Monday when they met for luncheon at the Governor's Mansion as the guests of Mrs. Frank Morrison.

A highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of "An Easter Prayer," a cantata written by Mrs. F. M. Gorgen of Central City. Although Mrs. Gorgen has had no musical training and is unable to write music, she is fortunate to have friends who can—and did. To get the cantata on paper, Mrs. Gorgen picked up the phone in her farm home and telephoned her friends who wrote the music as Mrs. Gorgen played and hummed.

Mrs. Gorgen's Central City friends, who sang the cantata, are Mrs. E. L. Ferris, Mrs. L. W. Kroger and Mrs. Gary Brandes—and Mrs. J. L. Byers, who narrated the "Prayer."

From the left are Mrs. Morrison; Mrs. Ross Rassmussen of Hooper and Mrs. Rick Budd, Nebraska City, wives of Nebraska state senators; Mrs. Ferris and Mrs. Byers of Central City; Mrs. Morrison's mother, Mrs. John Hepp of Greeley; Mrs. Gorgen, Mrs. Kroger and Mrs. Brandes, Central City.

ABBY

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old working girl who is in love with Gary, a junior in college. We have known each other for four years, and have been dating regularly for two years. Before Gary went away to college he was just like any other guy, but what college has done to him is terrible. It seems that every time I go out with him he tries to get me to go all the way. I keep telling him no, but I don't see how I can hold out much longer. I love him and he loves me. I don't want to date anyone else. All I want is for Gary to respect me. Please tell me how to keep him without giving in. If you use my letter in your column, please don't use his real name.

GARY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: If it's respect you want, keep right on saying no. Only louder! "Giving in" would provide Gary with the best reason in the world to drop you. If he is the man for you, there will be plenty of time for such intimacies after you are married, without the guilt, fear and shame that accompany pre-martial relations. And if he is not the man for you, you'll be glad you held out.

The bidding:

Opening lead — king of spades.

Declarer starts the play of most hands with only a limited knowledge of how the opponents' cards are divided. But as the play progresses, he learns more and more about the makeup of the unseen hands, and in some cases he can perform really marvelous deeds as a result of the conclusions he is able to draw.

For example, take a hand like this one where South performed nobly. West led the king of spades and then shifted to a trump. Declarer took the heart in dummy and played a club to the jack. He hoped that East, despite his pass of one spade, might have the queen, in which case the jack would force the ace.

But West took the queen and continued with the ace and another club, which South ruffed. Declarer then drew two rounds of trumps, followed by a low diamond to the ten, which won. Pursuing his search for additional information, South ruffed a club.

When West followed suit, South had all the knowledge he needed to make the hand. He played a low diamond to the ace, catching the king, and thus made the contract. Had he led the queen instead, in order to repeat the previously successful finesse, he would have lost and gone down one.

It is interesting to follow South's thinking in the matter, because it gave him proof positive that West had started with the doubleton king of diamonds. Declarer reasoned that if West had held:

♠ A K 10 x ♥ x x ♦ K x x ♣ A Q 10 9

he would have opened the bidding with a club, not a spade. This would have been the proper opening bid with such a hand.

Since West had opened with a spade, it followed that he had five spades, and hence that he could have only two diamonds.

This conclusion turned out to be eminently correct. It simply goes to show the power of positive thinking.

THERE'S fun to be had in suburban areas

While we still are concentrating on all the rainy weather of late, a suburban family tells us they will be leaving shortly for the sunny state of Hawaii.

Sounds delightful, wouldn't you say? But there is more good news around and about, which will be fun to hear about.

So, with hopes that the newspaper arrived unsoaked this morning, may we invite you to browse through the most recent occurrences in and around Lincoln.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Leaving on Monday for Los Angeles, Calif., was Jack Pesek who will take off from there for a three week tour of Australia, Japan and various islands located near the two countries. His purpose in going is none other than his pet sport, boxing, which he plans to teach any interested boxing fan in those areas. Upon completion of his three week-work tour, Mr. Pesek will fly to Honolulu, Hawaii, where his wife will join him for a two-week vacation. The couple will not return until early in May when even Nebraska will have flowers abloom—although they may not match the orchid, famously known to grow in Hawaii.

FIENE HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Krivosha recently paid courtesy to Mr. Krivosha's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Krivosha on their 35th wedding anniversary. Following a dinner, attended by 30 invited friends and relatives of the honored couple the evening was spent informally.

The Blue Bird group under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Moss, had a party last week at the home of Mrs. Donavon Luedke. The 12 members spent the afternoon playing games, singing their favorite songs and eating the lunch prepared by the hostesses, Mrs. Luedke and Mrs. George Sackett shared hostess duties and were no doubt assisted by their daughters, Sandy Luedke and Diane Sackett, who are both members of the group.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Alexander and their young son, Billy, visited at the home of Mr. Alexander's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Alexander last week. The young family from Grand Island were en route to St. Louis and decided they would stop and make the brief visit before continuing on their way. It was well worth it since the traveling threesome was treated to chicken dinners, compliments of the Floyd Alexanders.

Regardless of how thick the clouds may be or how much rain falls, we are certain nothing could stop the Ray Yost family from halting or even slowing up the activity around their home.

Last weekend it was off to Kearney and the men's bowling tournament for Mr. and Mrs. Yost. Mr. Yost, representing the Lincoln's Elks League, displayed his skills Saturday evening and Sunday.

A MUSICAL FIRST

The members of the Nebraska Unicameral Ladies Club were privileged to hear a musical "first" Monday when they met for luncheon at the Governor's Mansion as the guests of Mrs. Frank Morrison.

A highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of "An Easter Prayer," a cantata written by Mrs. F. M. Gorgen of Central City. Although Mrs. Gorgen has had no musical training and is unable to write music, she is fortunate to have friends who can—and did. To get the cantata on paper, Mrs. Gorgen picked up the phone in her farm home and telephoned her friends who wrote the music as Mrs. Gorgen played and hummed.

Mrs. Gorgen's Central City friends, who sang the cantata, are Mrs. E. L. Ferris, Mrs. L. W. Kroger and Mrs. Gary Brandes—and Mrs. J. L. Byers, who narrated the "Prayer."

From the left are Mrs. Morrison; Mrs. Ross Rassmussen of Hooper and Mrs. Rick Budd, Nebraska City, wives of Nebraska state senators; Mrs. Ferris and Mrs. Byers of Central City; Mrs. Morrison's mother, Mrs. John Hepp of Greeley; Mrs. Gorgen, Mrs. Kroger and Mrs. Brandes, Central City.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old working girl who is in love with Gary, a junior in college. We have known each other for four years, and have been dating regularly for two years. Before Gary went away to college he was just like any other guy, but what college has done to him is terrible. It seems that every time I go out with him he tries to get me to go all the way. I keep telling him no, but I don't see how I can hold out much longer. I love him and he loves me. I don't want to date anyone else. All I want is for Gary to respect me. Please tell me how to keep him without giving in. If you use my letter in your column, please don't use his real name.

GARY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: If it's respect you want, keep right on saying no. Only louder! "Giving in" would provide Gary with the best reason in the world to drop you. If he is the man for you, there will be plenty of time for such intimacies after you are married, without the guilt, fear and shame that accompany pre-martial relations. And if he is not the man for you, you'll be glad you held out.

Opening lead — king of spades.

Declarer starts the play of most hands with only a limited knowledge of how the opponents' cards are divided. But as the play progresses, he learns more and more about the makeup of the unseen hands, and in some cases he can perform really marvelous deeds as a result of the conclusions he is able to draw.

For example, take a hand like this one where South performed nobly. West led the king of spades and then shifted to a trump. Declarer took the heart in dummy and played a club to the jack. He hoped that East, despite his pass of one spade, might have the queen, in which case the jack would force the ace.

But West took the queen and continued with the ace and another club, which South ruffed. Declarer then drew two rounds of trumps, followed by a low diamond to the ten, which won. Pursuing his search for additional information, South ruffed a club.

When West followed suit, South had all the knowledge he needed to make the hand. He played a low diamond to the ace, catching the king, and thus made the contract. Had he led the queen instead, in order to repeat the previously successful finesse, he would have lost and gone down one.

It is interesting to follow South's thinking in the matter, because it gave him proof positive that West had started with the doubleton king of diamonds. Declarer reasoned that if West had held:

♠ A K 10 x ♥ x x ♦ K x x ♣ A Q 10 9

he would have opened the bidding with a club, not a spade. This would have been the proper opening bid with such a hand.

Since West had opened with a spade, it followed that he had five spades, and hence that he could have only two diamonds.

This conclusion turned out to be eminently correct. It simply goes to show the power of positive thinking.

No Nebraskans, But . . .

The roster of the Boston Red Sox, appearing in an exhibition game against the Chicago Cubs Saturday at Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium, doesn't carry a single Nebraskan.

But three players wearing the Red Sox uniform will be familiar to Lincoln baseball fans who sat at Sherman Field during the professional baseball era in the Capital City.

John Lamabe, who could see some mound duty in the Saturday exhibition game, hurled for the Lincoln Chiefs in the Western League when the Chiefs, under manager Larry Shepard, won the league pennant in 1957.

Lamabe, nicknamed Tomato by his Bosox teammates, won 13 and lost seven for the Chiefs that year with a 3.18 earned run average. He went to the Red Sox along with Dick Stuart from the Pirates after the 1962 season.

Lincoln fans who were watching Western League games when the league was in its post-war prime will also remember a scrambling third baseman who wore a Sioux City Soos uniform in 1950.

The hustling third baseman, Billy Gardner, never kept his uniform clean after the first couple of innings as he dived for every ball to his side of second base.

Gardner is now a coach with the Red Sox.

Eddie Bressoud is another former Western Leaguer with the Red Sox. Bressoud followed Gardner to Sioux City and played shortstop for the Soos against the Lincoln club in 1951 and 1952.

Fans who watched Bressoud in those days when he hit .230 and .255 with only five home runs each of those seasons could hardly have imagined the skinny shortstop being a major leaguer let alone an all-star.

But Bressoud is one of those players who has hit better in the majors than he ever did in the minor leagues. His best home run output in the minors was 19 at Minneapolis in 1955, the only season in which he hit more than nine as a minor leaguer.

But in three seasons with the Red Sox, Bressoud has hit 14, 20 and 15 home runs with batting averages of .277, .260 and .293. His .293 mark last season led the Red Sox and earned him a berth on the American League all-star team.

Tickets for Saturday's exhibition game are still available at the Omaha Civic Auditorium, 18th and Capitol, in Omaha.

Snared From Kansas

In landing Sam Buda, Creighton Prep's three-sport athlete, Nebraska not only completed a clean sweep of their in-state choices, but snared a prize plum from the University of Kansas.

Buda apparently was debating between the Cornhuskers and Jayhawks when Husker coach Bob Devaney got his name on the dotted line Saturday.

When a rumor had started earlier in the year that Sam had signed a letter-of-intent to Nebraska, his father, Dr. Sam Buda Sr., dispatched a letter to Earl Morey, sports editor of the Lawrence, Kan., Journal-World.

"This rumor has been going around for some time," Dr. Buda wrote Morey. "My nephew Joe Buda, who is Sandy's brother (Sandy is at KU), signed a letter of intent to NU.

"My boy hasn't decided yet . . . because he has been busy with basketball and then comes the track season. He is active in that sport, also.

"Kansas University is still in the running as to his choice of school. All the coaching staff have been very nice and they do a good job of recruiting."

This time it's no rumor and the Huskers' genial Irishman has scored another recruiting success.

Gruenemeier To York

Gary Gruenemeier, the former Lincoln City golf champion who turned pro as an assistant at Pioneers two years ago then served as pro at Oakland last summer. has moved to York.

Gruenemeier will handle the pro duties at the York Country Club, taking over from Lew Sheary who is now assistant to Jerry Dugan at Omaha's Miracle Hills.

Dave Oliphant, who served as an aide to John Young at Holmes Park last summer and who was set to handle similar duties at Pioneers this summer, has taken a golf job in Denver.

HURLERS DOMINATE ACTION

Chisox Blank Phillies, 2-0

. . . BRAVES WIN, 1-0

By Associated Press

Pitching dominated the action Monday as baseball moved into its final week of exhibition play.

The top performance was turned in by two Chicago White sox pitchers—veteran John Buzhardt and a rookie added to the roster only two days ago, Bob Locker. The combined to blank the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0, permitting just one single between them.

Wes Covington singled in the fourth for the only hit off Buzhardt in six innings. Locker, who has allowed just one earned run in 17 innings this spring, finished up with three perfect frames.

Gene Oliver's bases loaded single in the 12th inning broke up the tightest pitching duel of the spring and gave them Milwaukee Braves a 1-0 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Bob Sadowski and Dan Osinski shared the seven-hitter for the Braves while Claude Osteen and Jim Brewer worked for the Dodgers.

Bob Gibson, who throttled the Yankees in last year's World Series, worked six innings against New York and was tagged with St. Louis 3-2 loss when Phil Linz reached him for a three-run homer. Linz also homered off Gibson in the ninth inning of the final game last October.

Rookie Tom Parsons and veteran Larry Bearnarth made strong bids for regular jobs with the Mets, hurling New York to an 8-1 victory over Minnesota.

Parsons allowed the Twins' only run in the six innings he worked and Bearnarth, trying to come back after arm trouble last season, finished up with three perfect innings, after walking the first man he faced.

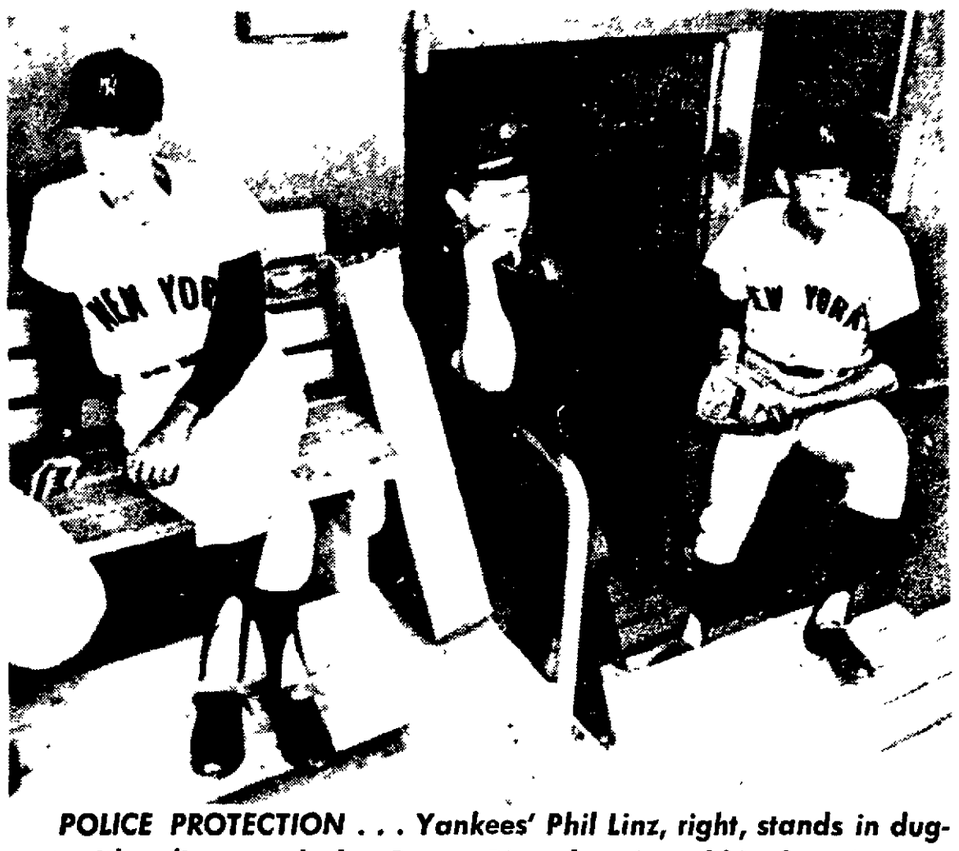
Detroit's Joe Sparma held Houston to two hits for the first seven innings, but the Astros jumped on reliever Bruce Brubaker for three runs in the eighth and a 4-3 victory over the Tigers. Rookie Chuck Harrison's two-run double was the key hit for the Astros.

Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon each cracked two-run homers off Jim Maloney as Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati 7-3.

Don Lock's sixth homer of the spring, a three-run poke, started Washington to a 6-4 victory over Baltimore. Brooks Robinson homered for the Orioles and Ken McMullen had three hits for the Senators.

Ernie Banks belted a two-run homer for the Chicago Cubs and Willie Mays had a two-run shot for San Francisco but it was a bouncing, pinch single by Jimmy Stewart that drove in the winning runs in the Cubs' 7-6 victory over the Giants.

Rudy May and Ron Piche combined for a six-hitter as the Los Angeles Angels' beat Cleveland 4-1.



POLICE PROTECTION . . . Yankees' Phil Linz, right, stands in dugout with police guard after Puerto Rican fans jeered him for criticizing food in the country. Manager Johnny Keane is at left.

—NO RELIEF IN SIGHT—

Weather Forces More Events To Be Postponed

Postponements continued to pile up Monday on the Lincoln sports scene and little relief was in sight for the rest of the week.

With the weather bureau forecasting more rain later in the week, Nebraska baseball coach Tony Sharpe observed that his club would have to keep one eye out for the sun in hopes of seeing the elusive object in the next day or two.

The Cornhusker's scheduled game Tuesday against Morningside was canceled. The two teams may try to get together Wednesday or Thursday, Sharpe said.

"Morningside told us if we got up some morning and the sun was shining, we could call them and they'd be right down," the NU baseball caoch pointed out.

The Huskers are slated to open the Big Eight campaign with a doubleheader Friday and a single game Saturday against defending league champion Missouri, but rain is forecast for Thursday and Friday, thus jeopardizing that schedule.

"I'll have to let Missouri know by Thursday," Sharpe noted. Meanwhile the tarpaulin remained on the NU infield and the Husker diamond corps continued to play "pepper" games in Nebraska fieldhouse.

Monday's rains also forced Husker football coach Bob Devaney to set back the opening of spring drills to Wednesday. Monday's postponement was the third for the NU gridders who were scheduled to begin their 20 days of spring workouts Friday.

Nebraska Wesleyan postponed indefinitely baseball games scheduled for Tuesday at Creighton and for Wednesday against Omaha at Sherman Field.

The Plainsemn's track opener with South Dakota, slated for Tuesday at O.N. Magee Stadium, has been moved back to 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Tuesday's golf meeting between Lincoln High and Pius X set for Pioneers has been postponed indefinitely and the first section of the Midland Relays has been postponed from Tuesday to Thursday with the second section still scheduled for Friday at Fremont.

The Nebraska City invitational Track Meet, with Pius X competing from the Capital City, is still scheduled Tuesday along with horse racing at Fonner Park in Grand Island.

Ageless Sammy Snead Unafraid Of Hotshots

. . . ONLY FEARS BALKY PUTTER

Augusta, Ga. (AP) — Ageless Sam Snead doesn't fear hotshots Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus—only his balky putter — in his bid for a fourth Masters golf championship here this week.

"Palmer and Nicklaus don't hit the ball much farther than a lot of other fellows," the 52-year-old West Virginian said Monday after a practice round over the Augusta National Course.

"No matter how far they bang it," Snead said, "they've still got to get it in the hole, and this tournament, like all of them, will be won on the greens.

"If I can putt half lick, I think I've got a good chance of winning."

Snead, winner here in 1949, 1952 and 1954, arrived with a new driver—a 14-ounce war club — that he said seemed to weigh eight pounds, and a ton of fresh confidence gained in his astonishing victory Sunday in the Greater Greensboro Open.

The flawless swinger from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., shot consecutive rounds of 68-69-68-68 for a 273 and breezed home with five shots to spare.

It was his eighth Greensboro title, first won 27 years ago, and at 52-a month away from his 53rd birthday—he became the oldest man ever to win an official PGA tour event.

Age doesn't bother the Slammer — he's as fit and strong as a youth of 20—but he suffers from golfer's nerves, or putters yips as he describes them.

"I putt pretty good for a while and then blow some," he said. "If I could sink a few and get off to a good start, I might go all the way.

"I should have won this thing six or seven times."

The last time was two years ago. He was leading until he three-putted the 16th on the final round, missing an 18-incher, and let the championship 90 to Nicklaus.

Nicklaus, 25, who has won all major American crowns, is the pre-tournament favorite at 4-1 in the event starting Thursday.

Palmer, defending champion and four-time winner, is 6-1, followed by Tony Lima, Doug Sanders, Gary Player and Bruce Devlin bracketed at 8-1.

Nicklaus skipped the Greenesboro tournament to practice here and had consecutive rounds of 68-69-68-68-70 over the 6,980-yard par 72 Augusta layout.

Palmer checked in, looking tanned and fit, but showing concern over his lack of form. He hasn't won a tournament all year, failed to make the cut in one, and finished 24th in another.

"The same old story," said golf's millionaire capitalist. "I can't get those putts down."

Ben Hogan, 52, like Snead a master of the past, wheezed with a bad cold. U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi and Gary Player of South Africa, the only foreigner to win here, both fretted with ailing right hands. Venturi has a circulatory ailment and Player a bruised muscle.

The long, tough course carried extra yardage after three weeks of almost solid rain.

"Some of these greens you used to reach with a drive and a wedge now take a drive and a four or five iron," said Claude Harmon, former champion from Mamoroneck, N.Y. "And nobody's reaching those par fives in two. It's a slugger's course."

NE Golfers In State Title Picture

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln's high school golf teams might find it difficult to improve on their 1-2-3-11 finish in the state tourney last season, but they figure to be up near the top again this year.

A Capital City team has won the state meet in two of the last three seasons, Southeast winning in 1962 and Lincoln High last year. Now it appears that Northeast is ready to move to the top.

"If there is a favorite at this time it has to be us," says coach Jack Mueller, noting that the Rockets have their three top performers returning from last year's team which shared the runnerup spot with Southeast.

The veterans in the Northeast camp are seniors Paul Moeller, Dean Knight and Tim Nelson. Bruce Christensen, a junior, is a fourth letterman.

Moeller was just a stroke back of medalist Charlie Berner of Lincoln High in last year's state tourney.

Joining the veterans on the Northeast roster are sophomores Gary Goldsberry, Frosty Critchfield, Roger Holmes, Gordon Jones, Rex Mercer and Mick Hadley.

Lincoln High's state championship team was riddled by graduation and coach Dick Beechner has only one letterman, senior Sam Beechner, returning.

The Links are looking for help from the likes of sophomores Arvid Kaulins and Lance Gloe, junior transfer Steve Gregory and senior Dan Piller as they defend their city and state titles.

Southeast is also in a rebuilding campaign, but the Knights, who haven't finished worse than second in the state in the last three years, figure to be among the better teams.

Coach Paul Austin has only one letterman, senior Kim Tyler, but has four other squad members and some promising sophomores on hand.

Seniors Walt Radcliffe and Charley Davies and juniors Brian Keeley and G. E. Breed were squad members a year ago.

Scott Brunzell, Bart Dennis and Paul Thomas are sophomores who have had a lot of competitive experience.

There are three lettermen in the Pius X fold and the Thunderbolts are hoping for improvement on last year's 11th place finish in the state meet.

Father Valery Durr, who handles the coaching chores, has veterans in seniors Dick Dosek and Dan Gatto and junior Marg Mark Gorges.

Mike Ley, John Hadwig, Mike Fuller and Denny Aamdal are bidding for berths on the traveling squad.

The schedules:

K-State Has Spring Game

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)—Four quarterbacks put up 61 passes in Kansas State's annual spring training football game with 24 complete for 293 yards and only three intrecepted.

"It was a real fine scrimmage because of the lack of fundamental errors," commented coach Doug Weaver after the Purple squad beat the Whites 17-0 Saturday. A slim crowd watched in sunny 58-degrees weather.

"We always throw the ball a lot in the spring, but as the months roll along, we seem to get more conservation," Weaver said. "But next season we'll pass more.

K-State hopes to finish spring practice this week, with a scrimmage Saturday.

Medal Play For Ladies' Golf Tourney

The Lincoln City Women's Golf Association has decided to go one more year with the medal play format for the Ladies City Golf Tournament this summer.

The tourney, slated for Aug. 3-6, will open at the Lincoln Country Club. The ladies will then play Hillcrest Country Club, Pioneers and Hillcrest the next three days.

Flights will be set up after 36 holes for the final two days with all flights playing 72 holes.

Dorothy Schwartzkopf is defending champion.

Koufax Responds Favorably To Treatment For Arthritis

. . . WILL REJOIN DODGERS

Dodger Vice President Red Patterson issued this statement:

"Sandy Koufax will arrive back in Dodgertown late tomorrow evening. The swelling of his left elbow has been sufficiently reduced for him to return to the club. He will continue medication treatments under directions to him by Dr. Robert Kerlan.

"Sandy will be permitted to set his own pace on conditioning himself and will not be asked to pitch until he says he's ready to do so, and only as often as he says he's ready."

Patterson said Kerlan, the Dodgers' team physician, would offer no additional statement immediately. But for himself, Patterson added:

"We're very happy he's coming back. We feel that if the swelling stays down with treatment, in a week or so he may be able to pitch."

Koufax, whose elbow became stiff and swollen Thursday at the training camp, returned to Los Angeles Friday and began treatment for the rusty joint.

Few Panhandle Sportsmen Shot Hen Pheasants

Results of a hunter mail questionnaire survey on the hen pheasant season in the panhandle show about 20 per cent of the local hunters took part in the season, the Game Commission reports.

One question on the survey asked for the reaction of the landowner. This showed 48.1 per cent favored the hunt, 26.6 per cent opposed it, and 20.2 per cent were neither for nor against the hen season. The remainder indicated mixed reactions.

Boston Defense Poses Big Problem For 76ers

Boston (AP)—The Philadelphia 76ers have a pressing problem in their National Basketball Association playoffs—the Boston defense. And the Celtics promise to make their renowned weapon tougher to crack.

Boston takes a 1-0 lead into the second game of the Eastern Division series Tuesday night in Philadelphia. It used the full court press almost the entire game in defeating the 76ers 108-98 Sunday.

"Their defense was fine," conceded 76er Coach Dolph Schayes. "They forced us into errors in the first half."

"We have to work on it, because they made us look ridiculous with that press," said Wilt Chamberlain who got a game-high 33 points but was fought to a standstill off the backboards by Boston's Mr. Defense, Bill Russell.

"We did a good job but we have played better defense than this," said Celtics Coach Red Auerbach after ordering a Monday practice.

Defense, a speciality of Auerbach, has become almost automatic through nine years of working with Russell, said Tommy Heinsohn.

Morrison Backs New Pro Circuit

Gov. Frank Morrison Monday threw his support behind a proposal to revive the old Nebraska State Baseball League.

In letters to the presidents of the American and National Leagues and the 20 major league club owners, Morrison said Nebraskans "are most anxious" to have another minor league in the state.

He noted that Nebraska "strongly supported" the old league and he said "its loss is still felt in our communities."

Representatives of four Nebraska cities were screened Sunday in North Platte for interest in revival of the league which operated from 1956 to 1960.

Adding luster to the already "big-game" atmosphere of the colorful rivalry with the Missouri Tigers, will be the frosh game between the Husker youngsters and the Mizzou freshmen on Friday, Oct. 29 at Columbia. The Husker-Tiger varsity clash is set for Oct. 30.

$300 Fine Imposed On Versalles

. . . FOR LASHING BACK AT MELE

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—Zoilo Versalles, Cuban-born shortstop of the Minnesota Twins, lashed back at Manager Sam Mele when he was benched Monday and it cost him a $300 fine. It may also have cost him the friendship of Coach Billy Martin.

Mele thought that Versalles hadn't made an all-out effort to grab a bounder hit near him by the New York Mets' Jim Hickman in the third inning of their exhibition game Monday. The hit brought in two runs and gave the Mets the lead.

When Versalles returned to the dugout, Mele told him:

"You're out of the game, sit on the bench."

"I sit on the bench for Martin, not for you," retorted Versalles, obviously referring to gossip that Martin might succeed Mele as the Twins manager.

"That will cost you $100," said Mele.

"Make it $200," Zoilo snapped.

"All right, it's $200," said Mele.

"Why not $300?"

"That's what it is," Mele replied firmly.

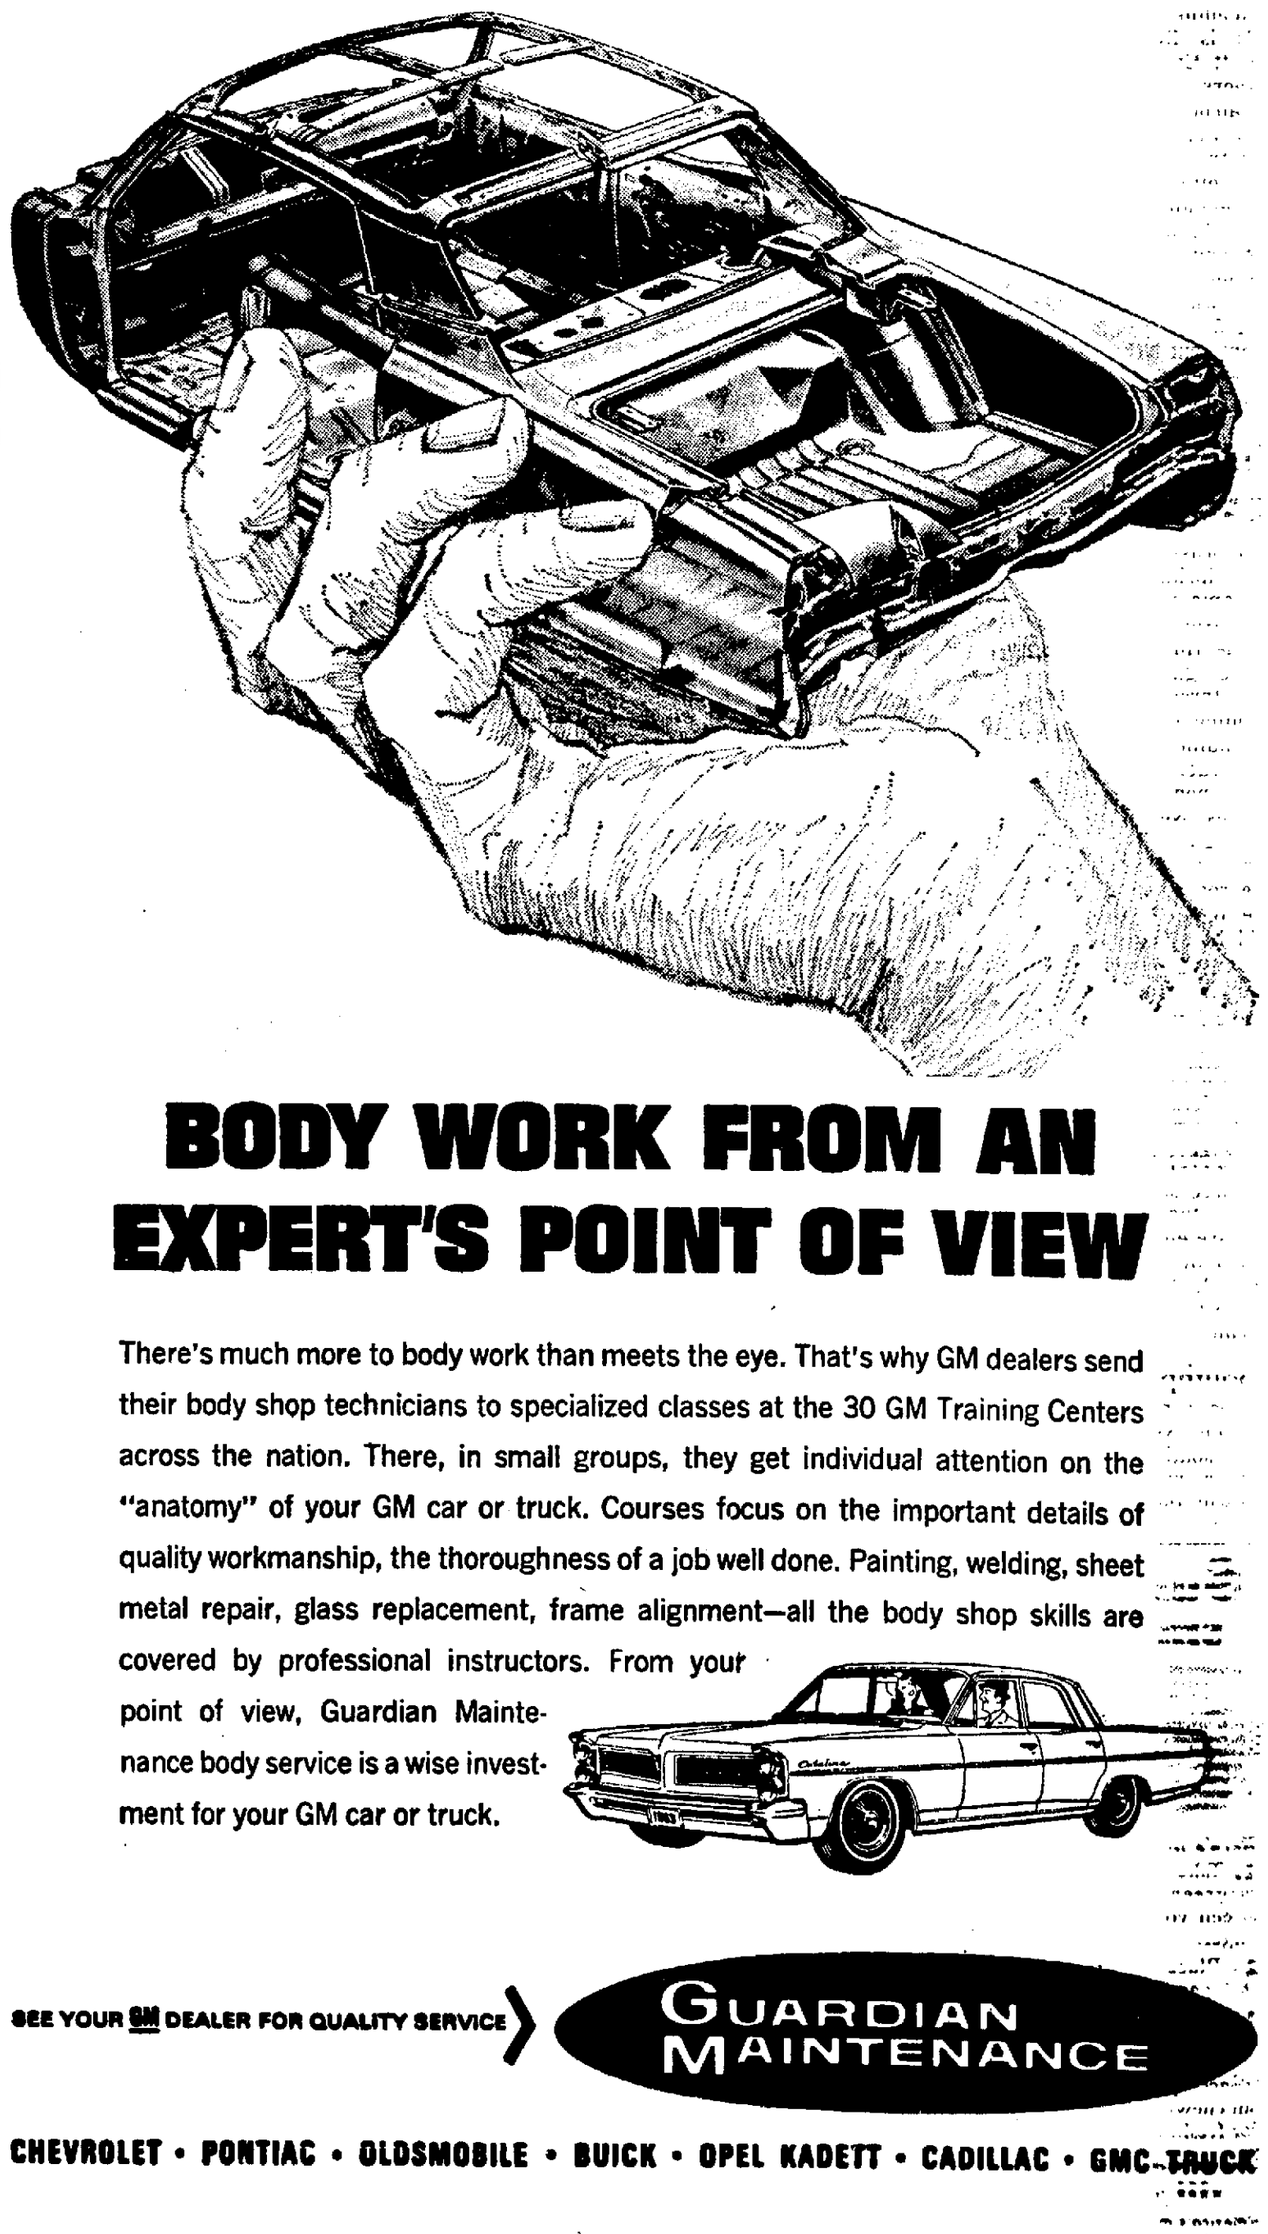
TAUGHT AT 30 GM TRAINING CENTERS...



BODY WORK FROM AN EXPERT'S POINT OF VIEW

There's much more to body work than meets the eye. That's why GM dealers send their body shop technicians to specialized classes at the 30 GM Training Centers across the nation. There, in small groups, they get individual attention on the "anatomy" of your GM car or truck. Courses focus on the important details of quality workmanship, the thoroughness of a job well done. Painting, welding, sheet metal repair, glass replacement, frame alignment—all the body shop skills are covered by professional instructors. No Nebraskans, But . . .

The roster of the Boston Red Sox, appearing in an exhibition game against the Chicago Cubs Saturday at Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium, doesn't carry a single Nebraskan.

But three players wearing the Red Sox uniform will be familiar to Lincoln baseball fans who sat at Sherman Field during the professional baseball era in the Capital City.

John Lamabe, who could see some mound duty in the Saturday exhibition game, hurled for the Lincoln Chiefs in the Western League when the Chiefs, under manager Larry Shepard, won the league pennant in 1957.

Lamabe, nicknamed Tomato by his Bosox teammates, won 13 and lost seven for the Chiefs that year with a 3.18 earned run average. He went to the Red Sox along with Dick Stuart from the Pirates after the 1962 season.

Lincoln fans who were watching Western League games when the league was in its post-war prime will also remember a scrambling third baseman who wore a Sioux City Soos uniform in 1950.

The hustling third baseman, Billy Gardner, never kept his uniform clean after the first couple of innings as he dived for every ball to his side of second base.

Gardner is now a coach with the Red Sox.

Eddie Bressoud is another former Western Leaguer with the Red Sox. Bressoud followed Gardner to Sioux City and played shortstop for the Soos against the Lincoln club in 1951 and 1952.

Fans who watched Bressoud in those days when he hit .230 and .255 with only five home runs each of those seasons could hardly have imagined the skinny shortstop being a major leaguer let alone an all-star.

But Bressoud is one of those players who has hit better in the majors than he ever did in the minor leagues. His best home run output in the minors was 19 at Minneapolis in 1955, the only season in which he hit more than nine as a minor leaguer.

But in three seasons with the Red Sox, Bressoud has hit 14, 20 and 15 home runs with batting averages of .277, .260 and .293. His .293 mark last season led the Red Sox and earned him a berth on the American League all-star team.

Tickets for Saturday's exhibition game are still available at the Omaha Civic Auditorium, 18th and Capitol, in Omaha.

Snared From Kansas

In landing Sam Buda, Creighton Prep's three-sport athlete, Nebraska not only completed a clean sweep of their in-state choices, but snared a prize plum from the University of Kansas.

Buda apparently was debating between the Cornhuskers and Jayhawks when Husker coach Bob Devaney got his name on the dotted line Saturday.

When a rumor had started earlier in the year that Sam had signed a letter-of-intent to Nebraska, his father, Dr. Sam Buda Sr., dispatched a letter to Earl Morey, sports editor of the Lawrence, Kan., Journal-World.

"This rumor has been going around for some time," Dr. Buda wrote Morey. "My nephew Joe Buda, who is Sandy's brother (Sandy is at KU), signed a letter of intent to NU.

"My boy hasn't decided yet . . . because he has been busy with basketball and then comes the track season. He is active in that sport, also.

"Kansas University is still in the running as to his choice of school. All the coaching staff have been very nice and they do a good job of recruiting."

This time it's no rumor and the Huskers' genial Irishman has scored another recruiting success.

Gruenemeier To York

Gary Gruenemeier, the former Lincoln City golf champion who turned pro as an assistant at Pioneers two years ago then served as pro at Oakland last summer. has moved to York.

Gruenemeier will handle the pro duties at the York Country Club, taking over from Lew Sheary who is now assistant to Jerry Dugan at Omaha's Miracle Hills.

Dave Oliphant, who served as an aide to John Young at Holmes Park last summer and who was set to handle similar duties at Pioneers this summer, has taken a golf job in Denver.

K-State Has Spring Game

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)—Four quarterbacks put up 61 passes in Kansas State's annual spring training football game with 24 complete for 293 yards and only three intrecepted.

"It was a real fine scrimmage because of the lack of fundamental errors," commented coach Doug Weaver after the Purple squad beat the Whites 17-0 Saturday. A slim crowd watched in sunny 58-degrees weather.

"We always throw the ball a lot in the spring, but as the months roll along, we seem to get more conservation," Weaver said. "But next season we'll pass more.

K-State hopes to finish spring practice this week, with a scrimmage Saturday.

HURLERS DOMINATE ACTION

Chisox Blank Phillies, 2-0

. . . BRAVES WIN, 1-0

By Associated Press

Pitching dominated the action Monday as baseball moved into its final week of exhibition play.

The top performance was turned in by two Chicago White sox pitchers—veteran John Buzhardt and a rookie added to the roster only two days ago, Bob Locker. The combined to blank the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0, permitting just one single between them.

Wes Covington singled in the fourth for the only hit off Buzhardt in six innings. Locker, who has allowed just one earned run in 17 innings this spring, finished up with three perfect frames.

Gene Oliver's bases loaded single in the 12th inning broke up the tightest pitching duel of the spring and gave them Milwaukee Braves a 1-0 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Bob Sadowski and Dan Osinski shared the seven-hitter for the Braves while Claude Osteen and Jim Brewer worked for the Dodgers.

Bob Gibson, who throttled the Yankees in last year's World Series, worked six innings against New York and was tagged with St. Louis 3-2 loss when Phil Linz reached him for a three-run homer. Linz also homered off Gibson in the ninth inning of the final game last October.

Rookie Tom Parsons and veteran Larry Bearnarth made strong bids for regular jobs with the Mets, hurling New York to an 8-1 victory over Minnesota.

Parsons allowed the Twins' only run in the six innings he worked and Bearnarth, trying to come back after arm trouble last season, finished up with three perfect innings, after walking the first man he faced.

Detroit's Joe Sparma held Houston to two hits for the first seven innings, but the Astros jumped on reliever Bruce Brubaker for three runs in the eighth and a 4-3 victory over the Tigers. Rookie Chuck Harrison's two-run double was the key hit for the Astros.

Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon each cracked two-run homers off Jim Maloney as Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati 7-3.

Don Lock's sixth homer of the spring, a three-run poke, started Washington to a 6-4 victory over Baltimore. Brooks Robinson homered for the Orioles and Ken McMullen had three hits for the Senators.

Ernie Banks belted a two-run homer for the Chicago Cubs and Willie Mays had a two-run shot for San Francisco but it was a bouncing, pinch single by Jimmy Stewart that drove in the winning runs in the Cubs' 7-6 victory over the Giants.

Rudy May and Ron Piche combined for a six-hitter as the Los Angeles Angels' beat Cleveland 4-1.

POLICE PROTECTION . . . Yankees' Phil Linz, right, stands in dugout with police guard after Puerto Rican fans jeered him for criticizing food in the country. Manager Johnny Keane is at left.

—NO RELIEF IN SIGHT—

Weather Forces More Events To Be Postponed

Postponements continued to pile up Monday on the Lincoln sports scene and little relief was in sight for the rest of the week.

With the weather bureau forecasting more rain later in the week, Nebraska baseball coach Tony Sharpe observed that his club would have to keep one eye out for the sun in hopes of seeing the elusive object in the next day or two.

The Cornhusker's scheduled game Tuesday against Morningside was canceled. The two teams may try to get together Wednesday or Thursday, Sharpe said.

"Morningside told us if we got up some morning and the sun was shining, we could call them and they'd be right down," the NU baseball caoch pointed out.

The Huskers are slated to open the Big Eight campaign with a doubleheader Friday and a single game Saturday against defending league champion Missouri, but rain is forecast for Thursday and Friday, thus jeopardizing that schedule.

"I'll have to let Missouri know by Thursday," Sharpe noted. Meanwhile the tarpaulin remained on the NU infield and the Husker diamond corps continued to play "pepper" games in Nebraska fieldhouse.

Monday's rains also forced Husker football coach Bob Devaney to set back the opening of spring drills to Wednesday. Monday's postponement was the third for the NU gridders who were scheduled to begin their 20 days of spring workouts Friday.

Nebraska Wesleyan postponed indefinitely. baseball games scheduled for Tuesday at Creighton and for Wednesday against Omaha at Sherman Field.

The Plainsemn's track opener with South Dakota, slated for Tuesday at O.N. Magee Stadium, has been moved back to 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Tuesday's golf meeting between Lincoln High and Pius X set for Pioneers has been postponed indefinitely and the first section of the Midland Relays has been postponed from Tuesday to Thursday with the second section still scheduled for Friday at Fremont.

The Nebraska City invitational Track Meet, with Pius X competing from the Capital City, is still scheduled Tuesday along with horse racing at Fonner Park in Grand Island.

Ageless Sammy Snead Unafraid Of Hotshots

. . . ONLY FEARS BALKY PUTTER

Augusta, Ga. (AP) — Ageless Sam Snead doesn't fear hotshots Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus—only his balky putter — in his bid for a fourth Masters golf championship here this week.

"Palmer and Nicklaus don't hit the ball much farther than a lot of other fellows," the 52-year-old West Virginian said Monday after a practice round over the Augusta National Course.

"No matter how far they bang it," Snead said, "they've still got to get it in the hole, and this tournament, like all of them, will be won on the greens.

"If I can putt half lick, I think I've got a good chance of winning."

Snead, winner here in 1949, 1952 and 1954, arrived with a new driver—a 14-ounce warclub — that he said seemed to weigh eight pounds, and a ton of fresh confidence gained in his astonishing victory Sunday in the Greater Greensboro Open.

The flawless swinger from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., shot consecutive rounds of 68-69-68-68 for a 273 and breezed home with five shots to spare.

It was his eighth Greensboro title, first won 27 years ago, and at 52-a month away from his 53rd birthday—he became the oldest man ever to win an official PGA tour event.

Age doesn't bother the Slammer — he's as fit and strong as a youth of 20—but he suffers from golfer's nerves, or putters yips as he describes them.

"I putt pretty good for a while and then blow some," he said. "If I could sink a few and get off to a good start, I might go all the way.

"I should have won this thing six or seven times."

The last time was two years ago. He was leading until he three-putted the 16th on the final round, missing an 18-incher, and let the championship 90 to Nicklaus.

Nicklaus, 25, who has won all major American crowns, is the pre-tournament favorite at 4-1 in the event starting Thursday.

Palmer, defending champion and four-time winner, is 6-1, followed by Tony Lima, Doug Sanders, Gary Player and Bruce Devlin bracketed at 8-1.

Nicklaus skipped the Greenesboro tournament to practice here and had consecutive rounds of 68-69-68-68-70 over the 6,980-yard par 72 Augusta layout.

Palmer checked in, looking tanned and fit, but showing concern over his lack of form. He hasn't won a tournament all year, failed to make the cut in one, and finished 24th in another.

"The same old story," said golf's millionaire capitalist. "I can't get those putts down."

Ben Hogan, 52, like Snead a master of the past, wheezed with a bad cold. U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi and Gary Player of South Africa, the only foreigner to win here, both fretted with ailing right hands. Venturi has a circulatory ailment and Player a bruised muscle.

The long, tough course carried extra yardage after three weeks of almost solid rain.

"Some of these greens you used to reach with a drive and a wedge now take a drive and a four or five iron," said Claude Harmon, former champion from Mamoroneck, N.Y. "And nobody's reaching those par fives in two. It's a slugger's course."

NE Golfers In State Title Picture

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln's high school golf teams might find it difficult to improve on their 1-2-3-11 finish in the state tourney last season, but they figure to be up near the top again this year.

A Capital City team has won the state meet in two of the last three seasons, Southeast winning in 1962 and Lincoln High last year. Now it appears that Northeast is ready to move to the top.

"If there is a favorite at this time it has to be us," says coach Jack Mueller, noting that the Rockets have their three top performers returning from last year's team which shared the runnerup spot with Southeast.

The veterans in the Northeast camp are seniors Paul Moeller, Dean Knight and Tim Nelson. Bruce Christensen, a junior, is a fourth letterman.

Moeller was just a stroke back of medalist Charlie Borner of Lincoln High in last year's state tourney.

Joining the veterans on the Northeast roster are sophomores Gary Goldsberry, Frosty Critchfield, Roger Holmes, Gordon Jones, Rex Mercer and Mick Hadley.

Lincoln High's state championship team was riddled by graduation and coach Dick Beechner has only one letterman, senior Sam Beechner, returning.

The Links are looking for help from the likes of sophomores Arvid Kaulins and Lance Gloe, junior transfer Steve Gregory and senior Dan Piller as they defend their city and state titles.

Southeast is also in a rebuilding campaign, but the Knights, who haven't finished worse than second in the state in the last three years, figure to be among the better teams.

Coach Paul Austin has only one letterman, senior Kim Tyler, but has four other squad members and some promising sophomores on hand.

Seniors Walt Radcliffe and Charley Davies and juniors Brian Keeley and G. E. Breed were squad members a year ago.

Scott Brunzell, Bart Dennis and Paul Thomas are sophomores who have had a lot of competitive experience.

There are three lettermen in the Pius X fold and the Thunderbolts are hoping for improvement on last year's 11th place finish in the state meet.

Father Valery Durr, who handles the coaching chores, has veterans in seniors Dick Dosek and Dan Gatto and junior Marg Mark Gorges.

Mike Ley, John Hadwig, Mike Fuller and Denny Aamdal are bidding for berths on the traveling squad.

Schoendienst Has Only One Worry—Win Again

(20th of series)

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—Red Schoendienst summed up his problems as freshman manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals in seven words:

"I have only one worry—win again."

Red grinned when he said it, but he knew it was no joking matter. The only way Schoendienst could top Johnny Keane's heroics of last year would be to win the pennant again and then sweep the World Series in four straight, instead of seven games.

Keane left Card owner Gussie Busch without a brewmaster when he quit the day after the Series and became manager of the New York Yankees. Busch quickly turned to Schoendienst to take over as manager.

"We'll play as hard as we know how," said Schoendienst. "I'll manage the way I played. The boys won't lay down.

"You have to have the good horses and you have to get it out of them. Not by beating or harping at them, but by good honest common sense. It is a privilege to be up here playing ball in the majors. There aren't many openings.

"And there aren't many openings for managers, either."

Schoendienst and the entire Cardinal organization insist the 1965 club is better than the squad that went into the 1964 season. The trade that brought Lou Brock from the Chicago Cubs in mid-season, the maturing of Tim McCarver and Mike Shannon, the added pitching of Bob Purkey and Tracy Stallard and the bench insurance of first baseman-outfielder Tito Francona are cited as reasons for the improvement.

A crippling injury to a Bill White, Ken Boyer, Dick Groat or McCarver could be deadly. But you can say the same about any of the six clubs that figure to be in the race.

"It is going to be tough again in this league," said Schoendienst. "Five or six will be in it up to the last two weeks. Then three or four will fight it out to the wire. I think the Mets will win more and also Houston and Chicago. Los Angeles has to be better. I know Milwaukee is a good club. Cincinnati is going to be tough and the Giants.

"The way I look at it the team that gets a break playing another when its better players are injured will win it."

White at first, Julian Javier at second, Groat at short and Boyer at third form an all-star infield for the Cards. Brock in left, Curt Flood in center and Shannon in right form a formidable outfield.

McCarver's broken finger threw the camp into a panic but Bob Uecker has filled in capably. The Cards hope to have McCarver back for the opener. At present he can hit but can't throw.

Francona, ex-Cleveland Indian, provides protection at first and in the outfield. Dal Maxvill, who filled in for the injured Javier in the Series; Jerry Buchek and possibly Phil Gagliano back up the regulars. Bob Skinner, Carl Warwick and Francona are the outfield reserves.

Bob Gibson, Curt Simmons and Purkey, acquired from Cincinnati in the trade for Roger Craig and Charlie James, will do most of the starting early in the year.

Ray Sadecki, slow to round into form after winning 20 last year, eventually will take his turn. Stallard, the ex-Met, will be used to start and relieve.

Barney Schultz and Ron Taylor are the bullpen bulwarks. Ray Washburn, a sore arm case in recent years, has looked both good and bad.

Three first year men will go home with the club—Steve Carlton, Dave Dowling and Nelson Briles. The Cards must keep all three or risk losing them on waivers. Carlton, a 20-year-old lefty has made a deep impression on Schoendienst.

If the Cards avoid injuries, they may very well win it all again. When you get off the deck and just slide in while the early leader goes into a 10-game tailspin, complacency should be no problem. The Cards still are hungry ball players.

Here's how to enjoy it most:

Koufax Responds Favorably To Treatment For Arthritis

. . . WILL REJOIN DODGERS

Los Angeles (AP)—Southpaw pitching ace Sandy Koufax has responded to treatment for traumatic arthritis of his priceless left elbow and will return to the Los Angeles Dodgers training base Tuesday night, a team spokesman announced Monday.

Dodger Vice President Red Patterson issued this statement:

"Sandy Koufax will arrive back in Dodgertown late tomorrow evening. The swelling of his left elbow has been sufficiently reduced for him to return to the club. He will continue medication treatments under directions to him by Dr. Robert Kerlan.

"Sandy will be permitted to set his own pace on conditioning himself and will not be asked to pitch until he says he's ready to do so, and only as often as he says he's ready."

Patterson said Kerlan, the Dodgers' team physician, would offer no additional statement immediately. But for himself, Patterson added:

"We're very happy he's coming back. We feel that if the swelling stays down with treatment, in a week or so he may be able to pitch."

Koufax, whose elbow became stiff and swollen Thursday at the training camp, returned to Los Angeles Friday and began treatment for the rusty joint.

One question on the survey asked for the reaction of the landowner. This showed 48.1 per cent favored the hunt, 26.6 per cent opposed it, and 20.2 per cent were neither for nor against the hen season. The remainder indicated mixed reactions.

Boston Defense Poses Big Problem For 76ers

Boston (AP)—The Philadelphia 76ers have a pressing problem in their National Basketball Association playoffs—the Boston defense. And the Celtics promise to make their renowned weapon tougher to crack.

Boston takes a 1-0 lead into the second game of the Eastern Division series Tuesday night in Philadelphia. It used the full court press almost the entire game in defeating the 76ers 108-98 Sunday.

"Their defense was fine," conceded 76er Coach Dolph Schayes. "They forced us into errors in the first half."

"We have to work on it, because they made us look ridiculous with that press," said Wilt Chamberlain who got a game-high 33 points but was fought to a standstill off the backboards by Boston's Mr. Defense, Bill Russell.

"We did a good job but we have played better defense than this," said Celtics Coach Red Auerbach after ordering a Monday practice.

Defense, a speciality of Auerbach, has become almost automatic through nine years of working with Russell, said Tommy Heinsohn.

Morrison Backs New Pro Circuit

Gov. Frank Morrison Monday threw his support behind a proposal to revive the old Nebraska State Baseball League.

He noted that Nebraska "strongly supported" the old league and he said "its loss is still felt in our communities."

Representatives of four Nebraska cities were screened Sunday in North Platte for interest in revival of the league which operated from 1956 to 1960.

$300 Fine Imposed On Versalles

. . . FOR LASHING BACK AT MELE

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—Zoilo Versalles, Cuban-born shortstop of the Minnesota Twins, lashed back at Manager Sam Mele when he was benched Monday and it cost him a $300 fine. It may also have cost him the friendship of Coach Billy Martin.

Mele thought that Versalles hadn't made an all-out effort to grab a bounder hit near him by the New York Mets' Jim Hickman in the third inning of their exhibition game Monday. The hit brought in two runs and gave the Mets the lead.

When Versalles returned to the dugout, Mele told him:

"You're out of the game, sit on the bench."

"I sit on the bench for Martin, not for you," retorted Versalles, obviously referring to gossip that Martin might succeed Mele as the Twins manager.

"That will cost you $100," said Mele.

"Make it $200," Zoilo snapped.

"All right, it's $200," said Mele.

"Why not $300?"

"That's what it is," Mele replied firmly.

Prices Are Mixed In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The stock market presented a mixed picture Monday after backing away from an early advance. Trading was moderate.

The list had a pretty fair gain by noon but then came news that President Lyndon Johnson planned to make a speech about Viet Nam. No time or place was set while the session was in progress on the New York Stock Exchange. This produced hesitation. Traders did precautionary selling and the market settled back.

Aside from this and a couple of other features, it was regarded as a dull session by analysts.

Volume was 4.95 million shares compared with 5.01 million Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended the day with a slight loss of .15 at 893.23. At noon, this average had shown a gain of 2.36.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks eased .3 to 333.5 with industrials off .1, rails up .3 and utilities off .4.

Of 1,382 issues traded, 575 rose and 530 fell. New highs for the year totaled 103 and new lows 34.

The market had some high quality leadership in General Motors, which made a new high of 103⅛ with a gain of 1⅝.

Of the 15 most active issues, 9 advanced, 4 declined and 2 were unchanged.

The widest gain on the list of volume leaders was Boeing, up 2½ at 65⅞ as eighth most active stock.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.77 million shares compared with 1.74 million Friday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds showed scant change.

Firmer Trend Continues In Grain Market

Chicago (AP) — Nearly all grain futures contracts continued their firmer trend Monday with moderate gains on the Board of Trade.

May wheat moved up about a cent for the second successive day and old crop soybeans added a cent or more while new crop months gained major fractions. Other grains were mostly firm.

The only loser was May corn which came under light pressure of liquidation at times but it finished only a minimum fraction down.

At the close, soybeans were 1⅛-1¼ cents a bushel higher, May $3.06¼-¼; wheat ⅜ to 1 cent higher, May $1.49½-⅝; corn ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, May $1.22⅝-¼; oats ⅛-¼ higher, May 70⅝-¾ cents; rye unchanged to ⅜ higher, May $1.19½.

Schoendienst Has Only One Worry—Win Again

(20th of series)

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—Red Schoendienst summed up his problems as freshman manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals in seven words:

"I have only one worry—win again."

Red grinned when he said it, but he knew it was no joking matter. The only way Schoendienst could top Johnny Keane's heroics of last year would be to win the pennant again and then sweep the World Series in four straight, instead of seven games.

Keane left Card owner Gussie Busch without a brewmaster when he quit the day after the Series and became manager of the New York Yankees. Busch quickly turned to Schoendienst to take over as manager.

"We'll play as hard as we know how," said Schoendienst. "I'll manage the way I played. The boys won't lay down.

"You have to have the good horses and you have to get it out of them. Not by beating or harping at them, but by good honest common sense. It is a privilege to be up here playing ball in the majors. There aren't many openings.

"And there aren't many openings for managers, either."

Schoendienst and the entire Cardinal organization insist the 1965 club is better than the squad that went into the 1964 season. The trade that brought Lou Brock from the Chicago Cubs in mid-season, the maturing of Tim McCarver and Mike Shannon, the added pitching of Bob Purkey and Tracy Stallard and the bench insurance of first baseman-outfielder Tito Francona are cited as reasons for the improvement.

A crippling injury to a Bill White, Ken Boyer, Dick Groat or McCarver could be deadly. But you can say the same about any of the six clubs that figure to be in the race.

"It is going to be tough again in this league," said Schoendienst. "Five or six will be in it up to the last two weeks. Then three or four will fight it out to the wire. I think the Mets will win more and also Houston and Chicago. Los Angeles has to be better. I know Milwaukee is a good club. Cincinnati is going to be tough and the Giants.

"The way I look at it the team that gets a break playing another when its better players are injured will win it."

White at first, Julian Javier at second, Groat at short and Boyer at third form an all-star infield for the Cards. Brock in left, Curt Flood in center and Shannon in right form a formidable outfield.

McCarver's broken finger threw the camp into a panic but Bob Uecker has filled in capably. The Cards hope to have McCarver back for the opener. At present he can hit but can't throw.

Francona, ex-Cleveland Indian, provides protection at first and in the outfield. Dal Maxvill, who filled in for the injured Javier in the Series; Jerry Buchek and possibly Phil Gagliano back up the regulars. Bob Skinner, Carl Warwick and Francona are the outfield reserves.

Bob Gibson, Curt Simmons and Purkey, acquired from Cincinnati in the trade for Roger Craig and Charlie James, will do most of the starting early in the year.

Ray Sadecki, slow to round into form after winning 20 last year, eventually will take his turn. Stallard, the ex-Met, will be used to start and relieve.

Barney Schultz and Ron Taylor are the bullpen bulwarks. Ray Washburn, a sore arm case in recent years, has looked both good and bad.

Three first year men will go home with the club—Steve Carlton, Dave Dowling and Nelson Briles. The Cards must keep all three or risk losing them on waivers. Carlton, a 20-year-old lefty has made a deep impression on Schoendienst.

If the Cards avoid injuries, they may very well win it all again. When you get off the deck and just slide in while the early leader goes into a 10-game tailspin, complacency should be no problem. The Cards still are hungry ball players.

Here's how to enjoy it most:

1. Take a small pinch of wintergreen flavored Skoal between your thumb and forefinger.
2. Place the Skoal between cheek and upper or lower gum.
3. Tuck it in comfortably with your tongue, and just leave it there. Skoal releases its rich tobacco pleasure slowly, without chewing. Every can is dated for freshness.

Camden Voter Marches Fail While 35 Register

Camden, Ala. (AP)—Negroes tried five times to march downtown Monday as part of a voter registration drive but were halted by police who bombarded one group with tear gas and smoke bombs when they refused to disperse.

Two groups of marchers stood on the sidewalk and sang and chanted after they were halted. Twelve marchers were taken into custody by police.

Mayor Reginald Albritton told the adult marchers they were free to walk to the registrar office—with police escort if desired—but could not stage a mass march.

35 Register

While the demonstrators went on, about 35 Negroes lined up without incident at the registrar office. At their request, some of the Negroes were accompanied by a policeman.

At Selma, about 200 Negroes stood in line at the Dallas County Courthouse to take voter tests or get on a list to take tests. There was no trouble. The Negroes went to the courthouse in small groups.

But repeated marches were attempted in Camden. Negro leaders said they wanted to register at the courthouse and not the old jail building where the registrar office was moved recently.

Chairman Al Wall of the Ailcox County Registrar Board reported that 46 Negroes were now registered. He said 42 of the last 56 who applied had qualified. Wilcox had no Negro voters until recent weeks although Negroes comprise 78% of the population.

Register In Jail

"We're not going to register in any old jail," said Mayor Johns, a field worker for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). He was taken into custody by police during a march.

The mayor said all applicants, white or Negro, were processed at the building once used as a jail. Albritton said he regretted the use of smoke and tear gas, but felt it was necessary.

About 80 demonstrators marched from a church and were halted by Albritton after two blocks. Johns was leading the march. When Albritton asked Johns if he was a Louisiana resident, the Negro man said he was.

Albritton directed two policemen to escort Johns from the group.

Then Johns left, but returned in minutes leading a second march by about 75, many of them teen-agers. They formed on the sidewalk opposite the first group.

The mayor had Johns taken into custody. He said it was preventive custody.

PICTURE OF DESOLATION

This little Greek girl reflects the grim desolation of the ruins of her home behind her. Her cheeks are wet with tears as she cried over her mother who died in the collapsed house in Kalyvia, a village near Megalopolis, hard hit by Monday's earthquake in Greece's central Peloponessus area.

More Study Of Medicare Details Urged

Washington (AP)—Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Monday legislation of such sweeping importance as the Medicare proposal should not be hurried through Congress but should be delayed until next year to permit people to study the details.

Date of enactment of a measure is not as important as the contents, he said.

The American people and Congress have not had time to study the impact of the recently available bill on cost and on its ramifications, Curtis said.

Without study, he continued, it cannot be definitely known how the measure will change the private enterprise economy.

Curtis contended the legislation does not properly define Medicare needs of the elderly nor properly meets the needs. The program, he declared, would not provide drugs for such persons outside of hospitals.

The government, Curtis said, is the "insurer" and outside carriers could be selected by the secretary of health, education and welfare who could oversee their work and their contracts with doctors.

LBJ To Talk Wednesday On SE Asia

Washington (AP) — President Johnson will speak on United States policy toward Southeast Asia Wednesday night at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy said he had no other details immediately. Radio and television networks will carry the address at 8 p.m. CST.

Earlier, Reedy had said Johnson might speak sometime this week on the general situation in South iVet Nam, along the general lines of remarks he made to the cabinet March 25.

Officials of the National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co. said the speech would be carried as it is given over their TV and radio networks. Mutual Broadcasting System also said its radio network would carry the address.

Mahoney Named To Board Of Unicam Council

The Legislature Monday elected Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha to the executive board of the Legislative Council to fill a vacancy created by recent passage of a bill increasing the size of the board by one member.

To provide the required geographical distribution, the new member needed to be chosen from the Douglas-Sarpy County area.

Mahoney received 29 votes to 15 for Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha and 3 for Sen. Pat Moulton of Omaha in a run-off.

On the first ballot, the vote was Mahoney 21, Pedersen 14, Moulton 5, Clifton Batchelder 3, Dale Payne 2, and Sam Klaver, George Syas and Richard Proud, 1 each.

Lease Of School Land No Secret—Sen. Nore

State Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa said Monday he has reported publicly, time and again, that he leases 160 acres of state school lands in Boone County and that this is no secret.

His comment referred to a Lincoln Journal account Saturday which said files of the Board of Educational Lands and Funds showed Nore to be leasing school land. The newspaper said the check was prompted by a 1949 attorney general's opinion which held that a legislator can be disqualified if he has an interest in a contract with the state and the contract is the subject matter of pending legislation. The opinion said a school land lease is a contract with the state. A pending bill, LB234, calls for the sale of school lands.

The news story said relatives of five other senators lease school lands.

Sen. Nore said he was asked last week by the secretary of the Board of Educational Lands and Funds "if I would care to transfer this lease to a relative.

"I told him that wasn't my way of doing business. My business is an open book to the public and if the attorney general directed so, I will do so, but I would not do it without everyone knowing that it was at the direction of the attorney general.

"To me, it seems rather silly to transfer this lease to a relative. Really, it accomplishes nothing.

"If anyone wants to know anything about my business, they do not need to search the files; all they need to do is to come and ask me and they will get the truth of the matter. The law as it stands looks to me like it encourages the covering up of nepotism in state government."

Nore said he would be in favor of a complete investigation of nepotism in state government "and exposing all secret partnerships or interests and state contractors."

Terry: 'Don't Cross Me Off'

"Don't cross Carpenter off."

That was Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's comment Monday on speculation that he might be a Republican candidate for governor next year.

Whether or not he's a candidate, Carpenter said he will be "very much interested" in next year's GOP nominee.

And if there should be a Carpenter candidacy, he said, "It'll be the opportunity for the people of this state to determine whether they want leadership or if they just want words and no action."

HE described most of those currently mentioned as possible GOP gubernatorial candidates as "retreads" who "haven't done anything when they had the opportunity."

"I want somebody who will do something and quit talking about these things," said Carpenter, "somebody who has some courage and knowledge, who if given the leadership will do what they can to lift Nebraska and push it forward in the area of action rather than a lot of words."

Amending City Milk Pact Act 'Could Help Dairy Farmers'

Washington (AP) — The Agriculture Department said Monday legislation to amend the act authorizing milk marketing agreements in the nation's metropolitan areas might provide a small amount of help to dairy farmers.

Clarence H. Girard of the department's Consumer and Marketing Service told a House agriculture subcommittee that the legislation, if enacted, could slightly increase incomes of dairy men and could reduce marketing of milk in some areas.

Two similar bills under consideration are sponsored by Reps. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., and Lynn E. Stalbaum, D-Wis. They are somewhat similar to a bill by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., passed by the Senate last year but not acted upon by the House.

Base-Excess Plans

The section of the milk marketing act sought to be amended provides the authority for the base-excess plans used in some federal milk marketing orders.

The purpose of the section was to eliminate violent seasonal fluctuations in the available milk supply and permit adjustments in payments to producers upon the basis of their production records during a representative period.

The Poage-Stalbaum bills would amend the base-excess authority to provide that the base-forming periods could be extended to more than one year in length and producers' bases could be adjusted to reflect sales in any one or more use classifications.

Girard said there are 76 federal milk orders now operating and about half of all milk deliveries in the nation was sold under these programs in 1964.

Otie M. Reed, executive director of the National Creameries Association, representing cooperative dairy sales associations in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota and Oregon, opposed the legislation.

It has been his group's position for many years, Reed said, that provisions of federal orders should not limit or in any way inhibit the movement of milk into fluid milk markets when such milk is high quality.

Prices Are Mixed In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The stock market presented a mixed picture Monday after backing away from an early advance. Trading was moderate.

The list had a pretty fair gain by noon but then came news that President Lyndon Johnson planned to make a speech about Viet Nam. No time or place was set while the session was in progress on the New York Stock Exchange. This produced hesitation. Traders did precautionary selling and the market settled back.

Aside from this and a couple of other features, it was regarded as a dull session by analysts.

Volume was 4.95 million shares compared with 5.01 million Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended the day with a slight loss of .15 at 893.23. At noon, this average had shown a gain of 2.36.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks eased .1 to 333.5 with industrials off .1, rails up .3 and utilities off .4.

Of 1,382 issues traded, 575 rose and 530 fell. New highs for the year totaled 103 and new lows 34.

The market had some high quality leadership in General Motors, which made a new high of 103⅛ with a gain of 1⅜.

Of the 15 most active issues, 9 advanced, 4 declined and 2 were unchanged.

The widest gain on the list of volume leaders was Boeing, up 2½ at 65⅞ as eighth most active stock.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.77 million shares compared with 1.74 million Friday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds showed scant change.

Firmer Trend Continues In Grain Market

Chicago (AP) — Nearly all grain futures contracts continued their firmer trend Monday with moderate gains on the Board of Trade.

May wheat moved up about a cent for the second successive day and old crop soybeans added a cent or more while new crop months gained major fractions. Other grains were mostly firm.

The only loser was May corn which came under light pressure of liquidation at times but it finished only a minimum fraction down.

At the close, soybeans were 1⅛-1¼ cents a bushel higher, May $3.06¼-⅛; wheat ⅜ to 1 cent higher, May $1.49½-⅝; corn ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, May $1.32⅜-½; oats ¼-½ higher, May 70⅝-¾ cents; rye unchanged to ⅜ higher, May $1.19½.

Camden Voter Marches Fail While 35 Register

Camden, Ala. (AP)—Negroes tried five times to march downtown Monday as part of a voter registration drive but were halted by police who bombarded one group with tear gas and smoke bombs when they refused to disperse.

Two groups of marchers stood on the sidewalk and sang and chanted after they were halted. Twelve marchers were taken into custody by police.

Mayor Reginald Albritton told the adult marchers they were free to walk to the registrar office—with police escort if desired—but could not stage a mass march.

35 Register

While the demonstrators went on, about 35 Negroes lined up without incident at the registrar office. At their request, some of the Negroes were accompanied by a policeman.

At Selma, about 200 Negroes stood in line at the Dallas County Courthouse to take voter tests or get on a list to take tests. There was no trouble. The Negroes went to the courthouse in small groups.

But repeated marches were attempted in Camden. Negro leaders said they wanted to register at the courthouse and not the old jail building where the registrar office was moved recently.

Chairman Al Wall of the Ailcox County Registrar Board reported that 46 Negroes were now registered. He said 42 of the last 56 who applied had qualified. Wilcox had no Negro voters until recent weeks although Negroes comprise 78% of the population.

Register In Jail

"We're not going to register in any old jail," said Mayor Johns, a field worker for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). He was taken into custody by police during a march.

The mayor said all applicants, white or Negro, were processed at the building once used as a jail. Albritton said he regretted the use of smoke and tear gas, but felt it was necessary.

About 80 demonstrators marched from a church and were halted by Albritton after two blocks. Johns was leading the march. When Albritton asked Johns if he was a Louisiana resident, the Negro man said he was.

Albritton directed two policemen to escort Johns from the group.

Then Johns left, but returned in minutes leading a second march by about 75, many of them teen-agers. They formed on the sidewalk opposite the first group.

The mayor had Johns taken into custody. He said it was preventive custody.

Spelling Meet

Omaha (AP)—Some 73 county champions from Nebraska and western Iowa will participate in the eighth annual spelling bee in Omaha April 24. The winner will receive a trip to Washington to compete in the national championship in June.

PICTURE OF DESOLATION

This little Greek girl reflects the grim desolation of the ruins of her home behind her. Her cheeks are wet with tears as she cried over her mother who died in the collapsed house in Kalyvia, a village near Megalopolis, hard hit by Monday's earthquake in Greece's central Peloponessus area.

More Study Of Medicare Details Urged

Washington (AP)—Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Monday legislation of such sweeping importance as the Medicare proposal should not be hurried through Congress but should be delayed until next year to permit people to study the details.

Date of enactment of a measure is not as important as the contents, he said.

The American people and Congress have not had time to study the impact of the recently available bill on cost and on its ramifications, Curtis said.

Without study, he continued, it cannot be definitely known how the measure will change the private enterprise economy.

Curtis contended the legislation does not properly define Medicare needs of the elderly nor properly meets the needs. The program, he declared, would not provide drugs for such persons outside of hospitals.

The government, Curtis said, is the "insurer" and outside carriers could be selected by the secretary of health, education and welfare who could oversee their work and their contracts with doctors.

LBJ To Talk Wednesday On SE Asia

Washington (AP) — President Johnson will speak on United States policy toward Southeast Asia Wednesday night at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy said he had no other details immediately. Radio and television networks will carry the address at 8 p.m. CST.

Earlier, Reedy had said Johnson might speak sometime this week on the general situation in South iVet Nam, along the general lines of remarks he made to the cabinet March 25.

Officials of the National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co. said the speech would be carried as it is given over their TV and radio networks. Mutual Broadcasting System also said its radio network would carry the address.

Mahoney Named To Board Of Unicam Council

The Legislature Monday elected Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha to the executive board of the Legislative Council to fill a vacancy created by recent passage of a bill increasing the size of the board by one member.

To provide the required geographical distribution, the new member needed to be chosen from the Douglas-Sarpy County area.

Mahoney received 29 votes to 15 for Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha and 3 for Sen. Pat Moulton of Omaha in a run-off.

On the first ballot, the vote was Mahoney 21, Pedersen 14, Moulton 5, Clifton Batchelder 3, Dale Payne 2, and Sam Klaver, George Syas and Richard Proud, 1 each.

Lease Of School Land No Secret—Sen. Nore

State Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa said Monday he has reported publicly, time and again, that he leases 160 acres of state school lands in Boone County and that this is no secret.

His comment referred to a Lincoln Journal account Saturday which said files of the Board of Educational Lands and Funds showed Nore to be leasing school land. The newspaper said the check was prompted by a 1949 attorney general's opinion which held that a legislator can be disqualified if he has an interest in a contract with the state and the contract is the subject matter of pending legislation. The opinion said a school land lease is a contract with the state. A pending bill, LB234, calls for the sale of school lands.

The news story said relatives of five other senators lease school lands.

Sen. Nore said he was asked last week by the secretary of the Board of Educational Lands and Funds "if I would care to transfer this lease to a relative.

"I told him that wasn't my way of doing business. My business is an open book to the public and if the attorney general directed so, I will do so, but I would not do it without everyone knowing that it was at the direction of the attorney general.

"To me, it seems rather silly to transfer this lease to a relative. Really, it accomplishes nothing.

"If anyone wants to know anything about my business, they do not need to search the files; all they need to do is to come and ask me and they will get the truth of the matter. The law as it stands looks to me like it encourages the covering up of nepotism in state government."

Nore said he would be in favor of a complete investigation of nepotism in state government "and exposing all secret partnerships or interests and state contractors."

Terry: 'Don't Cross Me Off'

"Don't cross Carpenter off."

That was Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's comment Monday on speculation that he might be a Republican candidate for governor next year.

Whether or not he's a candidate, Carpenter said he will be "very much interested" in next year's GOP nominee.

And if there should be a Carpenter candidacy, he said, "It'll be the opportunity for the people of this state to determine whether they want leadership or if they just want words and no action."

HE described most of those currently mentioned as possible GOP gubernatorial candidates as "retreads" who "haven't done anything when they had the opportunity."

"I want somebody who will do something and quit talking about these things," said Carpenter, "somebody who has some courage and knowledge, who if given the leadership will do what they can to lift Nebraska and push it forward in the area of action rather than a lot of words."

Amending City Milk Pact Act 'Could Help Dairy Farmers'

Washington (AP) — The Agriculture Department said Monday legislation to amend the act authorizing milk marketing agreements in the nation's metropolitan areas might provide a small amount of help to dairy farmers.

Clarence H. Girard of the department's Consumer and Marketing Service told a House agriculture subcommittee that the legislation, if enacted, could slightly increase incomes of dairy men and could reduce marketing of milk in some areas.

Two similar bills under consideration are sponsored by Reps. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., and Lynn E. Stalbaum, D-Wis. They are somewhat similar to a bill by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., passed by the Senate last year but not acted upon by the House.

Base-Excess Plans

The section of the milk marketing act sought to be amended provides the authority for the base-excess plans used in some federal milk marketing orders.

The purpose of the section was to eliminate violent seasonal fluctuations in the available milk supply and permit adjustments in payments to producers upon the basis of their production records during a representative period.

The Poage-Stalbaum bills would amend the base-excess authority to provide that the base-forming periods could be extended to more than one year in length and producers' bases could be adjusted to reflect sales in any one or more use classifications.

Girard said there are 76 federal milk orders now operating and about half of all milk deliveries in the nation was sold under these programs in 1964.

Otie M. Reed, executive director of the National Creameries Association, representing cooperative dairy sales associations in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota and Oregon, opposed the legislation.

It has been his group's position for many years, Reed said, that provisions of federal orders should not limit or in any way inhibit the movement of milk into fluid milk markets when such milk is high quality.
